Preface

The Club owe the inception of this volume to the recruiting zeal and persuasiveness of their Secretary. There was some talk, a few years ago, of the production, under the auspices of the Club, of the records of the Fiars Courts of the County. After a beginning had been made with that end in view, Mr. Anderson said to the writer, "The Fiars will not make a book. Why not attack the whole records of the Sheriff Court?" In a moment of weakness the writer agreed to try, and after learning to read the older books, went through the Books of Court (not the Registers) from 1503 to 1800, making notes and extracts by the way. It was found necessary, however, to confine the first volume to the half dozen books dating from the 16th century, and the volume now issued is the result. No responsibility attaches to the writer for the value or otherwise of the contents. Nothing could be produced except what was in the originals. For arrangement, selection, and accuracy, he fears he must accept responsibility: but is confident that, whether he has done well or ill in these respects, he can rely upon being judged, not as an expert, but as a tyro in this field.

Many friends and professional brethren have been kindly and sympathetic, and the writer desires to thank them all. He desires specially to acknowledge the generous encouragement and sympathy of the Sheriff of the County, Mr. Donald Crawford, K.C., himself the contributor of a valuable volume to the Scottish History Society. His warm thanks are also due to Mr. A. M. Munro, F.S.A. (Scot.), who helped the writer over many a stile. It is very difficult to find adequate terms to express the writer's deep indebtedness to Mr. P. J. Anderson, the Secretary of the Club, whose never-failing patience he has sorely tried, but without the aid of whose counsel and experience the task would long ere now have been entirely abandoned.

Of the many printed books which have been consulted in piecing together the second part of the volume, none have been more useful than the issues of the old Club, and especially those which it owed to that pioneer and master in the field of local antiquarian research, the late Dr. Joseph Robertson.

General Introduction

It has been suggested by the Secretary of the Club that besides writing, according to use and wont, a few introductory sentences dealing with the contents of the volume which follows, the writer should endeavour to give some information to the members of the Club regarding the whole existing Records in the custody of the Sheriff Clerk. In accordance with this view, and as a suitable way of giving effect to it, it may be convenient to divide the introduction into three separate heads, viz. :—

The whole existing Records.

The six Books of Court dealt with in this volume.

The Officials of Court, 1221-1600.

The Whole Existing Records.

A List or Inventory of the contents of the Record Hall of the Sheriff Court of the County of Aberdeen was printed in 1890 [Mr. P. J. Anderson's Charters relating to the Burgh of Aberdeen, pp. 425-432]. It is proposed to supplement that List by some description, more or less general, of the contents of the Record Hall, or, in other words, to put a little flesh on the dry bones.

Mr. Anderson's Inventory was based upon an Inventory and Report of 1852, but several earlier Inventories have been found. Of these, three refer exclusively to the Sheriff and two to the Commissary Court. The earliest of the Sheriff Court Inventories is dated 1764. In that year John Gordon of Craig, having received a commission from the Honble. Andrew Fletcher of Milton, one of the Senators of the College of Justice, and Keeper of the Signet in Scotland, appointing him Sheriff Clerk in conjunction with John Durno, Advocate in Aberdeen, applied to the Sheriff to arrange for their taking over, under judicial authority, from George and Robert Turner, the retiring Clerks, the whole records of the Court. The Sheriff granted a warrant for this being done, and a very elaborate Inventory, extending to upwards of 420 pages was compiled. At the end of the Inventory there is a receipt by Gordon for himself and Durno, for all that had been delivered to them, and an obligation by the retiring Clerks to relieve their successors of any responsibility for such writs as had not been found. A list of the missing documents from 1700 to the date of the Inventory is contained on the first five pages of it, and a complete list of extracted and unextracted decrees and warrants from 1700 follows, covering some 400 pages. After these is a list of Bail Bonds and cognate writings extending to 10 pages, while 3 pages contain all the Books of Court mentioned. No book of an earlier date than 1630 is mentioned, and the examination of writings and processes was specially limited to the year 1700 and succeeding years. To investigators, this Inventory is of no practical value, inasmuch as extremely few of the names are followed by designations.

This brings us to the second Inventory.

On 1st January, 1808, Mr. Thomas Thomson, Depute Clerk Register, and sub-commissioner under the Commissioners on the Public Records of the Kingdom, called upon the Sheriff Clerk of Aberdeenshire to prepare and furnish a general Inventory of the Records under his charge. The part of Mr. Thomson's letter referring to this was in the following terms :—“ In pursuance of an order of the Right Honourable His Majesty's Commissioners on the Public Records of the Kingdom, I have to desire that you will forthwith prepare an exact General Inventory of the Records under your custody and care, distinguishing the several sorts of Records from one another ; and exhibiting in a distinct series, the volumes, books, or bundles, of each sort that are preserved in your office. To enable you the more clearly to understand the nature of this Inventory, and at the same time to facilitate the execution of the work, there are herewith sent to you schedules or forms, in regular columns, which you are to fill up with the necessary numbers and dates ; and, in the column entitled “ Remarks,” you are to mention such circumstances as may be requisite for understanding the present state of each volume, i.e., as to its regularity of compilation, its completeness, preservation, binding, and whatever else you may yourself consider as deserving of notice.”

From the Sheriff Clerk’s letter, forwarding his schedule and report, we quote the following :—“ In answer to your letter of the 1st curt., desiring me to prepare an exact general Inventory of of the Records under my custody and care, distinguishing the several sorts of Record from one another, and exhibiting in a distinct series the volumes, books, or bundles of each sort that are preserved in my office, I have to state that, in the year eighteen hundred, a report was made by me in consequence of an order of a committee of the House of Commons, of date the twenty-eighth of February, signed by Charles Abbot, Esquire, specifying the exact state of the different Records under the charge of the Sheriff Clerk in this County, to which report I beg leave now to refer, as the same answers in many points the enquiry now made.

I have, however, agreeably to your directions, filled up in the enclosed schedules sent me, and herewith send you the same with such remarks as occurred to me to be requisite and proper therein.”

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

This correspondence and the Sheriff Clerk's Schedule and Report are copied into the volume containing the Inventory of 1764, the originals being in the Register House in Edinburgh. This document is, however, a mere abstract, and while it makes mention of older books and writings than the Inventory of 1764, it differs in material respects from the third Inventory or Report which was made up in 1852. In that year Mr. Nathaniel Farquhar, Advocate in Aberdeen, having received the appointment of Sheriff Clerk on the death of Mr. James Gordon of Craig, he and Mr. Francis Gordon, the representative of the late holder of the office, following the procedure of 1764, made a joint application to the Sheriff to appoint a judicial examination of the Records. The Sheriff granted a remit to Messrs. William Simpson and Francis Clerihew, Advocates in Aberdeen, and their M.S. report, covering 45 pages, was lodged in 1853. At that date the Sheriff Clerk's office and the Records of the Court were located in what was known as the Record Office in King Street (now occupied as Tax Offices), to which they had been transferred about 1833. No Inventory has been found at the time of the appointment of Mr. Farquhar's successor in 1861, and none was made up when the writer entered upon office in 1884.

Another change of locus, however,—the third, it is believed, in the course of a century, certainly the second in the course of less than half a century—took place in 1872, when the Records were transferred to the existing Record Hall. Knowing well how fully the Sheriff Clerk's staff were employed in their daily work, it is no reflection on them to say that this transference, which might have been made the occasion of a very thorough and orderly arrangement of all the various material, was not utilized in that way quite so fully as it might have been. It thus happened that the comparison of the Report of 1852, on which Mr. Anderson's print is based, with the actual contents of the present Record Hall was not an altogether simple or quite satisfactory piece of work.

Various differences and discrepancies in detail are found between all these Inventories or Reports, as has been already indicated.

The two Inventories having reference to the Commissary Court are (1) an Inventory of the Deeds and Writings from 1722 to 1809, delivered by the Commissary Clerk to the Sheriff Clerk in the latter year; (2) Inventory of Warrants and Extract Decrees, 1722-1823, besides several Minute Books. It is not necessary to notice these further at present than to say that the designations of the parties are frequently added to the names, so that, given an approximate date, a search would be comparatively simple.

Akin to Inventories are the Minute Books containing lists of deeds presented for registration. Of these there is in the custody of the Sheriff Clerk a series commencing in 1630. There are several gaps in the series, and the entries previous to 1690 are of names only, without designations, except in the case of prominent land owners, who are designed by their lands, e.g., L. [Laird] Echt, L. Abirzeldie, L. Delgatie, L. Wardes, L. Caskieben, etc., etc. For purposes of search, therefore, the earlier volumes of this series are defective; but from about 1690, when the designations of the parties began to be occasionally, but not systematically, added, a good deal in the way of identification of individuals may be taken from these Minute Books, without going beyond them.

Besides being of assistance to searchers for genealogical or other information, there is obtainable from these volumes, and that without much difficulty, a bird's eye view both of the extent and nature of the registrations that were effected, and this is by no means devoid of interest. A few figures, not warranted to be absolutely, but certainly approximately, accurate, may be given to indicate the extent to which the register was used, and how the amount of business seems to have varied according to the state of the political atmosphere. Taking first the period of twelve years from 1631 to 1642 inclusive. During these years there were some 2550 registrations in all, giving a yearly average of about 211, with maxima of 340 and 354 in 1633 and 1634 respectively, and a minimum of 106 in 1639, of which only 26 were applicable to the first six months of that year.<sup>1</sup> Coming to the period of the protectorate or English domination, we find that, while the entries for the last four months of 1651 numbered only 40,<sup>2</sup> the figures quickly rose to a maximum of 480 in 1656, with an average for 1657, 1658, and the first six months of 1659, of about 440 per annum. The numbers for August, September, October, and November of that year, however, were respectively 3, 0, 1, 5, when they ceased until August, 1660, when three entries occur followed by the following somewhat curious memorandum. "Note.—Registrations ends till Junii 1661 thus his Maiestie was happilie restored." To what the word "thus" is meant to refer is not by any means clear; but the general import of the memorandum would seem to show that, in the writer's mind, political events had a connection with, or influence upon, registrations. The three solitary entries on 11th August, 1660, which immediately precede the Clerk's note, were a Discharge dated 10th August by Alexander Burnet of Countesswells to Sir Alexander Burnet of Leys of the sum of 10,000 merks in part payment of a debt of 20,000 merks,<sup>3</sup> the witnesses to which were <sup>1</sup> The citizens, during the first three months of 1639, were preparing to resist Montrose who entered the town on 30th March, to be followed by the Royalists very shortly afterwards.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

General Introduction

Mr. Robert Burnet, elder, Advocate, of Crimond, Mr. Robert Burnet, younger, Advocate, Mr. Gilbert Burnet, son of the said Mr. Robert Burnet, and James Smith, younger, Merchant, Burgess of Aberdeen. The clause of registration was in these wide terms—"consenting for the mair securitie their presents be insert and registrat in the bookes of any judicatorie competent within this kingdome." The other two deeds contained the disposal (apparently inter vivos) by a William Forsyth of Peterhead, among his family of certain portions of his moveable estate, and of a heritable property in Peterhead.

Returning from this digression to the number of entries, there appear to have been in the nine years, 1666-74 inclusive, nearly 5,000, with a minimum of 336 in 1666, and a maximum of 667 in 1673. The next period for which a Minute Book has been found is 1686-95, the outstanding feature of which is the extraordinary drop of the numbers in 1689, the year of Killiecrankie. The numbers in 1687 and 1688 respectively were 474 and 437, falling in 1689 to 157, with a rise in 1690 to 446. Still more remarkable are the figures for the months from March to September, 1689, inclusive, when only 28 deeds were presented. Did space permit, the same line of enquiry might be followed out in the 18th century, but it is necessary to pass at this point from the extent to the nature of the registrations.

By far the greater part of these were of Obligations or Personal Bonds, many of them for money advanced on loan, and many for the settlement of the price of goods or merchandise purchased. The natural result of the legislation of 1681 and 1695, legalizing the use of summary diligence for the recovery of sums contained in Bills of Exchange, was to bring about in mercantile transactions the gradual substitution of Bills for Bonds: but the change was slow to come in Aberdeenshire. The first

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

Protest of a Bill was recorded, as far as has been observed, in January, 1699, and a good many years of the 18th century had passed before the practice became at all general. Although acknowledgements of indebtedness and obligations to repay constituted by far the largest number of writs put on record, examples of most other kinds of legal documents are found, excepting, of course, those constituting real rights in land, and, until modern times, testamentary writings, which last of old found their way into the books of the Consistory or Commissary Court. Examples of Discharges, Assignations, Translations, Dispositions of Moveables, Leases, Submissions and Decrees Arbitral, Indentures, and Marriage and other contracts occur in considerable numbers, and many of these must be of much interest. It will, therefore, be obvious that there is shadowed out in these Minute Books a field for investigators, both extensive and interesting. There are various other Minute Books as may be seen in the Inventory : but it is impossible to deal with them in detail in this place.

Passing, therefore, from Inventories and Minute Books to their subject matter, the first great general classification of the mass of material, which has been accumulating during three or four centuries, may be stated thus :—I. Deeds and Writings ; II. Processes ; and III. Books. Other sub-divisions may be alluded to later, but first of these in their order.

I. DEEDS AND WRITINGS.

(1) Deeds.

Of those handed in to the Sheriff Clerk for registration, there are bundles for almost every year continuously since 1606, while of those handed in to the Commissary Clerk there are bundles for every year from 1722 to 1809. During the lengthened periods for which no Registers of Deeds exist, the originals themselves are all important, and even when both the deed and the record of it are found, the former may be frequently important for the purpose of identification of signatures and other reasons. An instance may be given occurring in the early years of the 17th century. We find a John Gordon of Boigis or Boggis officiating as a Sheriff-depute at that period ; but we also find a John Gordon of Tilligrig filling the same office. In the Registers of Deeds there is nothing to show whether there were two different persons or one person under different designations ; but when the deeds themselves are examined, it becomes clear from a comparison of the signatures to the docquets on the deeds that John Gordon of Boigis and John Gordon of Tilligrig are one and the same person. In the case of the Commissary Court, the deeds alone are in Aberdeen, the books being in Edinburgh. It has been said that there are bundles of deeds for every year, and these ought to correspond with the entries in the Minute Books ; but it is impossible to affirm that these bundles now contain all the deeds originally handed in for the periods which they represent. And this will certainly be found to be the case between 1698 and 1868, during which period it was allowable for the ingivers to receive back all writings falling under the description of probative writs, after they had been recorded.

(2) Writings.

Under this head may be classed Judicial Bonds, of which there are bundles for every year from 1734 to date. These are for the most part Bonds of Caution in Law-borrows, Bonds of Caution that accused persons should appear and take their trial, and such like. The Bonds in the bundles do not, of course, represent anything like the numbers of those originally granted, many of which must have been discharged and given up. Even in cases, however, when that has been done, the petitions and proceedings thereon are sometimes found, and these may be more interesting than the Bonds themselves.

It was made compulsory by the Act of Parliament, 1672, c. 2, for tutors and curators to give up Inventories of the heritable and moveable estate of their wards, and there are specimens of these from about 1682 onwards. A cursory examination of one or two of the older Inventories was made, and as an example may be mentioned the "Inveture of the Writts, Evidents, Bonds, Compts and ticketts with the soumes therein contained," belonging to Charles Earl of Aboyne, given up by John Gordon of Rothiemay, his tutor testamentar, on 9th December, 1682, which contains a list of 136 titles and documents of debt.

Bundles of Proceedings in the Services of Heirs, from 1649 to 1851, are full of interesting matter.

Another bundle, consisting of Minutes of County Meetings and other documents, connected with the election of Members of Parliament, has been sifted out of a mass of loose papers by the writer, dealing with the elections of 1761, 1768, 1774, 1780, 1784, 1786, 1790, and 1812; and there may be more of these in the Hall not identified or labelled.

These examples are far from exhausting the list, and, indeed, the old condemned cell under the East Tower of the County Buildings is at present the receptacle for a great quantity of large packages of papers, the contents of which no one seems to know; but probably there is nothing there earlier than the end of the 18th century.

II. PROCESSES.

With these many shelves are laden and cupboards filled, but no one now living has examined them closely, and there are probably not many processes older than 1700 on the civil side, and none before 1795 on the criminal side of the Court.

General Introduction

III. Books.

These consist of several hundred MS. volumes, and cover the period (not, however, without several long breaks) from the first decade of the 16th century to the present time. They may be classified as (1) Books of Court; (2) Registers. Taking the latter first, we find that the earliest existing volume was begun in 1606, that there are 32 volumes from the 17th century, only 3 from the 18th,<sup>1</sup> and 165 between 1809 and the present time. For the periods which they cover, the contents of these volumes should correspond with the Minute Books and Deeds already noticed.

To the first class, or Books of Court, belong the oldest existing books, there being six of these from the 16th century, and one beginning in the 16th and ending in the 17th. The numbers increase materially in the 17th century, from which we have 35 volumes with some measure of specialization. The numbers are much greater in the 18th century, and it may be said that after 1750 the Court Books are quite complete. It is not to be assumed that the makers of the earlier books gave them the precise titles which they now bear. The following statement occurs in the report of 1853, "It was explained to us with reference to these books, which are now in an excellent state of preservation, that they were received by the late Sheriff Clerk in a loose, tattered, and decaying state; that several years ago he had them carefully repaired and bound up, with the sanction of the County." On various of the new fly leaves can be discerned the water mark of 1832 and years about that time. With the new binding, some of the older books apparently received what the Sheriff Clerk deemed the appropriate titles, and some of these are a little misleading ; e.g., a volume, entitled " Diet Book, 1598 to 1621," contains nothing but the Head Courts for that period. Still more seriously misleading is the title " Diet Book, 1603 to 1622," when the contents actually consist of the Court entries for a part only of 1603, while in the remainder of the volume are chronicled the whole services, and tutorial and curatorial appointments, carried through in the Court from 1600 to 1622. So far as one can judge, this title misled Dr. Joseph Robertson, for the writer has not seen a reference to any of the services in that wonderful work, the Antiquities of Aberdeen and Banff.

<sup>1</sup> It is possible to determine whether gaps occur by the loss of books, or from none having been kept, by the presence or absence of the word "Buikit" or "Booked" on the back of the deeds themselves, and it is quite obvious that, for a very long period, no registration was carried out.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

The official title by which these books appear to have been known in the old time, when the Latin language was in common use among lawyers, was either " Libri curiarum vicecomitis de Aberdeine," or " Libri actorum curiae vicecomitatus de Abirdene," and, when the editors of the volumes of the old Spalding Club quoted from them, they referred to them by the latter title. In doing so, they followed the language of Mr. William Anderson, Sheriff Clerk of Aberdeenshire, 1597-1630, who, in his docquet to the extract of the proceedings of the Court which fixed the rental of the county for war taxation in 1549,<sup>1</sup> began with the words, " Extractum ex libro actorum curie vicecomitatus de Abirdene." At a later period, one finds them called sometimes the " Buiks of this Auditorie," but most commonly, as now, the Sheriff Court Books.

The oldest of the books now in existence dates from 1503, and the question which it first occurs to an investigator to ask is

General Introduction

this, "Did there ever exist before that period any record in book form of the proceedings of the Sheriff Court of Aberdeenshire, or is this the earliest?" It is perfectly well known that records were made of the doings of the Court long before that date, and copies or notes of these may still be found in the public records, or in the many valuable volumes relating to the county which have been published. Head Courts and Inquests were held long before the beginning of the 16th century, of which record must have been and was made, and the Sheriff's accounts were from time to time given in to Exchequer. Did these and the records of such litigation and criminal work as was got through, ever go beyond the fugitive form of separate papers or jottings previous to 1503? To this question an affirmative answer can be given, for there is evidence of the existence of a Court Book in 1491; but it may be safely assumed that the volume of 1503 is a very early example of such records as were put together in book form.

It is possible that we owe the fulness and completeness of this volume to the stirring of the waters in the matter of judicial reform that took place at this period. There certainly was an outburst of legislative activity in this direction about the year 1503, and it is matter of history that James IV., who was nothing if not energetic, visited Aberdeen and the North about 1505 to see to the carrying out of the reforms.

Seeing that only six volumes have come down to us relating entirely to proceedings in the 16th century, in which only seventeen or eighteen years in that century are accounted for, other questions that naturally arise are these—"Did others ever exist for the period in question? If so, what has become of them, and is there any chance now of any of them being found?" To the first of these questions an affirmative answer may be given.

From what has been said above, it clearly appears that a Diet

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

Book of Court was kept for some period embracing the year 1549, and it is only a reasonable inference that it was the general practice to keep such books in the 16th century. It may be doubted, however, whether it was so for the period immediately following Flodden, 1513. The whole country was so utterly disorganised, and so many of the leading men, including the Sheriff of Aberdeenshire, were slain, that it would not be surprising if all legal progress got a rude set back at that time.

Besides the evidence regarding the Court Book of 1549, various items have been found proving the existence of other volumes. In a case on 1st February, 1573 (4), a contract was produced which had been registered in the "Shref Buikis of Abirdeine" on 29th January, 1564 (5). The Marriage Contract of Alexander Menzes and Christian Lumsden, dated 5th July, 1568, was recorded in the "Shreff Buikis of Abirdeine. A title page prefixed to the volume of 1573-6 bears the date 1570, and a written obligation was, on 19th May, 1596, ordained to be registered in the "Confessit Buiks of this Auditorie." Other instances might be referred to, but these are sufficient.

The second question as to the fate of the missing books may also be answered with a certain degree of confidence, and the answer is that they were treated by some of the officials as their own private property, and retained by them when they ceased to hold office. This was what happened to the Diet Book of 1549, because, in the docquet to the extract already referred to, the Sheriff Clerk used these words, "qui liber est in manibus Joannis Leslie de Balquhane, quondam vicecomitis dicti vicecomitatus," proving that fifty or sixty years after its date the volume was in the possession of the Balquhain family. We seem to owe our knowledge of the existence of this Diet Book of 1549 to a somewhat singular circumstance. At some period during the tenure of office of Mr. William Anderson, Sheriff Clerk, already mentioned, an occasion must have arisen requiring that an Extract of the proceedings in 1549 should be made. There is, indeed, evidence that a Taxed Roll of the Sheriffdom was made up in 1613, and given in to the Commissioners of Parliament on January 21st of that year, which was subscribed by Mr. Anderson. It is more than likely, therefore, that for the purpose of making the new taxed roll, it was found necessary to refer to the valuation of 1549, and that so, the Sheriff Clerk, having made the Extract from the old Diet Book (which, as we have seen, had to be borrowed by him from Balquhain for the purpose), thought it wise to secure that a copy should be kept. Finding a few vacant leaves at the end of the Diet Book, 1573-6, which was in his hands and has come down to us, he caused the Extract to be copied into that volume, and in this curious way has this most valuable and interesting document been preserved.

In corroboration of the view that the books were claimed and treated by the officials as their own, reference may be made to the title page prefixed to the Diet Book of 1573-6 quoted in the short introduction to that volume, and also to the case of Blak v. Philp in 1584, where various diligences were granted against Leslie of Balquhain and others for recovery of Court Books of an earlier date.

The conclusion which has been arrived at from the foregoing and other items of evidence pointing in the same direction is, that, unless they have been destroyed in ignorance of their character, or have perished by lapse of time and want of being cared for, some of these volumes may still be found, by persons capable of identifying them, in the Charter rooms of some of the old county families. Although this has been written specially of the missing books of the 16th century, it may be held to apply to the 17th century also, when a number of books are obviously missing.

The Six Books of Court dealt with in this volume.

The method of editing these books which has been adopted is very simple. In the case of each book, a table of its contents has been prepared, preceded by a short introductory description, and followed by illustrative examples selected from among the contents and classified according to their subjects. A volume was written on a different plan which covered more ground and might possibly have been slightly less dry, but as a book of reference, it would have been of very little value. That volume having been thrown aside, the plan now adopted was placed before the Secretary of the Club and approved. The objection of waste of space may with some force be urged against it, but, on the other hand, clearness may be claimed for it. In framing the tables of contents, an attempt has been made to include every separate case, without the unnecessary multiplication of entries regarding any one of them. A very considerable number of entries have been found which disclose neither the nature of the action nor the subject of it, and which contain no designations of the parties. Such entries have been omitted from the table of contents. Very little has been omitted from Vols. I., II., IV., and VI., except for this reason, but a very large number of purely formal interlocutory entries, occurring in Vols. III. and V., have been passed over without notice. Such persons as strongly object to the reproduction of lists of names will doubtless be of opinion that the names of the jurors empannelled on inquests for the service of heirs, etc., might quite well have been omitted. As originally copied out, these names were omitted from the table of contents ; but, in deference to strong opinions to the opposite effect, they were added. The example of such a very eminent authority as the late Dr. Joseph Robertson pointed in the same direction, for, in printing 16th century inquests, he invariably included the complete list of Assize.

General Introduction

Those who are acquainted with the caligraphy of the period do not need to be informed that a species of shorthand, by the constant use of contractions, was the ordinary habit of all penmen. They are also aware that they did not make the same use of capital letters as is the practice in modern times. To have reproduced the various illustrative examples in their original form would have been to inflict a large amount of unnecessary trouble upon readers. To avoid this, all words (except, perhaps, the various contractions of the word "Sheriff") have been fully extended, preserving as exactly as possible the spelling of the day, and the modern use of capital letters has been adhered to.

It may be further explained that if the examples which have been taken from Vols. II., III., and IV. (some of them long and verbose) were to be really illustrative of the procedure and pleadings of the time, they could not with propriety have been sub-edited or abridged.

In the cases of services of heirs, it will be observed that, where these have been printed in full in the Antiquities of Aberdeen and Banff, or in the Inquisitiones Speciales et Generales, published in the beginning of last century, references to these are noted. It will be found, however, that in the latter the period during which the lands were in non-entry is not given, thus leaving the date of the ancestor's death uncertain. In the abridgements in the present volume the duration of the period of non-entry, or the exact date of the ancestor's death, when mentioned, has been added.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

When on the subject of services of heirs, attention may be drawn to several cases which bring into prominence the importance which was attached to the finding of the inquest, that the ancestor died at the "faith and peace" of the sovereign. In the case of the service of the Earl of Huntly in 1575, to his father who died at Corrichie, the jury at first would not return any answer to the Brieve, affirmative or negative. At another diet at which evidence of the recall of the forfeiture was produced, they did so. Again, in the case of the service of John Leslie of Balquhain to Inverness-shire properties in 1576, the Brieve specially permitted the jury to ignore allegations that his ancestor was at the horn at the time of his death. Once more the same thing is brought to light in connection with the service of George Gordon of Coclarachie, to his father, George Gordon, who was killed at Corrichie, in the lands of Blairndynnie, where the legal fiction by which the difficulty was got over is set down in express terms.

As already stated, each volume dealt with has been preceded by a few introductory remarks, and thus a good deal will be found to have been written which would otherwise have had place here.

Speaking generally, it will be found that the first volume is essentially different from all the others, and its contents have been very fully reproduced, not so much or solely on account of any intrinsic interest in themselves, as for the purpose of presenting a picture, drawn from what is perhaps the earliest existing source, of a Sheriff Court and its procedure 400 years ago. At that period, the procurators, whom the litigants appointed, were apparently churchmen,—probably their chaplains or spiritual advisers,—and there is no trace of elaborate argument or procedure. Possibly, anything of that kind would have been thrown away upon the barons with whom, as jurors, the decisions lay, and whose ideas of the administration of justice would naturally savour of the rough and ready methods of their own courts.

When we take up next the fragmentary book of 1557-60, we find that a great change has taken place, the jurors have disappeared, the Sheriff and his deputies have taken their places, and trained lawyers and fuller pleadings are much in evidence. The old complaints to the Lords Auditors, which were directed, not against the decisions of the Sheriffs but against the verdicts of the juries, have been superseded by Letters of Advocation to the Court of Session against the decisions of the Sheriffs in what had now become the inferior court.

It must have been about this time that the lay legal practitioners in the Consistory or Commissary Court, under the designation of Advocates, began to practise in the Sheriff Court, retaining, as many still do, the former designation.

In this volume we find in June, 1557, the first Decree of Removing under the "New Act of Parliament," by which was meant the Act 1555, cap. 39, which continued to regulate such proceedings for two hundred years afterwards.

Almost all the entries in this volume are connected directly or indirectly with the land, and this is even more so in Vol. III. where the weary iteration of Decrees of Removing would not be tolerable, except on the chance of their containing something of interest in the fields of topography or genealogy.

Among interesting exceptions in both these books must be reckoned the references which they make to Fiars prices. The "feir of the Consistorie of Auld Abirdene" for crop and year 1556 was produced as authoritatively fixing the price of victual in the action of Spuilzie, Chalmer and others v. Leslie, 11th January,

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1558 (9). Again, decree was pronounced in the action of Spuilzie, Duf v. Many, in March, 1573 (4), for a certain quantity of victual for each year from 1556 to the date of the decree, according to the "feiris of the yeiris." In the latter case it is not stated by what court the fiar was fixed. Similarly in several actions in 1574 and 1575 at the instance of the Earl Marischal, as tacksman under the Commendator of Deer, against the tenants for payment of teind sheaves, decrees were pronounced for quantities of victual, the price of which was liquidated according to the Fiars prices fixed in the Commissary Court.

The very full accounts of the proceedings in the services of the Earl of Huntly, and the extremely lengthy and elaborate pleading in the service of John Leslie of Balquhain to lands in the County of Inverness, which was strongly opposed by the Bishop of Ross, already referred to, must also be reckoned interesting, as they must be somewhat rare examples of Sheriff Court procedure in such cases at a comparatively early date.

The slightly more varied contents of the incomplete volume from 1584, and of Volume V., show by the introduction of some items relating to crime and quasi crime that such a volume as Volume III. affords merely a partial account of the business transacted in the Court, and that, if the original books kept by the Clerk had come down to us, far more light and colour would have been found in them.

The feature of Volume IV. is the emergence for the first time of the Procurator Fiscal, and something will be said on that head in a subsequent part of the introduction.

In Volume V. a few signatures are found, but it is not necessary to say anything further regarding it or the last volume.

General Introduction

Taking them as a whole, these six books seem to the writer to contain very little of human living interest, the range of the matters dealt with being extremely limited, but there may be found here and there items which interest the legal antiquarian and genealogist. In the following century the interest widens, the subjects dealt with are more varied and more of the local notabilities flit across the pages.

The Officials of Court, 1221-1600.

In course of his researches among the Records of the Sheriffdom, it occurred to the writer that, if anything approaching a complete and fairly consecutive list of the officials could be brought together, such a list might possess some little interest. Anything like Mr. A. M. Munro's admirable work, entitled "Memorials of the Aldermen, Provosts, and Lord Provosts of Aberdeen," could not be looked for. The materials for the compilation of such a complete piece of work applying to the County officials do not exist. At the same time it was deemed possible to gather together from the various publications containing references to County affairs and properties, such a number of office-holders as would at least be a full representation of the whole number. The result of the editor's efforts in this direction will be found in Part II. of this volume. What has been done, even if not particularly successful, may be of some use as a foundation for others to build upon, or as a skeleton to be afterwards clothed with flesh. Authorities are, it may be said, invariably referred to except in the case of such families as the Earls of Crawford and Huntly, where the facts of their lives have been summarised from family histories. In the case of these and others, e.g., the Lairds of Balquhain, a great deal of picturesque reading, which might have been reproduced from the Privy Council Records and such like sources, has been severely left out owing to considerations of space. In the case of the more ancient holders of offices and of those about whom information is not so accessible, most of what has been discovered has been set down. It is proposed, in what remains of this part of the introduction, to make a few general remarks about the different offices.

THE SHERIFFS.

Readers who wish to make a special study of the ancient authorities on the office of Sheriff are referred to Sir John Skene's treatise, "De verborum significatione," from which one or two short quotations will subsequently be taken, Balfour's "Practicks," and the old Scottish Acts of Parliament. The most recent notice will be found in Green's "Encyclopedia of the Law of Scotland," while among works illustrative of particular Sheriffdoms, an excellent example will be found in the "Sheriffdom of Clackmannan," by Mr. James Wallace, sometime Sheriff Clerk of that County, which contains an admirable summary regarding the Sheriff's office and jurisdiction.<sup>1</sup>

One of the earliest, if not the earliest, mention of the Sheriffs of Aberdeen is found in the second Charter granted by King William the Lion to Aberdeen; but it is only in the Trading Charter granted by Alexander II., sometime between 1214 and 1222, that the Sheriffdom is definitely spoken of. No Sheriff is mentioned by name in this latter Charter, but it is addressed to the Sheriffs of the Sheriffdom of Aberdeen among others. About that time, however, the office appears to have been filled by one, Philip de Maleuille, whose name appears first on our list. The editor of the "Sheriffdom of Clackmannan," already referred to, states that the earliest Sheriff in Scotland whose name has come down to us was Malcolm, Vicecomes or Sheriff of Scone, to whom a Charter was granted by Alexander I.

General Introduction

No grants or commissions have been found previous to the beginning of the 15th century, from which the terms of Sheriffs' appointments could be gathered, but it appears clearly enough from the list of names, that down to the end of the 14th century, no one family in Aberdeenshire held the office in heritage.<sup>1</sup> Whether in the earlier time Sheriffs held office from the Sovereign, during his pleasure, or for some fixed period, or for life, has not been discovered. Reasonably certain it is that about the very end of the 14th, or beginning of the 15th century, the first Earl of Crawford had a heritable grant of the office of Sheriff of Aberdeen, and that, except for a very short interruption during the forfeiture of the Tiger Earl about 1453 on account of his rebellion against James II., it remained in that family until 1511. The then holder, John, Earl of Crawford, being in pecuniary difficulties, parted with it to William, 4th Earl of Errol for a price, but with right of redemption on certain terms which are afterwards mentioned. There was, however, a formal resignation by one Earl and a Crown grant to the other. By the death of Lord Erroll at Flodden, leaving a son, the 5th Earl, who lived but a short life and was succeeded by an infant, the 6th Earl, the office came to be in ward until about 1541. In that year George, 4th Earl of Huntly, had a grant of the office, and he and his successors in the title held the office in heritable right until it was resigned to Charles I., by the 1st Marquis of Huntly, in the following century.

Writing in the latter part of the 16th century, the learned Clerk Register, Sir John Skene, says:—"Schireffs in this realme hes their offices given to them be the King in heritage, contrair to the Act of Parliament, Ja. II., par. 11, c. 44, quhilk is the cause of great enormities and wranges, be reason the Schireffes being infest heritable, thinkis themselves sure of their office, and regairdis nocht the execution theirof."

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

At the time when these words were penned, the office in Aberdeenshire was held in heritage by the powerful house of Huntly ; and one can easily imagine that in Sir John's thoughts the grave position of matters in his own native county would be uppermost, for, if anything stands out in a stronger light than another on the face of the Court Records in the second half of the 16th century, it is the confusion, and in many cases the hopelessness of obtaining justice, which prevailed owing to that circumstance.

Previous to the establishment of the Court of Session, the Sheriff appears to have acted more as a president at the sittings of the Sheriff Court than as a judge, the decisions of all cases, both civil and criminal, resting with the Assize or Jury.<sup>1</sup> No doubt even then juries might be overawed by a Sheriff of commanding local territorial influence, or manipulated by one who had otherwise acquired in a special degree the confidence of his fellow barons ; but by the time of the advent of the Huntly domination, juries in civil cases seem to have disappeared, and the Sheriff had become a judge. The loss of the books of Court for the period from 1511 to 1557 must be reckoned a great misfortune, if for no other reason than that they might have thrown light upon the disappearance of the jury and the substitution of the judge. It was not, so far as the writer has been able to ascertain, a legislative change, but simply an alteration of practice—an alteration, however, that obtained all the force of law until trial by jury in a limited class of civil cases in the Court of Session, was introduced by statute in 1815.

In two cases of cognition of disputed boundaries, one in 1558<sup>2</sup> and one in 1574,<sup>3</sup> there appear suggestions that it was

General Introduction

customary in such actions to have assisors with special local knowledge acting with the Sheriff, but these are the only traces of anything like a jury in disputed actions in any of the Court books after the earliest.

Occurring when it did, the change was a momentous one in Aberdeenshire, for it placed in the hands of the possessors of the office of Sheriff great powers of interference with the administration of justice, which, as is writ large on the face of the records of the time, the Earls of Huntly were not slow to use, either directly or through those to whom they deputed their authority. The feud between the houses of Gordon and Forbes made it impossible for the latter or their friends to hope for fair play in the County Court; and on a smaller scale, though equally notorious, was the judicial support which the family of Menzies could reckon on from the local judges, in any litigation in which they might happen to be engaged.

The Sheriffs, or Sheriffs Principal as they came to be called, to distinguish them from their deutes when deputation became an ordinary practice, are not mentioned in the books which have come to us, as sitting frequently in Court. Their attendances were confined as a rule to the Head Courts, preferably the Head Court at Michaelmas. There is evidence, however, in the case of the Earls of Huntly that, even when absent, they influenced the decisions of their deutes, giving them direct instructions how to proceed. The Sheriffs or their deutes ordinarily held their sittings in the Tolbooth (Pretorium) of the burgh of Aberdeen, a building supposed to have been erected about the close of the 14th century. Not infrequently, however, when convenience required it, Courts sat at various places throughout the sheriffdom, and in one case at least a sitting was held in a house in Aberdeen. Instances have been found of Courts in the 16th century at Drumblade, Wardhouse, Muirland of Bourtie,

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

Turriff, Standing Stones of Huntly, and the Monkshilloch of Fyvie. The private house was that of John Stirling, presumably Sir John Stirling, whose name frequently appears as a Notary in the early part of the 16th century, and the occasion was the service of Thomas Fraser to his father, Sir Andrew Fraser, in the lands and barony of Stoneywood and others (30th October, 1505). To these Courts also barons and freeholders were summoned.

What a Sheriff's place was worth in these old days one would like very much to know, but it cannot be got at. The officials from the highest to the lowest—salaries being unknown—lived by a certain proportion of the fees, escheats, or fines or unlaws, and doubtless made as much of it as they could. In many cases the offices, from that of Sheriff downward, were probably purchased, and there would be no slackness on the part of the holders in doing their best to get a good return for their outlay.

In only one case, namely, that of Sir Walter de Berkelay, 1320-4, has the Editor found anything which could be considered an approximation to payment by salary. He received, as will be seen on reference to the List of Sheriffs, a certain part of the customs of Aberdeen while he held the office of Sheriff. Fixed money salaries were not known until after the abolition, at a much later period, of heritable jurisdictions by Act of Parliament.

It only remains to be added that in the List of Sheriffs the Editor has included all those whom he has found so designed, and who appear to have been de facto in exercise of the principal office, although the heritable right may have been in others. Among those he has included tutors, those in right of the ward, whom he has called "Wardators," a rendering of the Latin word "wardatarius," and others, such as the lairds of Balquhain, who seem to have assumed the reins of office at such times as they were taken out of the hands of the Earls of Huntly.

THE SHERIFFS-DEPUTE.

“ All Schireffs sall have gud and sufficient deutes or baillies for quhom they sall answeire . . . . And therefore all Schireffs . . . for their awin better securitie, sulde mak their deutes, ane or maa, gude and wise substantious men, of best fame, knowledge, understanding and experience, and least suspect within the Schireffdome, and suld cause them be sworne the time of their admission, that they sall leilly and truely use their office. . . . ” So writes Sir John Skene, and it is probable that from the earliest days of the Sheriffship the principal would, in case of absence or whenever it was convenient, depute the office; but in the County of Aberdeen no depute has been met with previous to the middle of the 14th century. Their employment in the more ancient days seems to have been mainly to act as locum tenentes for their principals in the collection of Crown Rents, casualties, &c., and in accounting to Exchequer. As time passed, and judicial functions began to accresce to the Sheriff's office, the bulk of the new work fell upon the deutes, so that by the time (1503) when the existing Sheriff Court Records begin, we find the depute or deutes sitting regularly. Sometimes the depute sat with the Sheriff and sometimes two or more deutes sat together. On occasion they seem to have been called to office at a particular sitting, and in connection with a particular dispute, probably more as assessors with some special knowledge of the matter in dispute than as judges. It is safe to say that, as a general rule, deutes in this County in the older time held office during the pleasure of the chief. This was not always so, however, and the transaction of letting the office for life for £10 Scots per annum to Sir Alexander Forbes about 1432, which was confirmed by Royal Charter under the Great Seal, is not only an example of the contrary, but throws some light upon the practice of purchase and sale of public offices. No evidence of a direct Royal grant of the office of depute has been found before the 17th century.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

An attempt has been made in the following list to distinguish between the principal or regular deputes and those who were not so important, or merely occasional or temporary. Some seem to have been emergency deputes, very much on the footing of the Honorary or unpaid Sheriffs-substitute of the present day. How deputes were paid or what proportion of the Sheriff's perquisites they received there is no evidence to show. Probably it was a matter of bargain in every case. To what extent a legal training was considered necessary or desirable previous to the 17th century must remain uncertain ; but it will be noticed that towards the end of that century lawyers begin to appear on the list. By the time that Sir John Skene wrote, one of the greatest difficulties in appointing Sheriffs-depute was to obtain men "unsuspect," and there is ample evidence in the illustrative examples which are produced from the Court books, to show how great the difficulties were.

THE SHERIFF CLERKS.

It is obvious that, from the time at which the office of Sheriff was established, and the duty laid on the holder of the office, of collecting revenues and accounting to Exchequer, there must have been a clerk. It is equally certain that the persons employed in that capacity must in early days have been recruited from the ranks of the clergy, the ability to read and write being then almost entirely confined to that class. Of this old order of men, who were rather the clerks of the Sheriff (clerici vicecomitis),

General Introduction

than clerks of the Sheriffdom (clerici vicecomitatus), occasional glimpses may be had in ancient documents. Thus we find accounts being rendered on 11th April, 1292, on behalf of Philip of Meldrum by Peter, the clerk of the Sheriff. Again, Adam, the clerk of the Sheriff of Aberdeen, is mentioned as having rendered accounts at Perth on 21st April, 1360.

At these early dates the Sheriff Court, as a regularly constituted judicatory for the settlement of disputes, can hardly be said to have existed, and there would be few, if any duties for the clerk, beyond the accounts and filling up the retours to Chancery, in cases of the services of heirs. At what precise period the office, as it now exists, took definite shape, has not been ascertained. A Mr. John Bydnach was officiating, as Clerk for the time, in 1491, and several appointments to the office of Clerk of Court will be found in the Table of Contents of Vol. I. of the Diet Books. These, however, may have been appointments for the service of the particular court which was then sitting only, in the same way, in which at the head courts of a later date for election of Members of Parliament, the practice was to specially appoint the Sheriff Clerk to be clerk of that particular Court. What Sir John Skene writes about the office is this—"Schireff-clerkes suld be honest famous men, quha be themselves and their sufficient deutes salbe alwaies resident within the head burgh of of the schire, for registration of letters of horning, and better execution of their office, Ja. VI., p. 6, c. 75. Be the auld law of this realme, the Schireff-clerke was in-put and out-put be the King, and had na league nor bande with the Schireff, but was bound and oblished to the King allanerlie, and was susteined in his hienes house, as occasion and time required, and did all things concerning his office with the counsell and advice of the King."

Sir John's statement of the old law was no doubt correct,

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

both as regards the Clerk's entertainment when he repaired to the Court, wherever it happened to be for the time, to render his accounts, and as to the clerk's independence of the Sheriff. The revenues were a matter of the first importance to the King, and the man who kept the accounts was an important personage from that point of view. The object of the King was to get as much as possible, the interest of the Sheriff was to escape with as little as possible, and so there can be no doubt that there was for these reasons, a constant struggle in connection with the patronage of the office, between the central and the local authority.<sup>1</sup> The interest of the Crown was to have this official—a man of education, thoroughly versed in the local finances and always on the spot—bound to it, while that of the Sheriff was to have a dependant of his own in the place. Traces of this struggle will be found in Part II. of this volume. The appointment of the Clerk was finally expressly excepted from the Sheriff's Commissions by Oliver Cromwell, and that rule has been followed since.

The Sheriff Clerk had for his support, a proportion of the fines and unlaws, and such fees as were exigible from time to time down to a very recent period.

THE PROCURATORS FISCAL.

Much has been written about the origin of this office, and any general statement would be out of place here. Its emergence in the existing records of the Sheriff Court of Aberdeenshire takes place about the middle of June, 1584. We reproduce the entry.

<sup>1</sup> In this connection reference may be made to a Privy Council case in 1564, from which it appears that James Makbrok of Campsie had a heritable grant of the office of Sheriff Clerk of Perthshire under the Privy Seal, in the reign of James V., which was challenged by Patrick, Lord Ruthven, the Sheriff, who claimed the right to appoint the Sheriff Clerk. [Reg. Privy Council, I., p. 273.]

General Introduction

“The said day Maister George Barclay Procuratour Fischall for our Souerane Lord protestit solempnetlie that quhat beis done in the forsaid actioun of removing persewit be Johne Mortimer and his curatours aganis Johne Lesly for removing fra the landis of Auchquorties contenit in the precept be nocht preiudiciall to our Souerane Lord his Grace donatours nor thair richt and entres to the saids lands nocht being callit nor warnit for thair entres The Persewaris in the contrar in respect that thar is na thing productit for the makaris of the said protestationes titillis bot only ane bare and naiket allegeances maid Quhairfoir protestis that thai be nocht in mala fide be the entrie of the lands libellit be vertew of the samyne decreit of removing.”

This being the opening entry in the volume (earlier pages having disappeared) the decree referred to can only be guessed at. It is clear, however, that Mr. Barclay appeared as procurator for the Sheriff, for the purpose of maintaining the title of persons who had from the Crown the gift of a ward or escheat.

On 23rd June Mr. Barclay appears again in the same capacity, and in a similar kind of case. Again we quote.

“The said day in the actioun and caus of Bastardrie movit and persewit be my lord Shreff be vertew of his office aganis Donald Williamsone spous to umquhill Barbara Stot in Keirthyn, within the Baronie of Bolquholly, according to my lord Shreffis summons Compeirit Mr George Barclay Procuratour Fischall and productit the said summons dewlie execute and indorsate to this day and the Shreff in penam contumacie admitit the said summons to the Donatour’s probatioun ad probandum pro prima literatorie.”

The next case is one of Improbation of the execution of a summons, which is thus described in an entry occurring about August, 1584.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

“ Actioun and caus of improbatioun persewit at the instance of George Meldrum and at the instance off our Souerane Lord and Mr. George Barclay his M/ Procuratour Phiscall against Archibald Dempster ” [of Halsiewalls].

The fourth instance which we select is one of Breach of Arrestment, the entry occurring on 9th October, 1584.

“ The said day anent the summons of walkining in the actioun and caus of Breking of Arestment perseuit be our Souerane Lord the Kyngs Ma/ Mr George Barclay his Procuratour Fischall my Lo/ Shref be vertew of his office and at the instance of Gilbert Reid of Collestoun aganis William Lesk of that Ilk and Thomas Lesk his eldest sone this day being assignit be ane walkining to pronounce Interloquitor in the said caus the Shref continewit the samyn in eodem statu to Andirmses Evin nixtocum.”

There is really only one criminal trial reported in the 1584 volume, that of Thomas Taylor on 28th November, in which William Smith, the injured party, appeared to prosecute, and there is no mention of the Procurator Fiscal; and the same remark applies to several cases of Breach of Arrestment in which the private pursuer alone is mentioned. In one of the latter, indeed on 31st July, Mr. George Barclay appeared for the defence.

It would thus appear that the Fiscal did not intervene in all cases of crime or quasi crime in Aberdeenshire in 1584, from which it may be assumed that he did not at that time hold a general mandate as procurator, such as are frequently found scattered through these books, but only a procuratory to appear when directed by the Sheriff. There is no trace of such an office to be found in the earliest diet book, nor in those of

General Introduction

1557-60 or 1573-6. In the earliest there are numerous cases where, in the exercise of his office, the Sheriff was prosecutor. In Vol. II. there is one case of Breach of Arrestment, Blak v. Turing on January 10th, 1558 (9) [page 135], where the Sheriff is stated to be prosecutor by virtue of his office, along with the private prosecutor; but where there is no mention of a Procurator Fiscal. As pointed out in the introduction to Volume III., there are no entries of a criminal or quasi criminal kind to be found there, so no light is derivable from it upon the two questions of the evolution of the office and its first appearance in the Sheriff Court of Aberdeenshire. Why, it may be asked, was there no official of this kind in the years 1503-11? The Sheriff prosecuted then as afterwards, his sphere of duty being practically the same as in the latter part of the century. There was, however, as elsewhere pointed out, a very great difference in the Sheriff's position on the bench, decisions resting in those early days mainly with the Barons acting as Jurors, and not with the Sheriff. The anomaly, therefore, of the same individual being in the dual position of prosecutor and judge would not be forced into prominence. Before 1557 things had changed in this respect; but even then it is obvious that pleading was not of the elaborate character which it afterwards assumed. When the position of the Sheriffs and their deputes as judges became clearly defined, and their Court, especially after the Reformation, became an arena of elaborate pleading, sustained by procurators learned in the law, the dual position must have been felt to be impossible, and one loudly calling for a remedy. What more natural in the circumstances, than that the Sheriff should then do what every other litigant, who did not or could not plead his cause in person, was obliged to do, appoint a procurator to act for him? And so there was evolved the "Sheriff's procurator." The word "fiscal" was a mere descriptive addition, indicative of what was at one time the principal sphere of the Sheriff's executive functions, but the word "procurator" is that in which we find the origin of the office. So far evolution. What of the date of the appearance of the official in Aberdeenshire? The writer ventures to place it after 1560 and considerably before 1584. Mr. George Barclay was an advocate in Aberdeen in 1568, was acting as a procurator in the Court, as we know, in 1574, and apparently leader of the bar in 1584. If one might venture to hazard a guess, it would be to place the original appointment of the Sheriff's procurator in Aberdeenshire between 1570 and 1580.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court

The present volume deals with the period to 1600 only; but it may be permissible to add here that in 1629 the Sheriff appointed one Procurator Fiscal for civil and penal actions and another in criminal and capital actions.

RECORDS OF THE SHERIFF COURT OF ABERDEENSHIRE

The Diet Books: Vol. I., 1503-11

In this volume are recorded apparently the whole proceedings of a Scottish Sheriff Court for some eight years, from July, 1503, to September, 1511, of which period no other example is known to exist. The Court of Session did not come into being until 1532, and the proceedings of the local Courts, which were after that date influenced and moulded according to the pattern set by the Supreme Court, still ran in their ancient grooves. In this first volume, which consists of about 270 closely written pages, we come constantly upon "the assize," trial by jury being the rule in all manner of cases.

It is impossible to gather from the dates what, if any, rule was followed in fixing the sittings of the Court, except in the case of the three head Courts, Yule, Pasch and Michaelmas, at all of which the barons, freeholders and their suitors were bound, under penalty, to attend. Most of the business was transacted either on the day of the Head Court or on the days immediately following: but Courts sat occasionally in all the other months; not, however, so far as can be judged, at set or fixed intervals, but with a reasonable approximation to the old law, which prescribed that Courts should be held every forty days.

It will be considered natural that the Editor should try to form an opinion as to whether the entries in this volume were made by the Sheriff Clerk or his depute in Court, and transcribed afterwards from notes made there, or were actually written in Court. The existence of signatures to Acts of Court always goes far to show that the writing was done there and then; but there are only two signatures in this volume. There is much to suggest that the writing up was for the most part done after the sittings; but there are also entries, such as jottings of the evidence of witnesses, which must almost of necessity have been taken down at their examination. On the whole, the conclusion arrived at is, that only a small portion of the entries were made at the moment, the greater part being a transcript from notes. A large part of the proceedings are naturally connected with the passing of land rights from the dead to the living, i.e. Inquests upon Brieves from Chancery to serve heirs to their ancestors' lands, and widows to their terce. Of these many will be found printed in the Collections and Antiquities of the Spalding Club.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

It will not surprise any one to observe that entries regarding Spuilzies, Deforcements, Lawburrows, Violent Occupation of Land, Violent Profits of Land, Apprisings, Obligations to enter accused persons for trial and such like are common. There are also Lists of Barons absent from Head Courts, exemptions of Barons from attending these, numerous lists of Jurors, relaxations from the horn, a proclamation of the Wapinschaw, appointments of officials, and a variety of other matters.

As already remarked, one feature which differentiates the procedure of the Sheriff Court as it is found recorded in this volume from what is found in all the subsequent volumes, is the supremacy of the Assize or Jury. The entries run "The Assize fand," "It was fundin be the said Assize," and that not only in the trial of Brieves or in Apprisings, but in all actions and disputes which came before the Court involving matters of fact. Formal procedure and everything relating to the orderly conduct of business was no doubt in the hands of the Sheriff or Sheriff depute who presided, but apparently nothing more.

Several points regarding Juries may be specially noted. (1) The variation in the numbers of the Jury, there being apparently no absolute rule. (2) The competency of Jurors using their own personal knowledge and acting to all intents and purposes as witnesses. In sitting upon Brieves for the serving of heirs, of widows to their Terce and of Tutory, there could probably be no better witnesses to the facts than the members of a Jury almost certainly containing some at least of the kinsmen or intimate friends of the family whose estates were in question. In litigious matters of other kinds the reasons for the practice are not so obvious. It is clear however that it was not only allowed but considered to be an advantage that the Jury should be conversant beforehand with the facts. In the dispute between the Lady of Tolquhoun and George Meldrum of Fyvie (Infra p. 52) there was a direction to cite for service on the Jury such "as best knauis the werate." (3) It seems to have been allowable for the members of a Jury to give forth their verdict by sections, i.e. some on one day and some on other days (Ibid.) (4) During the course of a case the composition of a Jury might be added to or even otherwise altered (Ibid.)

Diet Books: Vol. I., 1503-11

Another interesting feature is what may be called the evolution of the practice of registering bargains or contracts in the books of a Court with the view of afterwards invoking its aid for securing implement. Under the head of Registration for Execution, in Green's Encyclopædia, Vol. X., p. 241, the following passage occurs:—"It is said that before writing came to be a common accomplishment, it was not unusual for contracting parties to appear before the Court and strike their compact in facie curiæ." Of this there are various instances in this old volume, one or two of which may be noticed here.

On 31st October, 1503, we find this entry:—"The said day Johne Cultis of Ouchtercoule oblist him be his hande uphalding to pay to Gilbert Mengzeis burges of Abirdene iiii lib at baek day nixt to cum under the pane of doublinge of the said some."

On 9th January, 1503-4, Sir Alexander Irvine of Drum and James Abirnethy as procurator for Ellen Abirnethy, his sister, "ar oblist and suorne be the fathis of thar bodyis to stand and abid at the deliuerance decret ande ordinance" of certain arbiters, and in the same way, on 29th Novr. 1507 Marioun Duncansone and Georg Tailzeour hir spous on the one part, and Malcome of Crag burges of Aberdene, on the other part "was oblist and suorne the gret bodely aitht to stand and abid at the finall Decreit" of certain "amicabill compositours."

There can be no doubt that the object of putting such bargains on record was both to preserve them and also to lay a foundation for invoking the aid of the Court in case of non fulfilment, or, in other words, for execution.

The breach of a contract made under the sanction of an oath had for long before this time made the wrong-doer liable to be brought under the ban of the Spiritual courts and subjected to the sentence of "cursing" and excommunication. This, however, was felt to be a round-about method, and a movement had for some time been in progress towards adding civil remedies of a more direct character for the enforcement of obligations. Fortunately there has been preserved in this volume a very fine example of both the old way and the new.

At the Head Pasch Court held by William, Earl of Erroll, the then Sheriff, on 29th April, 1511, a contract between Andrew Elphinstone of the Selmys on behalf of Bishop Elphinstone and Johnne Fyndo', wright, for executing the wood work of the great steeple of the Cathedral Kirk of Aberdone, was put on the books of Court. The agreement bears to have been come to on the 18th April, so very probably it had been reduced to writing, although there is no evidence of its having been signed or witnessed. A copy of the contract will be found at page 102, where it will be seen that the tradesman consented, in case of his failing in any of the points of his bargain, to come under the Commissary for cursing and under the Sheriff for rebellion and putting to the horn, and that, in addition, he appointed procurators to enact him before the Lords of Council under the "pains foresaid." This is a very early and very complete example of what is really and in effect a consent to registration for execution. An early instance of registration for execution (1517) is referred to by Dr. Hill Burton, Register of the Privy Council, Vol. I., p. xix.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court

It may be remarked (and this may prove disappointing to lovers of the picturesque or sensational) that no criminal decisions of a serious kind are to be found in this volume, and that there is no trace of cases involving the personal relations or succession to moveable property. This is of course to be accounted for (1) by the absence of the necessity for keeping a record of any punishments except fines, on the principle that where delinquents were put to death or banished they were finished with, whereas fines had still to be recovered; and (2) that alongside of the Sheriff Court there were the Consistorial Court, the Baillie Court, and all the Courts of Regality and Barony. The first of these especially was in many respects the most powerful and far reaching in its jurisdiction. There was also, for the trial of the four pleas of the Crown and other serious cases, the Justice Ayre, corresponding in a general way to the Circuit Courts of Justiciary of a later day.

Another disappointing feature of the volume is the incomplete record of many of the cases initiated. They are noticed in one short entry and never re-appear. Two reasons may be assigned for this, one being the amicable settlement of the disputes by the intervention of mutual friends. Cases were frequently continued in hope of concord, a hope apparently often well founded. This was as it should be; but it is impossible to regard with the same complacency the other cause, namely, the neglect by the Sheriff Clerk or his depute to write up the Court Book. It seems plain that the blank pages and half-pages frequently found were left as space for entries to be afterwards made but which were never filled in.

Illustrative Examples taken from Vol. I. of Diet Books

Actions of Spuilzie

This was the action by which, of old, a person who had been spoiled or despoiled of any moveable property or goods, which were de facto in his possession, and had been so for some little time, sought to recover them or their value from the despoiler. The word is found variously spelled—Spulze, Spulzie, Spuilzie, Spoilzie, Spoylzie, Spoliacioun, and Spoliatioun being among the variations. The wrong done might be little more than technical, or it might be highly criminal; but if property was taken brevi manu, or otherwise than in due course of law, it was not a sufficient defence to say that by rights, or according to equity, it belonged to the defender. The pursuer had only to allege and prove that it was in his possession, and his by repute, and that the defender had taken it, in order to succeed in his action. Many examples of this form of action are found in the Diet Books, and most of those in Volume I. are here given, together with specimens of evidence taken in such actions, even where no decision is recorded.

1 Four more of the Jury give sentence.

2 Here we have the findings of other two Jurors.

3 No entry is found on 8th May; but it may be assumed that the case was called and continued.

4 It will be observed that, although entered of this date, the verdict is dated 13th January. The discrepancies in the names of the Jurors are also strange.

Deforcement is the crime of forcibly preventing an officer of the law or his assistants from executing the legal warrant of a competent court. —Green's Encyclopædia. A few cases are found in the Acta Dominorum Auditorum, 1466-94, and in the Acta Dominorum Concilii, 1478-95. Previous to 1581 Deforcement was apparently dealt with under the common law; but in that year, and subsequently, it became the subject of legislative enactment

Lawburrows

When a person had, by reason of the threatening words or conduct of another, cause for dreading violence to himself, his family, servants or dependants, he was entitled to resort to the Court for protection. On his making oath that he was in fear of violence and that he had reasonable cause for his belief, the other party was made to find security that his accuser should be kept harmless at his hands, or in more modern phrase he was bound over to keep the peace towards the complainer. Although a very ancient form of process and almost obsolete in practice, the writer can recall an instance or instances of its being resorted to in this same Court in the latter half of the 19th Century.

Violent Occupation of Land and Violent Profits

The occupying of land without a lawful title or the remaining in occupation after the expiration of the time for which a title was held, or after the occupant had been lawfully warned to remove, was called violent occupation. The violent profits, or violence, as it was frequently termed, was the amount of damage which the owner had suffered in consequence of his having been deprived of the possession and use of his land. The mode of estimating this loss will appear from one or more of the examples given.

Apprisings

When a creditor failed to obtain payment of his debt, he was bound to exhaust the debtor's moveable estate before he could take proceedings to affect his landed estate. At a later period this was effected by the process of Adjudication, but in the 16th century the method was still by way of Apprising. A description of this process will be found in Erskine's Institutes, under the head of "Apprisings." The statutes bearing on the subject were Alex. II. c. 24; 2 Rob. I. c. 24; and James II. (1469, c. 36). One or two of the examples following present fairly complete pictures of the method of procedure in the county of Aberdeen in the early part of the 16th century.

<sup>1</sup> Obviously meaning that the Jury to be convened were to be persons conversant with the facts and not one-sided.

(Eo. die)

The said day the Shref assignit the law day eftir Michaelmes nixt to cum to Sir Gilbert Hay of Ardendraucht Knicht to preiw the costs ande skaithts that he has sustenit throw the wanting of nychtbourschip anent the labouring of the terce of the Manys of Ardendraucht in the default of Margaret Leslie eftir the tenour of his precept

<sup>2</sup> The mutual obligations of tenants holding under the same landlord to assist each other in ploughing and otherwise went under the name of good neighbourhood, and various references will be found in Cosmo Innes' Scottish Legal Antiquities, pp. 248, 251-2, and 254. What were the obligations as between a proprietor and the Lady of the terce does not appear, and unfortunately, the foregoing are the only entries found in this volume.

1 Framework.

2 Spire.

3 Presumably a void or empty space.

4 Meaning probably 'from that point.'

5 'Perpetual loft' may be another way of referring to the brandraucht or fixed base of the superstructure, or to the flooring above the brandraucht.

6 Bell-cage.

7 Probably steps.

8 This may be a reference to a marking on the form and pattern supplied to the tradesman,

The Forest of Birse

In a case between Alexander Cumin of Cultyr and Thomas Cumin of the Hyrne, of which neither the beginning nor the end is reported, but from which it appears that Thomas Cumin was claiming, as against the laird of Cultyr, to be owner, by right conferred on him by his father, of a herd of wild horses in the Forest of Birse, the following evidence is found recorded, supplying a picture of the Forest and of the Mounth 400 years ago.

(13 April 1507)

The said day Alexander Allane deponit be his aitht that he knew nocht gif the mers horsss stags ande folis war givin to Thomas Cumin bot he herd say<sup>2</sup> that the said Thomas Cuminis fadir wauld haue gevin thame to him or he decesit

Thomas Yuyll deponit be his aitht that (he) herd and was besid quhen William Cumin Thomas Cuminis fadir gef to the said Thomas the mers horsss stags and folis befor or he decessit xx<sup>ti</sup> yer

Johne Mostrop deponit be his aitht that he herd Thomas Cuminis fadir say that he suld gif the mers horsss stags and folis to Thomas Cumin bot he was nocht besid quhen he gef thame him Nay watt nocht gif he gef thame to him

<sup>1</sup> This is the only instance found of the use of this word. The past participle is found in Jamieson, 1867 Ed., p. 299, and is said to mean summoned or cited to a court. A number of related words, signifying a day's work, a day's journey, &c., &c. will be found in D'Arnis' Late Latin Dictionary, 1866, pp. 1233-4.

The Diet Books : Vol. II., 1557-60

What is bound up under this title is obviously merely the salvage from the wreck of the original volume. The earliest date found is May 26 1556 and the latest June or July 1560, but the scattered leaves have been in some instances inverted and in others bound out of date. In the subjoined Table of Contents the entries appear in the sequence in which they are actually found. The sederunts of most of the Head Courts are wanting and some are represented by fragments only, much of the writing is covered by tissue paper and a good deal of it is quite illegible. Still there is much that can be deciphered and it is quite plain that the procedure, although it cannot be altogether followed, had undergone a great change since the early part of the century. The influence and power of the Court of Session was making itself felt and litigants were availing themselves of the opportunity which it afforded of purchasing letters of advocacy, for the purpose of securing a fairer trial or perhaps of adding to the laws delay, as the case might be.

The almost entire absence from this volume of cautionary obligations to enter accused persons for trial, Lawborrows and such like, suggests that already these were being recorded in another book, similar to those, a series of which under the title of Books of Judicial Enactments are found half a century later. There is only one signature—that of Gilbert Menzies on May 4th 1559—in the volume. The general appearance of the entries suggests that they are a transcript of rougher memoranda made in Court.

Historically the entries in this volume began to be penned when the French marriage of Queen Mary was about to take place, and in point of fact it contains a fragment of Royal Letters regarding the raising of money to defray the expenses of the wedding.

The reign of Francis and Mary began in April 1558, Queen Elizabeth succeeded to the English throne in November of the same year, and when the book closes the Reformation was on the point of becoming in Scotland an accomplished fact.

Naturally there is no reference to these great public events in the Court record (beyond the matter of the marriage expenses) but there is a certain interest in recalling what was passing in the great world, when within their little circle the Sheriff Clerk and his assistants were faithfully recording the doings of their Court de die in diem.

1559. May 27.	A Spuilzie. Royal Letters of Charge to Sheriff dated 19th Jany. 1558-9.	Walter Balbin a traveller from St. Andrews v. John Fresser of Forrest.	Making allowance for exaggerated language, this seems to be a case of robbery with violence on 18th September, 1558. The spoliation is said to have been "be way of brigance" and Balbin is spoken of as a "puir travelour hereit" by Fraser, who on the other hand is described as "ane insolent and ryatous young man" and likely to deforce the officers of the law.
No date but after Whitsunday.	Decree Violent Occupation since Whitsunday 1559.	Barnardy Logy v. John Schand.	Third part Lands of Barrak lying in the Barony of Kellie. Schand pleaded that he had a title from the "Laird of Haldocht" prior to Logy's title: but this the Laird denied on oath.
	Violent Occupation. Pro- testation.	James Gordonn fewart of Kirkcoun of Tarves v. Willeam Gray.	Protest by Gordonn against the Sheriff principal and deputes for continuing the case to 6th Octr. The Pursuer's warning to the Defender to remove was dated at Kellie 9th March 1558-9. Sasine dated 3rd June 1550.

The Diet Books : Vol. III., 1573/4-6.

This is a fine specimen of the penmanship of the time and is perfectly preserved. The volume consists of about 500 closely written pages, each page containing on a rough average about 430 words, so that, if printed in its entirety, it would be equal in size to one of the larger of the Club's books. The separate entries number about 650; but many are of a mere interlocutory character, and of these a considerable proportion have been omitted. An effort has been made however to notice in the subjoined table every separate case that occurs in the original. It is quite evident from their appearance that the entries were not made in court, but are a careful transcript from a rough minute book or from notes. Subject to the remarks made in the introduction, with regard to the entry at the end of the volume of an extract valuation of the County made in 1548-9, the entries occur in regular sequence from 12th January, 1573-4 to 9th October, 1576, and appear to give a fairly full and accurate account of the business of the court for the period, on the civil side. Now and again one notices that although a case has been continued to a particular day, there is no entry regarding the case on that day, and occasionally an unfilled up blank space occurs where there ought to be a fully extended decree. Of this last a provoking example occurs in November, 1574, where no less than seven pages are left blank for what was evidently a local cause célèbre, namely the dispute about the boundaries of Nether Dyce. While it is the case that from and after the date of the opening entry the volume is complete, it is not clear that some portion earlier in date may not be lost. Too much importance must not be attached to the scribbling, which is so plentifully found on the fly leaves or title pages of these volumes; but some is found in this case which is clearly of an official character. We find on one of the leaves bound up at the beginning of the book the official notarial sign and subscription of William Bruce, who was unquestionably Sheriff Clerk depute about that period, and the statement "This buik pertinis to Williame Bruce." In another place there had been written these words: "Ex libris Willelmi Bruce et amicorum 1570"; but these words are scored out and under the deletion is this writing: "Tandem postea ad nobilem et potentem Dominum Georgium comitem de Huntlie Dominum Gordoun et Badzenocht vicecomitem principalem de Aberdene pertinet hic Liber 1570." That William Bruce was Sheriff Clerk depute in 1571 is proved from an entry in the Register of the Privy Council (27th August, 1574, vol. II., page 394), when an act of the Sheriff Court, dated at Rhynie in 1571, signed by him was produced. It is therefore obvious either that the title page dated 1570 belonged to an earlier book now missing, or that a portion of the existing volume, at least equal in bulk to what has survived, has been lost. The entire absence of acts of caution of all kinds, or even of a single reference to crime or quasi-crime is most noticeable; but only goes to prove what is suggested by its appearance, that the volume is a careful copy taken from what was written in Court at the Clerk's table of all entries relating to the civil business of the Court and nothing else. It has been found very difficult to select illustrative examples from this volume owing to the voluminous nature of the cases which are specially interesting, but an attempt has been made to do so without unduly transgressing upon space which is necessarily limited.

Date.	Nature of Entry.	Parties.	Subject or Res Gestae.
1573-4. Febry. 1.	Payment, Action for.	Walter Ogilvy of Baldauy v. Alexr. Keyth of Reid- hyife, Andrew Keytht of Ravynscrag and Wm. Keyth of Balmure.	An action for 1000 merks assigned to the Pursuer by Dame Christian Keyth his mother. The debt was apparently constituted by a Contract registered in the "Shref Buikis of Abirdeine" on 29 Jany. 1564, under the subscription of the late Mr. Andrew Leslie Sheriff Clerk. Various pleas stated. Case continued to 2 March. On 29 May there was produced for the defence a discharge of the 1000 merks signed by John Creychtoun of Ruthvens at Cragboyne on 6 Novr. 1572.
	Spuilzie, Action of.	James Wilsoun alias Cuik in Dynneduir v. Alexr. Makky at Mill of Dunneduir.	Half a boll of market malt extending to 18 pecks, price 6 merks with "ane new sek" price 13/4. In ab- sence of Defender, admitted to Pursuer's probation on 2 March.
	Wrongous Intromission, Action of.	Robert Cultis of Ouchter- coul v. George Gordoun of Lesmoir.	"Ane meir of gray collour of three yeiris of eild or thair- by." Defences ordered by 2 March.
	Spuilzie, Decree of.	Edward Fraser in Faithlie v. Thomas Joffray in Quhytysid.	"Ane blak hors of four yeir auld" taken from Fraser's "maling of Houssahill" in July 1572. Value of horse as stated by the Pursuer was £20. As fixed by Sheriff deputes £10. £41 was asked for the "wark laubor hyirgang and waigis" of the horse over and above its value, but nothing was given.
	Cognition, Decree of.	Maister George Myddil- tounne, burgess of Abd. and Elet. Irving his spouse v. Alexander Annand of Ouchter- ellone and others his tenents in Over Mon- durno.	Myddiltounne and his wife owned "Neddir Mondurno and Torbothehill" in the Barony of Fyvie and Regali- tie of Abirbrothok, in virtue of a Charter granted by Lady Jane Keith, Lady Glammiss, with consent of John Lord Glammiss, her husband dated at Glammiss 6 Novr. 1566, and Instru- ment of Sasine under the hand of Mr. John Kennedy, Notary, dated 19 Decr. thereafter. The Defender Annand and his tenants had been molesting the Pursuers in part of their lands and were by this Decree for- bidden to do so.

17.	Removing, Action of.	George Gordoune of Lesmoir v. Alexr. Leslie of Petcapill and Henry Leyth of Ryhill.	Lesmoir was principal tenant under Lord Huntly of Quhythillok and four oxingang of Poonuid (Powneed) in the Parish of Kabracht. The defenders, who were in actual possession, resisted the application for their removal, and inter alia objected to the competency of the Court, inasmuch as the Sheriff depute was the nominee of Lord Huntly the Sheriff, who was bound to warrant Lesmoir's title and therefore an interested party. Other pleas were stated, which disclose that Petcapill had a regular residence in Old Aberdeen and Leyth a house at Bogfarlaw in the Freedom of Aberdeen. The case continued to Midsummer Even for judgment; but no farther trace has been found.
	Removing, Decree of.	George Gordoune of Lesmoir v. William Gordoune of Arradoull, Andrew Huid in Allivallaucht, Thomas Ferrour, Wm. Elleis in Pownuid, Geo. Gordoun of Crechie, Geo. 1575. May 21.	Transferring, Decree of.	Mr. Robt. Lumisden of Clowayth for himself and in name of his youngest daughter Christiane v. David Menzes as immediate heir to Alexr. Menzes his brother german.	Alexander and David Menzes were sons of Gilbert Menzes, elder, burges of Aberdeen. Alexander had married Christian Lumsden and their Marriage Contract was dated 5 July 1568 and had been registered "in the Shreff buikis of Abirdeine." David Menzes as heir of his brother had apparently got a Decree in the Burgh Court against the widow for delivery of the "airschipe guidis and geir" to him. These proceedings transferring Alexander's obligations under the Marriage Contract to David, were doubtless the counterblast.

Garmak in Bogfechill John Wawane there George Symesoune there and Alexr. Myll there.	Setoune sued as Assignee of Adam Gordoun of Auchindoune, in virtue of an Assignation dated at Aberdeen on 2 July 1573. Adam Gordoun's Sasine dated 21 Novr. 1560 was also produced. This was a strenuously defended action, the competency of the Sheriff deutes, who were stated to be creatures of Lord Huntlie the Sheriff, of whom Auchindoun held his lands, being vigorously attacked. The pleadings cannot be further summarized. Various diets were held subsequent to this, until on 10 May the case was stopped by advocacy and the Sheriffs depute discharged from farther proceeding.

21.	Removing, Decree of.	Patrick Coupland of Udaucht v. Jonet Mowat widow of Thos. Coupland and others.	The Houses and Fortalices of Udaucht as also the Ail- house and Ailhouse Croft of the same. Sasine dated 3 Novr. 1575. From the above it appears that the widow was still stubbornly keeping possession of the subjects.
	Special Court of The Sheriffdom of Aber- deen and Regality of St. Andrews.		The Court constituted.
	Do.		A Royal Commission pre- sented in favor of Gilbert Mengzes of Cowlie and Messrs. Geo. Middleton and Gilbert Bissat, which was granted to obviate the diffi- culty which Lord Huntlie or his deputes had in trying causes of Removing against the Huntlie tenants from the Regality lands.
	Removing, Decree of.	Geo. Gordoun of Lesmoir v. Tenants of Wrang- hame.	The Title deeds produced by Lesmoir were (1) Charter of the Lands of Wranghame and Newtown of Culsalmond, Walk Miln and Corne Miln granted by Henry Kempty alias Duvy dated 23 April 1562 (2) Sasine dated 29 April 1562.

1576. June 22.	Removing, Decree of.	Patrik Mowat of Boquholly v. Tenants.	A number of holdings are mentioned. The Pursuer's Sasine was dated 7 Novr. 1564. Notary Mr. Andrew Leslie, Sheriff Clerk.
23.	Removing, Decree of.	William Strauchachine of Glenkyndy v. Alexr. Williamsoune.	The defender is designed "pikeman of the Miln of Auchnagat and uptaker of the multur and knaifschipe of the tounes and lands of the Miltoun of Auchnagat, Intoun of Auchnagat, Denmoir, Cukishill, Barrak with the landis of Sauak" belonging to the Pursuer, in the Barony of Kelly. Sasine dated 20 Feby. 1566.
25.	Removing, Action of.	John Leslie in Kyntor v. Robt. Makky and others.	Certain ruids of land in Kintore. Competing titles. ( Vide Supra 12 April 1575 p. 219.)
	Removing, Decree of.	Alexr. Keyth of Glacreaucht v. Andrew Harthill and Leonard Thome in Wester Fintray.	Each defender occupied one half of 8 oxingang of land in Wester Fintray belonging to the Pursuer in liferent. Sasine dated 20 and 23 Decr. 1562.
	Removing, Action of.	Madame Elizabeth Gordoune Lady Geycht v. George Gordoun of Scheves and others.	The towns and lands of "Carnoreis, Mekill Ardoch, Mill, Millandis and Multuris" thereof. Sasine dated 6 Decr. 1566. Notary the late Mr. Andrew Leslie, Sheriff Clerk. Continued to 9 July "in hoip of dress and concord."
26.	Removing, Decree of.	John Gordoune of Carnefechill v. Wm. Charlis and Alex. Foulartoune.	Town and lands of the Mill of Carnefechill, within the Regality of Abirbrothok and Parish of Tarves. Sasine dated 20 Augt. 1571.

1576. June 26.	Removing, Decree of.	George Bard of Auchmedden v. Wm. Broune and George Broune.	William Brown's holding is thus described "The hail sonne third of the toun and landis of Petmonie with ane third of the corvall quhyit fisching boit and corvell boit tharoff." George Brown is designed as "occupear and lauborar of the hail schado tua pairt land of the toun of Pennan with the tua pairt of the corvall and bairtis tharoff." These subjects were stated to be situated in the Barony of Borthuik by annexation. There were produced (1) Feu Charter of the Lands and Barony of Abirdour signed by Wm. Borthuik of Abirdour at St. Andrews on 31 Jany. 1568 and (2) Sasine dated 18 March same year.
	Removing, Action of.	George Bard of Auchmedden v. John Quhyit, Barbour in Pettulie, John Ramsay in Abirdour and Symound Quhyit.	John Quhyit claimed to be tenant of "the sonne third of the toun and landis of the Mains of Abirdour with the third of the quhyit fische boit of the same and heavin of the privilegis pertaining thairto." Symound Quhyit was his son and subtenant. Ramsay occupied the "hail toun and landis of Killequharne." The Pursuer founded upon his Titles (vide preceding entry) and for John and Symon White was produced a lease by Wm. Borthuik dated 23 Augt. 1571 for 5 years from Whitsunday 1572. After some pleading in which Ramsay's name does not appear, the Sheriff depute "tuik to be aduysit with the allegiance and to pronounce his interloquitour the morn."
27.	Same case.	Same parties.	After very lengthy pleadings depending upon titles and possession following upon them, the Sheriff depute decides in favor of the Pursuer and by a separate entry on the same day formal Decree of Removing is pronounced against the Whites and Ramsay.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

Date.	Nature of Entry.	Parties.	Subject or Res Gestae.
1576. June 28.	Removing, Decree of.	James Dempster of Auchterles v. James Cheyne, Patrick Barclay, James Lamb and Maly alias Marzeoun Tevindaill.	Parts of Ordley, Bakehill and Logyaltoun in the Barony of Auchterles-Dempster.
29.	Removing, Action of.	George Bard of Auchmedden v. John Quhyit in Ardlahill and Constantyn Ramsay his subtenant.	The principal Defender appears to be identical with John Quhyit, barber in Pettulie, one of the Defenders in the previous case. In this action he offers to improve, i.e. disprove, the validity of the Pursuer's titles and calls for production of official copies.
	Removing, Decree of.	Dempster v. Barclay Lamb and Tevindaill.	This seems to be a slightly altered repetition of the Decree on the previous day omitting Cheyne.
July 2.	Removing, Decree of.	James Innes of Touchis v. Tenants of Petfour and Legat.	Auld miln land of Petfour, Third part of Legat, A plough of Petfour, parts of the Barony of Touchis by annexation. Sasine dated 3 July 1541.
7.	Court of the Sheriffdom of Inverness.		Constituted for the Service of John Leslie of Balquhane as heir to certain subjects situated in the County of Inverness.
	Royal Letters of Dispensation for holding above Court at Aberdeen.		These are engrossed fully and besides fixing place and date, authorize the Jury chosen to ignore any allegations that Wm. Leslie was, when he died, at the Horn or similar allegations against John Leslie.
	Commission by Lord Huntlie as Sheriff of Inverness.		Also fully engrossed. The special deutes were Gilbert Mengzes of Cowlie, Martyn Howesoun, David Gunnar and Patrick Malysoun, burgesses of Aberdeen or any two of them.
	The Brieff or Letter directing the Service to proceed.		This is narrated, the description of the Subjects being given and three Instruments of Sasine all dated 16 Octr. 1567 being produced, along with a Confirmation under the Great Seal dated 29 Novr. 1567.

1576. July 7.	The Petition for Service.	John Leslie of Balquhane.	This is engrossed in full. It begins "My Lordis of Inquest I Johnne Leslie off Balquhane desyris" &c.
	Appearance for Alexander, Bischope of Ross.	William Fergusone his procurator.	Desire to be allowed to appear for the Bishop's interest.
	Procuratory by The Bishop.		Engrossed in full.
	Objections on behalf of the Bishop and Answers.		The objections were at this stage of a dilatory or preliminary nature and were repelled and a Jury of 21 sworn in.
	Appearance for Jas. Hepburn.	Wm. Fergusone his procurator.	Hepburn is designed "Constabill of the Bischopis Palice in the Channonrie of Ross and feuar" of the lands &c embraced in Balquhane's Petition and Brieff.
	Procuratory.		Hepburn's procuratory to Fergusone dated at the Chanry of Ross 4 July 1576 is engrossed in full. It was ruled out of Court because it authorised him to appear only before the Sheriff of Aberdeen and not the Sheriff of Inverness.
	List of Jury on Inquest.	William Setoun of Mel-drume. William Udny of that ilk. James Elphinstoun of Glak. Patrick Leyth of Harthill. James Gordoun of Tulliangous. Alexr. Gordoun of Knoke-spok. ## Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

Date.	Nature of Entry.	Parties.	Subject or Res Gestae.
1576. July 7.	Special Service.	John Leslie of Balquhane son of Wm. Leslie of Balquhane.	Kirklands of Culliquidnye, Farnes, Westir Culvoill, Wodheid. Lands of Bal- mungie, Miln of Rosmarky, Lands of Killeirnan Kirk- lands of Eister Radrie, Westir Radrie, Rosmarkie. Lands of Cannonie vulgo callit the Channonrie land with the Bischopis sched and salmound fisching of the Ness. Kirklands of Leryny, Miln of Avak. Lands of Craigheid, Lands of Kin- beachie, Lands of Contan Lands of Lyaldy, Lands of Kirskey Lands of Insche with the bushes and wood adjacent thereto, the Broyn- niehill, together with the heritable Constabulary of the Palace of the Bishoprick of Ross with houses yards &ea. Also an annualrent of £100 Scots and six chal- ders of victual of the farms and profits of the Bishoprick.
	Protestation and Cross Protestation.	Wm. Fergusone procurator for Hepburn and by the Sheriffs.	For Hepburn the protest is against the decision reject- ing Ferguson's procuratory. The Sheriffs state a protest in the contrary, because Ferguson has no locus standi.
	Protestation.	The Jury.	The "hail Asyiss" protest in the same sense as the Sheriffs.
9.	Removing, Action of.	Bard v. Quhyit.	This was the diet fixed for the defender's improbation of the Pursuer's title: but on the case being called Letters of Advocation were pro- duced. These, containing the reasons of Advocation, are inserted at length. Among other things Quhyit and his predecessors are said to have been kindly possess- ors of the subjects for 1000 years.

1576. July 9.	Removing, Decree of.	Meriore Maitland widow of Alexr. Craufurd in Mekill Bomakellie v. John Sangster and his sub-tenant.	"Schado third pairt landis of Mekill Bomakellie" in the Barony of Fedderet. The Pursuer's title was a 19 year's lease from Alexr. Irving of Drume dated 12 May 1575.
	Removing, Decree of.	Madame Elet Gordoune, Lady Geycht v. George Gordoun of Schewes and others.	Continued from 25th June. Lands of Carnoreis, Meikill Ardo &c. &c. Decree passed at this Court, the Defenders having failed to find caution for the Violent profits, in terms of the Act of Parliament.
	Removing, Decree of.	Elet. Forbes and Thos. Mengzes of Petfoddelis her present husband v. Nicoll Elleis.	Mill, Mill lands &c. of Pettindrum belonging to the lady in liferent in the Barony of Auden.
	Removing, Decree of.	Alexr. Setoun Apparent of Meldrum v. Bessy Stot widow of John Strauchachin.	"Tua oxingang of the toune and landis off Ardeconan" in the Barony of Meldrum.
	Removing, Decree of.	Andrew Knox of that Ilk v. Christan and James Banerman.	Parts of the Lands of New Knok in the Barony of Auden. Sasine dated 23 May 1569.
	Removing, Decree of.	Williame Urry of Petfiquhy v. Patrick Robertsoune.	"Four oxingang of the Westir pleucht of the toun and landis of Nethir Baquhorsky" situated in "the Lairdschipe off Petfiquhie and Regalitie of Sanct Androwis."
	Violent Profits Liquidation, Action of.	Sir John Carnegy of Kynard v. Alexr. Waus of Ruthvenis.	This case appears again after having been advocated to the Court of Session. The Defender is summoned to hear and see the action "Walkin and begyn quhair it left." The Decree of the Lords of Session remitting the case was dated 15 May 1576 and was signed by Mr. James Makgill "Clark of the Register." Defences lodged and witnesses examined.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1576. July 14.	Removing, Decree of.	Thomas Meldrum Portioner of Haddoch v. John Meldrum at Miln of Petty and another.	Parts of the town and lands of Petty in the Parish of Fyvie. The Pursuer's title was a lease granted by "Dame Jeane Gordoun Lady Fywie" dated 28 Octr. 1569.
	Removing, Decree of. (Special Court for Lord Huntly's cases.)	George Earl of Huntlie v. David Casche and others.	Part of the Lands of Davids-toune and Annettis Well in the Lordship of Huntly. Sasine dated 2 March 1575.
	Removing, Action of. (Special Court for Lord Huntly's cases.)	The Earl of Huntlie v. Jonet Forbes widow of Wm. Forbes of Corsinda and wife of Wm. Forbes of Fotherbirss, Mr. Duncan Forbes of Monymusk and a number of others.	Lands in the Lordship of Monymusk and Regalitie of St. Andrews. The Earl appeared personally and produced his precept of warning dated at Bog of Geycht on 21 April preceding, and also his Sasine, of which however the date is not given. Letters of Advocation to the Court of Session were promptly produced for the defence, based upon the narrative of the well known exemption of the Forbes family, their friends and allies from the jurisdiction of the Sheriff of Aberdeen and his deputes.
21.	Removing, Decree of.	Wm. Keyth of Ludquharne with consent of Geo. Gordoun of Crechie his curator v. Andrew Robertsoun.	"Tua pairt of the toun and landis of Litill Cokla," in the Barony of Balmuir. This case was defended, one of the defences being directed against the instance. It was pleaded that "George Gordoun of Crechie hes no place nor persoun to stand in judgement to persew this action nor yet gif his consent to persew the same in respect he is denuncit our soueran lords rebell and put to his Grace horne." The pursuer Keyth being now of age, Gordon's name was taken out of the case.

Innes of Ardgrayn and Girsall Auchinlek his wife v. Mr. Robert Chalmer Burgess of Abd. and others.	The first appearance in this volume of the litigation, of which this and the Decree immediately following mark the termination, was in April 1574. The dispute was about the boundaries of Wodland in the Barony of Monycabok. The Inneses were found to be wrong and Chalmer right. 26/8 of modified expenses to the defenders does not seem an excessive award.
	Cognition, Decree of.	Mr. Robt. Chalmer Burgess of Abd. Jonet Keith his wife and Andrew Bane portioner of Tillegrig v. Alexr. Innes of Ardgrayne heritable feuar of Wodland and others the tenants.	In this case Mr. Chalmer and his colleagues succeeded in establishing their case against the Defenders for molesting and troubling them in their peaceful possession of their lands and got Decree accordingly with expenses modified to £4. 6. 8.

The Diet Books: Vol. IV., June to November 1584

This volume is in every respect a contrast to the one last noticed. Instead of being a careful transcript it would rather seem to be part of the original Court Book for the time. It is not complete, a portion of it at the beginning being wanting, as well as pages here and there through the volume. The penmanship is hasty and many deletions and marginal additions occur. The contents are various but not dissimilar to those in the preceding volume. Besides Decrees, chiefly of removing, there are the ordinary formal interlocutors, some advocations, two or three services, the Michaelmas Head Court and various miscellaneous matter including some acts of caution for persons accused of crime.

Allusion has already been made to the scribbling on the fly leaves of some of these old volumes and there is here reproduced an example from the volume presently under notice. The last leaf contains on one side a Decree of Removing at the instance of Johne Gordon of Glascoforrest against David Lamb in Langmanswalls in Rothienormound and on the other side, although not in the same handwriting, the following quaint and touching lines regarding what those who are skilled in folk-lore tell us was an old Valentine Eve custom. The authorship, the Editor has not succeeded in tracing.

O fairest fair my lowe giue I durst say
My mynd to you I will mak manifest
Young men and maidis did cum to sporte and play
On Walantine ewin and so amang the rest
They gaue command that ane suld tak in haist
Bayth pen and ink and for to put in wreit
Sick sacred namis as ilk man pleissit best
On lyttill peace off pleass<sup>1</sup> and paper quhyit
Your sacred name in quhome I tak delyit
Amonges the lawe was wreit in that place
Syne put togidder in maner most perfyit

1584. Octr. 8.	Removing, Action of.	Robert, Commendator of Deir v. Alexr. Sewan in Lytill Creichye, David Joffray there, David Sangster in Auchty-donald and Gilbert Lytljohn there.	To Sangster and Littlejohn was assigned Andirsmes Evin to give in defences, while Decree passed against the other two.
9.	Removing, Decree of.	Dame Jeane Gordoun, Lady of Fyvie v. John Meldrum in Jakistoun Alexr. Meldrum of Bogheids Thos. Meldrum in Comalynes and John Greiss.	"My lord Shref decernit Thomas Meldrum and Jon Greiss to remove becaus and in respect thair nother productit peremptors nor fand caution."
	Removing, Decree of.	John Setoun of Lumfuird v. John George.	Sasine 15 Decr. 1569. Notary Sir David Setoun. Action originally against both John and Alexander George his son, but decree against the father only.
	Breach of Arrestment.	The Crown by Mr. George Barclay, Procurator Fiscal, the Sheriff and Gilbert Reid of Collestoun v. Wm. Lesk of that ilk and Thos. Lesk his eldest son.	This case was brought up on a Summons of Wakening.
	Spuilzie, Action of.	Alexr. Reid, son of Gilbert Reid of Collestoun v. Wm. Lesk of that ilk, Thomas Lesk of Auchmad, Patrick Lesk of Lytill Haddo and John Lesk of Garpalheid.	Obviously connected with the immediately preceding action. This case had also gone to sleep and required wakening.
	Cognition, Action of.	Gilbert and Alexr. Pantoun portioners of Over Tullmald v. William Lord Forbes.	This day had been fixed for proof but Lord Forbes did not appear. The Sheriff however received and examined certain witnesses.
10.	Act of Caution, Mutilation.	Wm. Clark v. William, James, Andrew and Patrick Mortimer in Knokallachy.	James Mortimer, apparent of Cragiver becomes cautioner to enter the accused on 20 Octr. "for the mutilation and dismembering of William Clark of his ring finger of his left hand."
20.	Protestation.	The Mortimers above named.	Appear ready to take their trial but are not called. Protest that their cautioner be free and that they incur no danger and take instruments in the hands of notaries.

1584. Octr. 6.	Act of Caution, Mutilation. (Entered out of place in book.)	Thos. Watson in Tilliray v. Wm. Sangster Mill of Mynness.	Andrew Austeine in Newburgher cautioner to enter Sangster for the mutilation of Watson.
Novr. 7.	Briefs for Service as heir and of Terce.	James Keyth, son of Alexr. Keyth of Auchquhorsk and Elet. Mengzes his tutrix and also for her Terce.	Lands of Overdavacht, Tavel- tye and fishing thereof, also Little Kynnadye and Salmon fishing. Mr. Gilbert Keyth opposed, and after consider- able debate the petitioners procurator on the ground "that thair was nocht the just number of ane assiss" took up the brief with the petition and titles produced.
Octr. 31.	Removing, Decree of. (Entered out of date in diet book.)	Wm. Gordoun of Auchin- doir v. Thos. Edysoun.	The "Croft gleib and Mans of Auchindoir." The Pur- suer's title was a lease from his son John Gordoun, whose title was a lease for 19 years from John, Master of Forbes of the parsonage and vicar- age of Auchindoir.
Novr. 28.	Briefs for service.	James Keyth and Elet. Mengzes.	Another debate, when Mr. Gilbert Keyth and Thos. Keyth the pupil's uncle de- mand the dismissal of the tutrix from her offic. Various titles were produced but no result is minuted.
	Mill Miltures, Action of.	Walter Barclay of Tollie v. Patrick Cheyne of Essil- monthe, Wm. Craig of Cragisfintray, Robert Petrye in Tullemald, Thomas Craig in Bal- malie and others.	Order upon parties to con- descend upon their titles on 19 December.
	Removing, Action of.	Dame Agnes Wod and Sir John Carnegie v. The tenants of Selby and Lochtulloch and John Pantoun of Petmedden for his interest.	Pantoun produced Royal Charter of Confirmation and Sasine and so did Dame Agnes Wod. The Sheriff ordained "the daitts to be cowerit and keipit onsene" from the parties.
	Removing, Action of.	John Gordoun of Glasco- forrest v. Andrew Mel- drum of Drumbreck.	No subjects mentioned. In respect of no defences, the libel was admitted to the pursuers probation.

The Diet Books : Vol. V., 1595-6

This volume, which covers exactly a year, is complete as it came from the writer's hand, and its appearance proves that the statement on the title page as to the penmanship is a true one. The inscription runs thus:—"The Sref Court Buik of Aberdene Begune at the entres of Maister Williame Reid to be Sref Clark xxv June 1595 All wretin withe the hand of Gilbert Thomesone Burges of Aberdene."

The style of the writing points to the entries having been made, not perhaps actually in Court at the Clerk's table, but very soon afterwards ; and the occurrence of a few signatures in the volume confirm that view. There are some 260 pages in the book and about twice as many separate entries, some cases being of course repeatedly noticed. An effort has been made to embrace in the subjoined table every separate proceeding, while at the same time avoiding unnecessary repetition. The volume of business was considerable. Thus on 1st October, 1595, there were 15 cases on the roll, while on 23rd January and 16th February, 1595-6, there were 23 and 19 respectively. Acts of Caution for the loosing of arrestments bulk largely for the first time in this diet book.

The forfeiture of the Earl of Huntlie in 1594, following upon his participation in the rising of the Popish Lords, had at this time deprived him of his heritable Sheriffships, and in Aberdeenshire the place was filled by John Leslie, 10th Baron of Balquhain, who having succeeded in turning out of office Mr Alexander Fraser, who had been Sheriff Clerk under Lord Huntly, got Mr. William Reid appointed in his place.

Mr. Alexander Fraser's account of this transaction, bearing as it does upon the custody of the books of Court and the probable fate of some of those which are now missing, may be given here. It is taken from the proceedings of the Privy Council at their sitting at Falkland, on 14 August, 1595.<sup>1</sup>

Complaint of Mr. Alexander Fraser, sheriff-clerk of Abirdene, as follows:—Having been lawfully provided to the said office during his lifetime by George, sometime Earl of Huntlie, sheriff principal of the said shire, and the late Sir Patrik Gordoun of Auchindoun, his depute for the time, with the King's confirmation and disposition to him of the same, he has been in the peaceable possession of his clerkship for fourteen years preceding the date of the forfeiture of the said Earl, and also during the time that Johnne Leslie of Balquhan, now sheriff-depute of the said shire, has occupied that charge. In which service the complainer . . . . . has never been troubled, till of late the said Johnne, "mynding to prefer sum of his awne servandis to the said complenaris office and to disposses him thairof, and yit finding na direct or lauchfull meane to cum to his intent, nor na just caus of reproche to lay to the said complenaris charge," had "divisit thairfoir be policie and craft to circumvene him." To this effect, he had borrowed many of the register books from the complainer, of purpose, as he alleged, to see some letters concerning himself; "and, haveing the buikis in his handis, quhilkis he still detenis, he burdynnit the said complenair to subscriye certane injunctionis tending altogidder to his prejudice and hasard of his honnestie. . . . . And upoun the xxv day of Junij last, being ane ordinair courte day, the said Johnne sitting in judgement, and the same complenair occupying his awne charge, the said Johnne finding the tyme then propir to cum to his intent, he first begouth to quarrell and accuse the said complenair . . . . . and desirit the said complener to delyver unto thame his principall minute-buke, quhairin he wes then writting; quhilk being refusit be him, in respect of his panefull travellis tane in the writting thairof, and that be that buik he behuifit to be answerable for his bipast service, the said Johnne thairfoir patt violent handis in him, and shamefullie dang him upoun the face and removit him furth of the tolbuith, and placeit the saidis personis<sup>r</sup> in the actual possessioun of his office, and swa wrangouslie dispossesit him thairof without ony lauchfull [excuse?] or cognition preceding."

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court

1595. Novr. 20.	Decree of Transumpt.	John Leslie of Balquhane v. Thomas Bruce in Wodtounne.	The action was for exhibition of the Protocol Book of the late William Bruce, Notary public, designed as "sumtyme Shref Clerk of Abd." in order that an authentic copy might be taken from it of an Instrument of the Lands and Barony of Boquhane and others in favor of the said John Leslie dated 9 and 10 Novr. 1573. This was authorized by the Sheriffs depute after evidence had been led; but the Instrument was not copied into the Diet Book.
10.	Discharge and Redemption. ( This and the four following entries are entered out of date in the Diet Book. )	Adam Wat at the Milne of Logydurnoche to John Leslie of Balquhane.	1000 merks lent over the New Mylne of Logydurnoche and pertinents, which are declared to be redeemed.

	Discharge and Redemption.	John Leithe of Luesk to Balquhane.	4000 merks lent over the Kirktonn of Logydurnoche and Ailhouse croft thereof.
	Obligation of Relief.	Norman Leslie as principal, Sir Thomas Gordoun of Cluny and John Gordoune of Glenbucheat cautioners to Balquhane.	It seems that Norman Leslie had been at the horn and that the sisters of the late James Earl of Moray, as having the gift of his escheit and liferent had used arrestment in Balquhane's hands. In spite of this Balquhane had repaid to Norman Leslie the £1000 above mentioned. The obligation here put on the books was to keep him safe. The deed was signed at Aberdeen on 11 Novr., among the witnesses being Robert Keyth of Benholme, Mr. Thomas Leslie, burges of Abd., and Mr. Wm. Reid, who was the writer of it.

The Decree Books, Vol. I. Part I. 1597-99

In the case of the five volumes, which have been already dealt with, the title "Diet Book" has been taken from the outside covers, in which, as has been stated in the introduction, they were rebound somewhere about 1840. In the Inventories of 1764 and 1808 several of these were called Books of Services and not Diet Books, the titles being apparently such, as in the opinion of the Sheriff-Clerk for the time, best described the contents. We have here, however, the original designation of the volume, preserved on the title page, which runs thus "Decreit Buik of the Srefdome of Aberdene sen the entrie of Maister Williame Andersone to be Sref Clark quhilk was upone the aughtene day of Junij 1597." Had those in charge of the subsequent binding of the volume not received this guidance, the volume would probably have been labelled as a Diet Book and would thus have been No. VI. of that series. As may be seen from the contents, there are entries other than decrees, and notably the first entry, giving an account of the Sheriff-Clerk's own installation, which supplies the fullest description of Sheriff Court ceremonial found in these books.

It may be also noted here that not only is there an unaccounted for cessation of entries between December, 1597, and June, 1598; but that entries abruptly cease on 31 March, 1599, for a period of more than thirty years, when the unused portion of the volume began to be utilized for Decrees of Transumpt pronounced between 1633 and 1644. The volume is therefore not a Decree Book from 1597 to 1644, as represented on the back of it and in recent Inventories; but a book consisting of two parts widely differing in point of time and character, the first of which only is dealt with in the following Table of Contents. In none of the Inventories previous to the date at which the rebinding already alluded to took place, is the second part noticed, and yet it has all the appearance of having been written up at the time. It would seem indeed that when the Sheriff-Clerk made his return in 1808 he assumed, without close examination, that the last date in the volume was October 1, 1599, instead of October 1, 1644, and so described it.

1598. Decr. 14.	Decree of Transumpt.	George Gordone of Cow- clarauchie as son and heir of George Gordone of Blairdynnie.	Instrument of Sasine dated 16 March 1584-5 proceeding upon precept by David, Bishop of Aberdeen, dated 20 Jany. 1584-5 of the town and lands of Hauche of Bogie, alias Blarnedynnie, Shire of Cla'. The precept of Sasine was signed by the Bishop of Edinburgh, two of the witnesses being John Gordoun apparent of Buckie and Mr. Francis Cheyne. It was directed to William Gordoun of Auchindoir and Robert Barclay of Faichhill, by whom Sasine was given in presence of Alexander Leslie of Boquharne, William Gordone, son of the said William Gordone of Auchin- doir, John Robsoun in Blairindynnye, Andrew Ranye in Smithstoun of Notht, Alexander Gordone and George Gordone there, and Patrick Gordone in Fulzemouth. The wit- nesses to the Act of Court were Mr. Robert Paip Advocate in Aberdeen, William Gordon of Tulli- angous, George Gordone in Scurdarg, and Gilbert Thomesone burges. The precept, in narrating the verdict of the inquest which sat on the breive of Service, makes an interesting allusion by implication to the rebel- lion of the ancestor who was executed after Corrichie. The words are these : "Quod quondam Georgius Gordone de Blairdynnie pater Georgii Gordoun nunc de Coclaurauchie latoris presentium obiit ultimo vestitus et sasitus ut de feodo ad pacem et fidem Marie quondam regine matris dicti S.D.N. regis moderni Aut saltem ratione literarum gratie et restitu- tionis per dictum S.D.N. regem cum auisamento et consensu dominorum secreti consilii dicto Georgio desuper concessarum ipse nunc est eiusdem sortis et conditionis ac si dictus suus pater obiisset ad pacem et fidem dicte Marie quondam regine."

Daudsone in Auchmaleddie and Isobell Daudsone, widow, as intromitter with her late husband Alexr. Thomsone's estate.	The liability in this case had been transferred to Isobell Daudsone, widow of Alexr. Thomsone, one of the original Defenders by action of transferring [ Supra Octr. 4]. A dilatory plea was stated that at and before the time of citation the defenders dwelt in the Sheriffdome of Banff. It was held that they had all been lawfully brought into court "ratione rei de qua agitur." Decree passed for restitution of or payment for A white horse £40 5 Cows each 20 merks 3 Steers each £10 with the lost profit at 6/8 per day for the horse, a calf yearly from each cow at £4, besides 5/- per day for milk, butter, cheese, and dung from the cows, and 4/- per day for the work, hiring, and dung of each steer. 38 milk ewes each 40/-, 22 two and three year old wedders each 4 merks, 10 yeild ewes 2, 3, and 4 years old each 30/-, with £5 of expenses to be paid equally by Defenders.

SIR PHILIP DE MALEUILLE.

The family to which this Sheriff belonged is believed to have come to Scotland with David I. Galfridus, the first of the family of whom we have definite knowledge, is said by Douglas to have lived under David I. and his successors, Malcolm IV. and William the Lion, and to have attained to the position of Justiciary of Scotland.<sup>2</sup> Two local references to this personage may be given. He was a witness (1165-1171) to the grant of the Church of Tarland to the Church of St. Andrews by Moregrundus, Earl of Mar,<sup>3</sup> and again (1171-85) to the earliest existing Royal Charter to the Burgh of Aberdeen.<sup>4</sup> This Galfrid had a son named Philip,<sup>5</sup> but the editor has not been able to find evidence as to whether this son or Philip, the grandson of Galfrid (as Douglas asserts) was the future Sheriff. The evidence of the Sheriffship of a Philip de Maleuille is quite clear and conclusive. He is so styled when witness to a Charter of the lands of Petmengartenach granted by Stephen of Kinardley to the Abbey of Aberbrothoc (1221).<sup>6</sup> Again among the Charters of the Priory of St. Andrews is one entitled "Conuencio inter Priorem et Conuentum Sancti Andree et Gillemor Scolgo de Tarualont hominem eorum ligium et natiuum"<sup>7</sup> (1222), to which Philip de Mauleuille vicecomes Abirdonensis is a witness. At a somewhat later period he was Sheriff of the "Mernes"<sup>8</sup> (Kincardineshire). Philip, the son of Galfrid, owned the lands of Munethen (Mondynes), now part of the estate of Glenbervie. From the documents establishing this fact it appears that Munethen was the marriage portion, which he received with Eva, the daughter of Walter, the son of Sibald.<sup>1</sup> The descendants of Galfrid and Philip were undoubtedly proprietors of Glenbervie for many generations,<sup>2</sup> and the name of "Galfridus de Glenberuyn" (1178-80)<sup>3</sup> would seem to suggest that already at that date Galfrid de Maleiulle had proprietary rights there. It may be farther noted in connection with this family that the estate of Kemnay in Aberdeenshire belonged to one Andrew Malvyll in 1397,<sup>4</sup> and that both Glenbervie and Kemnay are found in the hands of a member of the great family of Douglas before the middle of the 16th century.<sup>5</sup>

SIR V. PRAT.

In a document entitled "Perambulacio inter Abbotem de Aberbrothoc et Comitissam de Buchan super terris de Taruays," this Sheriff is mentioned.<sup>6</sup> The document itself is dated at Forfar 1st August, 1251; but it appears to be a copy taken from the Crown records by the Abbot of Dunfermline and certified by him, of the settlement of this dispute, on 3rd August, 1236. Another difference between the Abbot of Aberbrothoc and Philip of Pheudarg seems to have been settled on the same day. Among those present at these settlements was mentioned "V. Prat tunc vicecomes de Abirden Miles." No other mention of this Sheriff has been found; but about the same period a Henry Prat was Sheriff of Banff,<sup>7</sup> and a William Prat Sheriff of Invernairn.<sup>8</sup>

Before 1263.

G. DE MALEUYLL.

In the Exchequer Rolls under date 1264 accounts are given up by "G de Maleuyll quondam vicecomes de Abirden."<sup>9</sup> Gregorius was a family name of the Melvilles at that time as well as Galfridus, and Gregorius de Maleuill is mentioned along with Philip Maleuill as a witness to a Charter of the wood of Trostach in Banchory Ternan to the convent of Aberbrothoc (1233).<sup>10</sup> At a considerably earlier date (1221) we find the name of Gregorius (doubtless Maleuill), Sheriff of the Mearns, occurring in juxtaposition to that of Philip Maleuill, Sheriff of Aberdeen, in the Petmengartenach Charter already alluded to.<sup>1</sup>

Unfortunately the date of this Sheriff's accounts cannot now be ascertained, but such evidence as exists points to his having been the immediate predecessor of Andreas de Garuiach.

ANDREAS DE GARUIACH.

Neither the Melvilles nor the Prats derived their names from any place in the north-east of Scotland ; but the Garioch is a name as familiar to us now as it must have been when the Lord of the Garioch, one of whose kinsmen Sir Andrew probably was, took his title from it. Isabel, the second daughter of David, Earl of Huntingdon, succeeded her brother John in the superiority of the Garioch, which thus ultimately descended to her great grandson, King Robert I. This Sheriff was therefore probably related to the family of Brus as well as to the Royal house, and on this assumption it was quite natural that he should be a witness to a deed of excambion granted by Robert de Brus, Lord of Annandale, in 1261, dealing with the lands of Williamston, near Inch and Boynds, in the Parish of Inverurie.<sup>2</sup> He also acted not infrequently as a witness to Charters granted by the reigning monarch, Alexander III. In 1264 and in 1266 he rendered accounts in Exchequer as Sheriff of Aberdeen, and it is worthy of note that in the earlier of these accounts he takes credit for an outlay of £10 for expenses at Aberdeen and Kintore in connection with the King's journey to and from Morayshire.<sup>3</sup> In 1273 Sir Andreas de Garuiach was one of the witnesses to a pious grant by Alexander Cumyn, Earl of Buchan, to a religious foundation at Turriff,<sup>4</sup> but unfortunately no Sheriffs' accounts exist between 1266 and 1288, and so the materials for determining the duration of his term of office are wanting.

SIR WILLIAM DE MELGDRUM.

It is impossible to fix the date of Sir William Melgdrum's appointment or the duration of his Sheriffship ; but some facts about him have been ascertained. The first of the family who acquired foothold in the County of Aberdeen was his grandfather, Sir Philip of Fedarg or Pheudarg, whose connection with Aberdeenshire is fixed by two ancient writings, both referring to subjects in the parish of Tarves. One of these has already been alluded to (1236) as occurring in the Sheriffship of V. Prat.<sup>1</sup> The other, the date of which is uncertain, is a grant by the Abbot of Aberbrothoc to Sir Philip of the lands of Auchnieve, for which he was to pay half a mark yearly.<sup>2</sup> The description of the boundaries seems to indicate that at one point Auchnieve marched with land already belonging to Sir Philip. The son of Sir Philip of Pheudarg seems to have assumed the surname of Melgdrum either in addition to or as superseding his former surname ; and it may be noted in this connection that there are various farms in the parish of Tarves still called Meldrum. This son, who was also Sir Philip, married Lady Agnes Cumyn, daughter of William and sister of Alexander, Earl of Buchan, becoming in this way closely connected with a family who were prominent supporters of Balliol in his claim to the throne of Scotland. He and his wife had a dispute with the Abbot of Aberbrothoc about the Church of Belhelvie, which was settled by an Ordinance of the Bishop of Aberdeen, signed at Inverurie in February, 1262.<sup>3</sup> Again in 1273 we find Sir Philip and his son Philip, the subject of this notice, witnessing at Kelly the grant by Alexander Cumyn, Earl of Buchan, of an Almshouse at Turriff already referred to.<sup>4</sup> To this deed Fergus Cumyn, the Earl's brother, was also a witness. This brings us to Philip the Sheriff, who rendered accounts in Exchequer in 1290, the account for Banffshire being rendered at the same time by John, Earl of Buchan, his cousin.<sup>5</sup> In the spring and autumn of 1292 Sir William Meldrum, Sheriff of Aberdeen, makes payments to John de Gildforde, Castellan of Aberdeen.<sup>6</sup> Joining in Balliol's uprising, he must have lost the Sheriffship and been forfeited, for he made submission and swore fealty to Edward I. at Berwick-on-Tweed on 28th August,<sup>7</sup> while a few days later, on 3rd September, there is a writ addressed to the Sheriff of Aberdeen to restore his lands to him.<sup>8</sup> Sir Philip was still alive in 1299-1300, when he attended a justiciary court in Aberdeen

“juxta castrum de Abirden in loco qui dicitur Castelsyd”<sup>1</sup>; but he must have died before 1306-7, when we find that the ward and marriage of his son and heir Thomas, then a minor, had been granted to Sir Thomas de Chaucumbe and sold by him to Sir Robert de Keth.<sup>2</sup>

HENRY DE LATHUM.

It is stated by the author of Inverurie and the Earldom of the Garioch<sup>3</sup> that after the suppression of Balliol's revolt, King Edward made Gartney, the son of the Earl of Mar, then or afterwards married to Christian Bruce, and Bishop Henry Cheyne his Sheriffs in Aberdeenshire. Whether that was so or not—and no sufficient evidence of such an appointment has been found—there is no doubt that Gartney and the Bishop were, together with John, Earl of Buchan, Constable of Scotland, at that time engaged, with the knowledge and approval and probably with the express authority and commission of the English King, in suppressing certain disorders in the north-east of Scotland. It has been seen, however, that immediately after Sir Philip Meldrum's submission an order was given to the “Sheriff of Aberdeen” to restore him to his estates, and the likelihood is that when Edward I. left Aberdeen on his way south in July or August, 1296, the Sheriff in charge of Aberdeenshire was Henry de Lathum. On the very day indeed (11 June, 1297) when the King was addressing a letter to Gartney, he was writing to “dilecto et fideli suo Henrico de Lathum vicecomiti de Aberden.”<sup>4</sup> In this letter the King requires de Lathum to be diligent in repressing the serious disturbances of the peace and numerous crimes which were reported to be rife in those parts. So far as can be judged by the event, the Sheriff not only failed in his duty but leaned to the side of the Scots, for on 1st August, 1297, the Earl of Warenne writes Edward that he had taken steps to capture de Lathum,<sup>5</sup> while six months later (6th Febr., 1297-8) the Sheriff of Lancaster is directed to seize the lands of Henry de Lathum “a rebel and adherent of the Scots.”<sup>6</sup> The family of de Lathum seem to have hailed from Lancashire. One of the name, Robert de Lathum, was Sheriff of Lancaster in 1251-2,<sup>7</sup> and another, also

Robert, was, along with four others, ordered by King Edward (19th March, 1306-7) to raise 1000 footmen in Lancaster, who were to form part of a force which was being assembled at Carlisle "to pursue Robert de Brus and his accomplices who were lurking in the moors and marshes of Scotland."<sup>1</sup>

JOHN EARL OF ATHOLE.

The evidence of the Sheriffship of the tenth Earl of Athole is his being designed as "tunc vicecomes de Abirden" in the record of the Court of Justiciary in the "Castelsyd" at Aberdeen referred to in the notes upon Sir William Meldrum.<sup>2</sup> He became a staunch adherent of Robert the Bruce, was present at his coronation, and being taken captive by Edward, was condemned to death and executed in London, in November, 1306.<sup>3</sup>

1303.

SIR ALEXANDER COMYN.

It may be assumed with some confidence that Sir Alexander Comyn succeeded the Earl of Athole as Sheriff of Aberdeenshire. He twice accounted as Sheriff in the 32nd year of Edward I.,<sup>4</sup> which, if his accounts were for the year then current, would place him in office in 1304. It is stated, however, in the Records of Aboyne<sup>5</sup> that he was Sheriff about the time of King Edward's visit to Aberdeenshire in 1303. Some difficulty arises in distinguishing between this Sir Alexander Comyn and Sir Alexander Comyn of Badenoch, who was a co-temporary. Both names, but without any territorial designations, occur on the Ragman Roll, one as having submitted at Elgin on 27th July, 1296, and the other on 28th August at Berwick-on-Tweed.<sup>6</sup> The latter might very probably be Sir Alexander of Buchan, his brother John, Earl of Buchan, being one of those swearing fealty on the same day. Both the Earl and Sir Alexander took oath on 6th June, 1297, to serve the King of England against the King of France.<sup>7</sup> It is of course obvious from his having been appointed Sheriff that he had fully gained the confidence of the English authorities, and this is farther borne out by the fact that Edward I. in 1304 acceded to his request for delivery to him of Aboyne Castle. On the intervention of the Earl of Athole, however, who represented that Sir Alexander Comyn had already got Urquhart and Tarwedale Castles and had besides the Castle of Aberdeen at his disposal, the order for delivery of Aboyne Castle was suspended.<sup>1</sup> About the same period various petitions were laid by Sir Alexander before the King, and among them was one for re-imburement of his expenses while Sheriff, and another for letters of protection against those whom he might have displeased in the discharge of his office.<sup>2</sup> The supremacy of the Comyns in Aberdeenshire came to an end with the "harrying of Buchan" which took place after the Battle of Inverurie in 1308, although after Bruce's death and during the temporary success of Edward Balliol, Edward de Beaumont, who had married Alice, the elder daughter of Sir Alexander Comyn,<sup>3</sup> assumed the title of Earl of Buchan, and sat in Balliol's parliament at Edinburgh on 10th February, 1333-4.<sup>4</sup>

SIR ROBERT KEITH,
Marischal of Scotland.

The name of Sir Robert as Sheriff has not been found in any official document, but about this time he appended his seal to a conveyance of Ledyntosach and Rothmase in the Garioch, by Duncan, son and heir of Helen, daughter of Adam of Rane, in favour of Henry of St. Michael, dated January, 1304-5, in the testing clause of which he is designed Sheriff of Aberdeen.<sup>5</sup> His history, like that of many of the Scottish barons of the period, was marked by alternations of policy in public affairs, although less so in his case than in the case of many others. He had a grant of the lands of Keith from Balliol in 1294.<sup>6</sup> In the subsequent rising against the English supremacy he took part, and, as his name does not appear on the Ragman's Roll, he must have adhered steadfastly to the national party. On 20th August, 1299, he was made Warden of Selkirk Forest on behalf of the guardians of Scotland, with instructions to raid the English marches.<sup>7</sup> A year later he was a prisoner at Carlisle and considered too dangerous a rebel to be allowed to remain so near Scotland. He was therefore, by the orders of Edward I., transported to Nottingham, there to be kept separate from his fellow-prisoner, Robert de Barde.<sup>1</sup> At Michaelmas of the same year he was a prisoner at York, under orders for Bristol, while de Barde was sent to Gloucester.<sup>2</sup> In his accounts on 19th October, 1304, the Sheriff of Northumberland charges the expense of conducting Keith and four other Scotsmen from Newcastle to Berwick in 1303.<sup>3</sup> It would appear, therefore, that if he had not actually been received to the King's peace in 1303, he had made overtures of submission. He had certainly finally submitted before Martinmas, 1303, because in two petitions laid by him before the King at that time he is said to have come to the King's peace.<sup>4</sup> We next find him dining with the Prince of Wales at Perth, on 2nd February, 1303-4,<sup>5</sup> and as one of the Scottish Commissioners agreeing, in September, 1305, to King Edward's ordinances for the government of Scotland and accepting high office under them.<sup>6</sup> From this time he was an officer of State under King Edward I., and receiving pay so late as about 18th July, 1307, when he was with Aymar de Valence, the King's lieutenant, near Ayr.<sup>7</sup> This was a few days after the death of Edward I., and when we next have definite knowledge of Sir Robert's movements, he was materially assisting Robert the Bruce to achieve victory at Inverurie.

As a reward he got a grant of Hall Forest, near Kintore.<sup>8</sup>

At the battle of Bannockburn Keith, who was in command of the Scottish horse, rendered important service at a critical moment, contributing greatly to the completeness of the victory.

His services were not unrewarded, and when the Comyn lands in these northern parts came to be divided among the close friends of the King, the Keiths had their share, obtaining a grant in November, 1324, which settled them, alongside of the Hays, Frasers, Irvines, and Burnards (Burnet) as great landholders in Aberdeen and Kincardine.<sup>9</sup>

His name appears frequently as a witness to Crown grants, and especially there may be mentioned Robert the Bruce's grants to Aberdeen of 24th October, 1313, and 8th and 10th December, 1319.<sup>1</sup>

Sir Robert was killed at the battle of Dupplin on 12th August, 1332—"cum plerisque ex familia nobilibus"—as Boece has it.

1305.                   SIR NORMAN DE LETHELYN (LESLIE.)

This Sheriff was appointed by Edward I. in his Ordonnance for the Government of Scotland issued in September of this year.<sup>2</sup> He appears in the Historical Records of the Family of Leslie as Sir Norman de Leslie, the fifth of that ancient family. Like many others he swore fealty to Edward I. in 1296 at Aberdeen on July 15th, and at Berwick on August 28th,<sup>3</sup> and renounced the French Alliance, with regard to which Col. Leslie, the compiler of the records, makes the following observation :—"Probably it was for compliances such as these, of which it would be difficult to fix the adequate blame, but which no patriot can consider excusable, that King Edward appointed Sir Norman de Leslie Sheriff of his native County of Aberdeen in 1305." He seems to have died between 1314, when he sat in Bruce's Parliament at Cambuskenneth, and 1320 when his son, Andrew, appears as Sir Andrew de Leslie.

1320-4.                   SIR WALTER BERKELAY.

The official evidence of the Sheriffship of Sir Walter is found in the records of the Black Parliament held in Scone in August 1320, where the name of "Walter de Berclay Vicecomes de Abirtonia" appears on the list of those accused of treason.<sup>4</sup> An account of the plot against King Robert the Bruce's life, and of the trial of the various persons accused, is given in Tytler's History under this date. Several of those tried were found guilty and suffered the penalty of death, but Berkelay was acquitted. The King must have been satisfied with this verdict, for we find Berkelay holding the office of Sheriff four years later.

By one of King Robert's Charters to the Burgh of Aberdeen dated 25th September, 1324, the Burgesses and Community were freed for ever from all manner of assize (or custom) of Ale and Fish both red and white, with this reservation that they should "pay and fully account for the said duty to Walter of Berkelay, Knight, our present Sheriff of Aberdeen, so long as he shall continue to be our Sheriff there."<sup>1</sup>

Some facts in the history of Sir Walter may be noted. His name appears as having done homage to Edward I. on March 14th., 1296.<sup>2</sup> He was taken prisoner at Dunbar and ordered (May 16) to Berkhamstead<sup>3</sup> to which he seems to have been transported at once, for the Sheriff of Bedford and Berks had allowance in connection with his maintenance there on the 31st of that month.<sup>4</sup> In March 1296-7 the Sheriff of Bedford and Buckingham had allowance for his maintenance at Berkhamstead to Michaelmas, 1296.<sup>5</sup> Like many others in the same position, he undertook to serve King Edward in France or elsewhere, and John, Earl of Athol, and others were securities for him.<sup>6</sup> A glimpse of him as having been at Sandwich waiting to cross over to Flanders is found in an account (without date) for the expenses of him and a number of other Scottish knights and esquires.<sup>7</sup>

When next met with he is in Aberdeen sitting in a Justiciary Court there in Lent, 1299-1300, in company with Bishop Henry le Chen and a number of other local magnates.<sup>8</sup> Apparently Sir Walter had obtained some foothold in these Northern parts by this time, for King Edward appointed him Sheriff of Banff in 1305.<sup>9</sup> It is quite clear, however, that he must subsequently have espoused the cause of Robert the Bruce, for, besides his grant from the customs of Aberdeen, he had a Charter from King Robert of the Thanage of Belhelvy.<sup>10</sup> Sir Walter resigned his right to the customs of Ale and Fish to the Burgh of Aberdeen on the Monday preceding Christmas day, 1324,<sup>11</sup> and probably the office of Sheriff also.

the importance of the enquiry at which he presided, and the authoritative character of the record of it, there might have been hesitation in placing him on the list of Sheriffs.

A dispute had arisen as to the boundaries of Ardlogy, belonging to the Abbot and Convent of Aberbrothoc and the King's Park of Fyvie, and as to the right of the burgesses of Fyvie in the Peat Moss of Ardlogy. A Breive was directed by King Robert I. to Sir Alexander Fraser, Chamberlain of Scotland, to hold, by himself or a locum tenens, an enquiry into the rights of parties. This enquiry was held on the ground in August, 1325, by John Drimmyng, Sheriff of Aberdeen, acting as locum tenens for the Chamberlain. A large number of persons were present either as jurors, or witnesses, or both, and the case was decided in favour of the Abbot.<sup>1</sup> Comparatively obscure persons were sometimes appointed Sheriffs in hac parte or pro hac vice; but it would rather appear that in this instance the Chamberlain selected Drimmyng, not as a Sheriff of that kind, but chose him as his substitute, because he was Sheriff of the County.

SIR JOHN BROWN.

Dominus Johannes Brovn renders accounts in Exchequer in 1328.<sup>2</sup> On the disappearance of the Comyns from Buchan he seems to have succeeded them, getting a Charter from King Robert the Bruce of the Thanedom of Fermartine.<sup>3</sup>

Of old, this family held the Lands of Midmar. In speaking of the small following, which Wallace had from among the landed gentry in Aberdeenshire, Mr Watt, in his History of Aberdeen and Banff, writes :—“ Sir Adam Brown, the knight of Midmar, was, however, a supporter of Wallace, and fell in the battle of Falkirk.”<sup>4</sup> According to Dr Temple, Sir John was a son of Sir Adam.<sup>5</sup> There was a quarrel in 1368 between a John Broune of Migmar and Robert of Umfraville, when, by Royal Command, they were put under penalty of £500 to keep the peace, the cautioners for the former being John, Earl of Mar, and Sir Duncan Walays, and for the latter, Sir William Keith.<sup>1</sup>

Other notices found of Sir John are these—He was one of the witnesses to a Charter of Confirmation by Donald, Earl of Mar, to the Monks of St Mary, of Cupar, 1332.<sup>2</sup>

A jury sat on 4th June, 1333 “apud montem hospitalis de Aberden” to enquire into the title of Reginald of Rane, who claimed to have hereditary right to the Lands of Ledintosach and Rotmase with their pertinents. Sir John Brown is first named on the Assize, and also as first appending his seal to the verdict.<sup>3</sup>

It seems as if he had, at one time, held land in Tullynessle, for, in a dispute between the Bishop of Aberdeen and the Laird of Forbes about 1390-1, with regard to a portion of the Lands of Tirepressy, one of the arguments for the Bishop was this—“Item Ser Jone Broun Knycht, held quhilom, the lands of Tirepressy, of the Bischape and the Kirk of Aberdene, and that time he had his shepcotis and schepherdis housis upon the landis of Lurgyndaspok as portenances of the landis of Tirepressy.<sup>4</sup>

Another argument was that Lurgyndaspok meant Bishop's leg, and that, therefore, the land must have belonged to the Bishop.

1335 & 1343.

SIR ROBERT KEITH,

Marischal of Scotland.

It is not clear from the Exchequer Rolls at what period Sir Robert first became Sheriff, or during what period or periods he held the office, but entries in the Rolls prove that he did so at some time prior to 1347.<sup>5</sup> At that time both he and Alexander Fraser of Ewnysedale, who had also previously held the office, were deceased, and it was ordained that their heirs should be called to account for their intromissions. It has been found possible, however, to fix dates approximately from other sources.

Sir Robert succeeded his grandfather, who was slain at Dupplin in August, 1332, and, singularly enough, it is in connection with another deed of sale of land at Ledyntosach and Rotmase,<sup>6</sup> granted by

Margaret, another daughter of Adame of Rane, to Henry of St Michael, that we find Sir Robert's name coupled with the office of Sheriff. As his grandfather had done in 1304, so now—10th July, 1335—Sir Robert appends his seal to the deed, at the special request of the granter, being there designed Sheriff of Aberdeen.<sup>1</sup>

Again, as late as March, 1341-2, we find him presiding as Sheriff at an inquest regarding the right of the Bishops of Aberdeen to the second tenths.<sup>2</sup>

Once more, according to a memorandum in the Exchequer Rolls, an account had been rendered by, or on his behalf, at Dundee on 11th August, 1643.<sup>3</sup>

Sir Robert Keith was married to a daughter of Gilbert de la Hay, and left two sons, the second of whom, Edward, succeeded him.<sup>4</sup>

Like his grandfather, he fell fighting for his country, having been among the slain at the Battle of Durham on 17th October, 1346,<sup>5</sup> when King David II. was taken prisoner by the English.

SIR JOHN DE BONNEVILLE.

In this year is recorded in the Exchequer Rolls the account "Johannis de Bonauilla, vicecomitis de Aberden."<sup>6</sup>

On 4th February, 1321-2, Sir John had a grant from King Robert the Bruce of the Lands of Collistoun and two towns of Ardendracht in Buchan.<sup>7</sup> He also appears to have owned lands in Belhelvie, which his successor, also John de Bonneville, sold in 1369 to Sir Walter Moigne.<sup>8</sup>

On 12th January, 1345, John of Boneville, knight, granted the mill of Mundurnach, with a piece of land beside it, sufficient for a house and garden, and two acres to the eastward, to his esquire, Alexander Scissor, to be held for yearly payment to the church of St. Mary of Aberdeen (the Cathedral) of thirteen shillings and four pence sterling.<sup>9</sup>

He was witness to a grant by Christiana de Bruyse, Lady of the Garuiach, and spouse of the late Sir Andrew of Moray, to the Chapel of the Virgin Mary in the Garuyach.<sup>10</sup> Christina Bruce was a sister of

Robert I., and her second husband, Sir Andrew Moray, was twice Regent of Scotland during the minority of David II., and is said to have died in 1338.<sup>1</sup> This grant would be made immediately after the deaths, and was for the safety of the souls of her brother and husband.

Circa 1342.      ALEXANDER FRASER OF EWNYSEDALE.

In a grant by William of Melgdrum to the Altar of Saint Lawrence and Saint Ninian in St. Nicholas Church, the date of which is given as 1342, we find "hiis testibus . . . . Alexandro Fraser, Milite Vicecomite de Abirden." This document is printed in the Ant. Abd. & Bff.<sup>2</sup> and also more recently in Dr Cooper's Chartulary of Saint Nicholas.<sup>3</sup> Great doubt is, however, thrown upon the correctness of the date, 1342, by the noble author of The Frasers of Philorth,<sup>4</sup> who gives reasons for believing the correct date to be thirty years later, namely 1372. These reasons, and others which might be adduced, seem conclusive against the date 1342, and, therefore, against the theory that Sir Alexander Fraser of Philorth was then Sheriff.

The entry in the Exchequer Rolls,<sup>5</sup> however, already referred to, makes it perfectly plain that this Alexander Fraser, whoever he was, did, at some time previous to 1347, hold the office. The language of the passage does not, perhaps, quite bear out Lord Saltoun's statement that Sir Robert Keith and Fraser had usurped the office. The word used is "intromiserunt," which is not necessarily inconsistent with the bona-fide exercise of the place, and it is quite conceivable that, in the troubled times between the death of Robert I. and the disappearance of Edward Balliol from the scene, there may have been Sheriffs whose claims to office would not receive recognition from all parties. A reference to the accounts of Adam of Buthirgask (circa 1337), as detailed in the Exchequer Rolls, and commented on by the late Lyon King at Arms, Mr. George Burnett, in his preface, abundantly proves the extraordinary confusion of the public finances throughout that period.<sup>6</sup> In any case, the fact remains, although the identification of this individual has not been made out.

The territorial designation "Ewnysedale" has not been found, the nearest approach to it being a Fraser of "Ewisdale" in Stirlingshire (at one time a centre of the Fraser family) at a somewhat later date.<sup>1</sup>

WILLIAM OF MELDRUM.

This Sheriff was a descendant of Sir William Meldrum, who held office in the end of the previous century, but the present editor has not been able to determine the precise relationship. The family had evidently attained to a position of influence and importance. Sir Philip of Meldrum rendered accounts as Sheriff of Banff at Dundee on 31st July, 1343,<sup>2</sup> and William, the subject of this notice, presented accounts as Sheriff of Aberdeen for the period from Martinmas, 1347, to Easter, 1358.<sup>3</sup> In the accounts, already referred to, of Adam of Buthirgask (circa 1337), a William of Meldrum is referred to as Justiciary,<sup>4</sup> and one of the same name was among the Attorneys for the Burgh of Aberdeen in rendering their accounts at Dundee on 22nd May, 1341.<sup>5</sup> There does not seem to be material for establishing that William of Meldrum, the Justiciary and Attorney for Aberdeen, was the William of Meldrum who was afterwards Sheriff of Aberdeenshire, but it is quite possible. It is laid down in genealogical accounts of the family that the Sheriff of Aberdeen was the son of Sir Philip, the Sheriff of Banff, and that he succeeded, on the death of the latter at the Battle of Durham, in 1346.<sup>6</sup> References to him as Sheriff are found in two documents of the period, the first, a Royal Charter to him of the Lands of Meldrum on 10th October, 1353,<sup>7</sup> and the second, a Charter by Thomas, Earl of Mar, to Adam Strachan and Margaret, his wife (circa 1357) of a davach of land called Glenkenety (Glenkindy), and a fourth part of a davach of Glenboul called Rummor.<sup>8</sup> up to which the latter had accounted.<sup>1</sup> He is mentioned in the accounts of 1361 as having had his arrears remitted.<sup>2</sup> His name appears as a witness (circa 1357) to a Royal Charter of Confirmation of a grant of Lands at Courtestown, in Leslie, by Thomas, Earl of Mar, to John Mar, Canon of Aberdeen,<sup>3</sup> where he is described as "Willelmus de Ledale tunc vicecomes de Aberdene Miles," and in another Charter (1358-9) of the Lands of Abbirgedly (Abergeldy), Ballekadlach (Ballohalloch) in Crathie, Botwaglach (Bovaglie), Tolachavrych, and Tolyocre in Strathdee, granted by Thomas, Earl of Mar, Lord of Cavers and the Garioch, in favour of Duncan, the son of Roger,<sup>4</sup> where he is similarly designed.

The authority for believing Sir William to have been a Provost of Aberdeen is probably not sufficient, and, accordingly, Mr. A. M. Munro has not included him in his list ; but, in a genealogy of the Menzies family printed in the Antiquities,<sup>5</sup> it is stated that Gilbert Menzies, eldest son of Sir Robert Menzies of Weyme, Knt., married Marjorie Liddell, lawful daughter to Sir William Liddell, Provost of Aberdeen. It is, of course, quite possible that the compiler of this genealogy, aware that Sir William held an important official position, but not possessing sufficiently accurate knowledge, assumed that the office was that of Provost, while it was really that of Sheriff.

He was possessed of ground in the immediate neighbourhood of Aberdeen, if not within the Burgh, for, in two conveyances of crofts within the territories of the crofts at the end of the Gallowgate on the west of the King's highway from Aberdeen to the Burgh of Kyntor, Sir William is mentioned as the proprietor of ground to the north of them.<sup>6</sup>

SIR WALTER MOIGNE.

An account was rendered to Exchequer on 8th December, 1364, for three terms by this Sheriff.<sup>7</sup> It appears from the accounts of William de Keith, Sheriff of Kincardine, rendered on 5th April, 1359, that at that period Moigne had a grant of the Forest of Drum from the King,<sup>8</sup> which was afterwards (1389) acquired by an ancestor of the Irvines from John Moigne, a successor of Sir Walter.<sup>9</sup> In 1361-2 he was Steward of the King's house.<sup>1</sup> In the latter year, when he appears to have been knighted, he received £20 for distribution among the King's familiars.<sup>2</sup> For some years previous to 1364, Sir Walter seems to have been custodier for King David II. of the Castle of Kildrummy, which the King had then taken from the Earl of Mar.<sup>3</sup>

Wynton refers to this incident in the following terms :—

“ That ilke yere the Kyng Davy
The castel assegit of Kyldrumy,
For the Erl off Mar, Thomas,
Past out off the kynrike wes,

On 4th September, 1361, he was one of the witnesses to a grant by David II. to the blessed Virgin Mary at Aberdeen and the Bishop and Chapter of Aberdeen.<sup>5</sup> He was also (presumably in 1364) witness to a grant by Hugh Ross of Philorth, with consent of his brother, William, Earl of Ross, to Adam Pingle, burgess of Aberdeen, of the lands of Folethrowle, where he is designed Sheriff of Aberdeen.<sup>6</sup>

As late as October, 1378, we find Sir Walter at the Manor place of the Forest of Kyntor, acting as a witness to a pious foundation by William de Keith, Marischal of Scotland, Lord of the Barony of Alden, to be paid out of his lands of Achidonald in that barony.<sup>7</sup>

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1369-99.

SIR ALEXANDER FRASER OF PHILORTH.

In the Exchequer Rolls of 1369 he is called Alexander Fraser,<sup>1</sup> while a year or two later (1371-1373) he appears as Sir Alexander Fraser.<sup>2</sup> This consists with the statement in the Frasers of Philorth<sup>3</sup> that he was not knighted until after 1369. His accounts in 1369 were rendered by Philip of Drumbrek, and in 1373 by John of Forbes.

The dispute between the Bishops of Aberdeen and the Lords of Forbes concerning the piece of land yclept Lurgyndaspok (bishop's leg) which has been already referred to, had, to all appearance, been settled in 1387. The differences had been referred by Bishop Adam of Tynninghame and Sir John of Forbes to amicable compositors, of whom the first named is Sir Alexander Fraser, knight of Philorth, Sheriff of Aberdeen. Among the others were John Keith of Inverugy, Thomas Fraser of Corneton, and John Fraser of Forglen. The agreement (concordia) is dated 20th August, 1387.<sup>4</sup> Bishop Adam of Tynninghame died in 1389, and then the strife broke out again between the new Bishop Gilbert and the Laird of Forbes, but was settled for their lives by an agreement come to at Aberdeen on 5th July, 1391,<sup>5</sup> probably as the result of a cognition conducted by Sir John of Gordon, who had been specially appointed, by Royal Authority, as justiciary depute for the purpose, on 6th April preceding.<sup>6</sup>

Sir Alexander had grants of the Lands of Durris and Cowie in Kincardineshire about 1369, and of Philorth in 1375.<sup>7</sup>

He had already, in the last named year, married Johanna, second daughter of William, Earl of Ross.<sup>8</sup>

He renders accounts in Exchequer again on 18th March, 1391-92,<sup>9</sup> and he sat in Court in Aberdeen on 2nd April, 1397—granting a remission to certain parties charged with murder—inasmuch as the man they killed was “Fugitivus a lege et ad cornu Regis.”<sup>10</sup>

It is stated in the history of the family that he continued to hold office until his death, or, at all events, until 1399.

PATRICK OF CRAWFORD.

This baron, as Sheriff of Aberdeen, rendered accounts to Exchequer at Perth on 12th January, 1381.<sup>1</sup> Previous to this, in 1373, he seems to have been Collector for the Barony of Fedre (Fedderat).<sup>2</sup>

In the following year he is designed Sheriff of Banff, in documents relating to the Lands of Clyntre and Drumoak.<sup>3</sup>

His name is frequently found as a witness to deeds of this period, and he was, doubtless, the Lord of Fedderat.

1382.

JOHN FRASER OF FORGLEN.

The author of the Frasers of Philorth leans to the view that John Fraser of Forglen, who was a younger brother of Sir Alexander Fraser, acted merely as depute under him. In face of the distinct references to him, as Sheriff, without any such qualification, it is impossible to leave him out of the list of Sheriffs.

In a Court held by Bishop Adam of Tynninghame "super monte sancti Thome Martiris juxta canoniam de Aberdon," on 31st July, 1382, for exhibition of the Charters of the tenants of the Church, and specially to consider the claims of Reginald de Chyne in the Lands of Clyntre (Clinterty), and of Alexander Irvyne in the Lands of Dulmayok (Drumoak), there was present among the laymen, "Nobilis vir Johannes Fraser, Vicecomes de Aberden." Among others present were Patrick of Crawford, Sheriff of Banff; and Adam Forster, Sheriff of the Lothians. The latter was Laird of Corstorphine, a prominent man in his day, and afterwards Sir Adam Forster.<sup>4</sup>

The Bishop of Aberdeen's claim to the second tenths, seemed to be a fruitful source of disputes between him and the barons at this time, and so we find that he and John Fraser were not agreeing about what was payable from the ward of the lands of the Lord of Meldrum. The matter was referred to the Deacon of Aberdeen and Adam Forster on the Bishop's part, and Sir John of Gordon and Mr John Scalpy on Fraser's part, with Alexander Scrymechur of Aberbrothoc as oversman or oddman. Afterwards, in the absence of Forster and Gordon, Mr. Gilbert of Greenlaw and Sir Alexander of Straton were chosen. The submission was entered into in the Choir of the Parish Church of Aberdeen in the end of May, 1386, and decree pronounced in the Bishop's favour in the vestry of the Parish Church of Aberdeen on 1st July thereafter.<sup>1</sup>

In 1388, John Fraser acquired from John de Bonneville his lands in Belhelvie, and also Ardendracht.<sup>2</sup> On 31st March, 1388-9 he was a witness to an Indenture for the sale of the Park of Drum by John Moigne to Alexander of Irwyne.<sup>3</sup> On 4th February, 1403-4, he was one of the witnesses to a Notarial Instrument, relating to the settlement of a dispute about the ownership of Fyvie Castle between Lady Margaret de Lindsay, widow of Sir Thomas Coluill, son and heir of Sir Robert Coluill of Oxenham, and Sir Henry Preston, Lord of Fermartin, who was the husband of Lady Elizabeth de Lindsay. These ladies were the daughters of Sir James of Lindsay. It was found that Coluill and Lady Margaret had sold their right to Preston for £100 sterling in 1397, and that the Castle now belonged to him. Lord William of Keith was the Arbitrator.<sup>4</sup>

In 1388, John Fraser had a Charter of the Lands of Forglen with the patronage of the Church from the Abbot and Convent of Aberbrothoc, as descended from Sir John of Monymusk, knight, and on 11th December, 1411, he resigns these lands in the hands of Walter, Abbot of Aberbrothoc, as his lawful superior.<sup>5</sup>

Circa, 1400-8.      DAVID, 1ST EARL OF CRAWFORD.

There is no certainty as to the date of the grant of the Sheriffship to the head of the Lindsays, but it may be reasonably assumed that it was about this time.<sup>6</sup> Sir James Lindsay of Crawford, whose wife, Margaret Keith, was a daughter of Sir William Keith, Marischal of Scotland, and heiress of Fyvie, died in 1397 without male issue, his daughters succeeding to Fyvie and other unentailed properties, while Sir David Lindsay of Glenesk, his cousin, fell heir to the Chieftainship of the family, and to the entailed lands. A halo of romance surrounds the memory of Sir David Lindsay. He fought at Otterburn (1388), and was the hero of the famous knightly joust with Lord Wells on London Bridge, which is celebrated in Scottish minstrelsy, and with which readers of Sir Thomas Dick Lauder's Wolf of Badenoch must be familiar. In 1398, Sir David was created Earl of Crawford, which is now first on the Roll of the Earls of Scotland.

Robert III., the second of the Stewart dynasty, ascended the Scottish throne in 1390, and some years after that event, Sir David Lindsay married the Princess Elizabeth Stewart, daughter of Robert II., and sister of Robert III. The first Earl of Crawford was much absent from the Kingdom on public affairs between 1400 and 1406, having been, for about two years previous to the end of 1404 in France in command of a fleet, which cleared the French seas and Bay of Biscay from English cruisers, and after that as an Ambassador to the English Court. The Earl drew an annuity of £80 per annum from the fermes of Aberdeen, and also an annuity from the Customs of Aberdeen. This notable man, the first, as is believed, of the heritable Sheriffs of Aberdeenshire, died in February, 1407-8, at the early age of forty-one.

Circa 1421-39. ALEXANDER, 2nd EARL OF CRAWFORD.

The date of this Earl's birth is not known, but the impression of those acquainted with the family history is that, when he was a hostage in England for the Earl of Douglas (1406-7) he must have been approaching manhood. No evidence has been found of his personally acting as Sheriff of Aberdeenshire, but there is no doubt of the fact that he possessed the office. In an entail executed by him in 1421, the Sheriffship is included, and by a contract between the Earl and Sir Alexander of Forbes (31st May, 1432), he appointed the latter, for a pecuniary consideration, his depute for life, reserving the right to himself and his son, Sir David Lindsay, to exercise the office when actually within the Sheriffdom. The record of his various and important services to his King and country, both at home and abroad, will be found in the family history and public historical documents of the period.

His death took place in 1438-9.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1417-23.

SIR WALTER LINDSAY OF KINNEFF.

At this time the second Earl of Crawford was either a minor, or absent from the Kingdom, and, in either case, although in heritable right of the office, unable to exercise it. This is the most probable explanation of the fact that at this time Robert, Duke of Albany, Governor of Scotland, addressed a mandate to Sir Walter, as Sheriff of Aberdeen, directing him to summon the barons to try a brieve of perambulation between the Lands of "Tarwas and Uldnay."<sup>1</sup>

There had been a dispute of very long standing between the Abbots and Convent of Aberbrothoc and the Laird of Udney about their boundaries, which was submitted to an assize at Aberdeen on 22nd November, 1417. Sir Alexander of Forbes presided as Justiciary, specially constituted, and among the barons who passed upon the jury were Alexander de Irwyne, Lord of the Forest of Drum and John de Ogyston, dominus ejusdem, both of whom, along with Sir Alexander Forbes and the other Jurors, appended their seals to the verdict.

On 24th October, 1423, Sir Walter de Lyndesay, Sheriff of Aberdeen, granted a Letter of Resignation of the lands of Cuclerochy and Garry in favour of Alexander Stewart, Earl of Mar.<sup>2</sup>

1438(9)—1445(6). DAVID, 3rd EARL OF CRAWFORD.

He succeeded his father, Alexander, the 2nd Earl, but only two items of interest relating to his Northern Sheriffship or to Aberdeen have been found. One of them is the following letter to his depute, "Schir Alexander of Forbas," dated 18th April, 1443, which, although already printed, may fittingly be reproduced here as illustrative of the relations which existed between an heritable Sheriff and his depute at the period :—

Two burgesses were admitted by request of the Earl in 1442-4.

His death took place at Finhaven on 13th January, 1445-6, in consequence of wounds received by him when attempting to stop a fight between the Lindsays and Ogilvies at Arbroath a few days previously.

1445 (6)—1453. ALEXANDER, 4th EARL OF CRAWFORD.

This Earl was known as the “Tiger Earl” and “Earl Beardie.” He was ambassador to England in 1451. He took a leading part in conspiring against the Crown, and after the assassination of the Earl of Douglas in Stirling Castle in February, 1451-2, rose in rebellion. Alexander, 1st Earl of Huntly, who had been appointed Lieutenant-General of the Kingdom in place of Douglas, raised an army for the King, and encountered and defeated Crawford and his followers at the Battle of Brechin on 18th May, 1452. The latter, however, continued ravaging the lands of the King's supporters, and was denounced as a rebel, and his lands, titles, and offices—among the latter the Sheriffship of Aberdeen—forfeited. After being deserted by the other rebellious Earls, he submitted to the King in April, 1453, and was pardoned and restored to all his lands and honours. He did not long survive, his death taking place in September of that year.

It is stated<sup>1</sup> that in 1606 a public record was extant, from which it appears that "in the Court of Aberdeen Domini Alexandri Lindsay, comitis de Crawford, Vicecomitis de Aberdeen, et Alexandri, domini Forbes, sui Deputati militis," a precept written in English dated 12th July, 1447, was directed by King James II. to the Lords of Exchequer, directing them to remit to Lord Forbes the arrears in his last accounts. The Earl also presided at a Court in Aberdeen on 6th October, 1450, when Henry Cheyn took Instruments that a protest made against his entering a suitor for the Lands of Essilmund was of no force. Among the witnesses were Sir John Forbes, Knight ; Walter Lindesay, brother of the Earl ; Walter de Ogilvy, Sheriff of Angus ; Alexander Douglas, and Gilbert Menzies, burgesses of Aberdeen.<sup>2</sup>

1452-3.                   ALEXANDER, 1st EARL OF HUNTLY

During the few months of the forfeiture of the "Tiger" Earl of Crawford, the office of Sheriff of Aberdeen seems to have been conferred upon Alexander, first Earl of Huntly, and, although his tenure was of a very temporary character, it is fitting that he should find a place here.

1457.                   WALTER LINDSAY OF KINBLATHMONT OR KILBRACHMONT, SHERIFF TUTORIAL.

Walter Lindsay was the uncle of David, 5th Earl of Crawford, and, while his nephew was under age, he acted "nomine tutoris magnifici domini David Earl of Craufurde." In the famous dispute about the Earldom of Mar, Robert, Lord Erskine, had obtained a verdict in his favour as heir from an Aberdeen Assize. King James II. was determined to upset this verdict and obtain the succession for the Crown. And so a Court of Justice Ayre was held in Aberdeen in this year, in which the former verdict was challenged as being erroneous. King James was present, and was surrounded by a great number of prelates and nobles ; but Lindsay, as acting for his nephew, the heritable Sheriff, presided. As might have been expected, the new jury and the witnesses (some of the latter are said to have been privately interviewed by the King) were amendable to the Royal desires, and returned a verdict directly in the teeth of the former.<sup>1</sup>

In proceedings of a much later date, in the Supreme Court, for the reduction of a series of Charters of the Earldom of Mar, Walter Lindsay is described as "Schireff of the Schireffdom of Abirdein for the tyme in name of umquhill David Earle of Craufurde and his tutouris Schireff principall of the Schirreffdome of Abirdene."<sup>2</sup> This designation is noted, because the term "Sheriff principal" is, for the first time, so far as has been observed, used in describing the Sheriff.

A Walter Lindesay was admitted a burges of Aberdeen in 1442-3 at the request of Ingelram, the Bishop of Aberdeen, the cautioner being Duncan de Clat.<sup>3</sup>

The following quotation from the Lives of the Lindsays regarding Walter Lindsay may suitably be given here :—"Lord of Beaufort and the Aird, in Inverness-shire, and of Glenesk, Ferne, Edzell, Kinblythemont, and Panbride in Angus, Walter was a powerful baron, of great talent and unscrupulous ambition."

1461-95.            DAVID, 5th EARL OF CRAWFORD AND                           DUKE OF MONTROSE.

When Earl "Beardie" died in 1453, his son, David, was in minority, having been born in 1440, and the office of Sheriff was exercised, as we have seen, by his uncle, Sir Walter Lindesay of Kinblythemont or Kinblathmont in Angus, his tutor, in his name. At a later period we find Alexander Douglas, John of Ogstoune, and Alexander Irvine of Drum acting successively as his deputes. This Chief of the Lindsays fills a large space in the history of Scotland, and the larger affairs of the Kingdom would doubtless prevent his personally attending to the duties of the Sheriffship of Aberdeen, and no trace of his doing so has been found. It must, however, be noted in this connection that in 1474 his son, Alexander, Master of Crawford, had a grant, upon his father's resignation, of the lands and barony of Tulenahilt, Tulebrok, and Newpark in Aberdeenshire, together with the office of Sheriff, but reserving the Earl's liferent. Among his other offices he was appointed High Admiral of Scotland in 1476, Master of the Household in 1480, Chamberlain about 1483, Joint High Justiciary of the North in 1487. On 18th May, 1488, he was created Duke of Montrose. He was an attached supporter of James III., sharing in his defeat at Stirling or Sauchieburn in 1488, and suffering deprivation of his public offices and Dukedom in consequence. He died in 1495, his latter years saddened by a domestic tragedy, his eldest son, Alexander, having met his death, as it was believed, at the hands of his younger brother, John, afterwards 6th Earl of Crawford.

1474-89.           ALEXANDER, MASTER OF CRAWFORD.

The Master of Crawford's title to the office of Sheriff is set forth in the preceding article, and there is evidence of his having exercised it by appointing Sir Alexander Gordon of Midmar a Sheriff-depute, as afterwards more fully noticed. His death took place in the autumn of 1489, grave suspicion in connection with that event attaching to his younger brother, John, afterwards 6th Earl of Crawford.

1495-1511.           JOHN, 6th EARL OF CRAWFORD.

It is this Sheriff whom we find exercising the office, when the earliest existing Diet Book begins. Before that date (July, 1503) he accounts to Exchequer, but in October, 1503, he sits in the Michaelmas Head Court in Aberdeen, at which a large amount of business was transacted. On two other occasions—the Yule Head Court in January, 1506-7, and the Michaelmas Head Court in 1508—he is mentioned in the Diet Books as presiding. At the first of these Courts, Alexander, 3rd Earl of Huntlie, was served heir to his father, George, 2nd Earl, in the Lands of Collerlys; Elizabeth and Janet Ogistoun were served heirs portioners to their father, Walter Ogistoun, in the Lands and Barony of Polgovny and Lands of Schethin, Ravystone, and Craigy.

At the Court in October, 1508, one of the cases was an action by "ane nobile ande michtie Lord Williame Erle of Errole Lord Hay," &c., &c., against "Johnne Forbes of Petsligo" for the violent occupation of the "Manys of Petsligo" to which the Earl had right during the lifetime of Earl John would seem to have still had at this period some of the family's former territorial connection with the County of Aberdeen. Evidence of this is afforded by certain proceedings in the Sheriff Court of Aberdeen on 30th September, 1505.<sup>1</sup> The family of Annand, who appear in Aberdeenshire at least as early as 1368, were in possession of Auchterellon in the middle of the 15th century; but when Alexander Annand, for whom William Master of Erroll appeared, presented a breive from Chancery for service as heir of his father, Henry Annand, Mr. Henry Lindesay, procurator for the Earl of Crawford, opposed it, producing a letter of recognition of the lands under the seal of the Earl. His action seems to have stopped the proceedings for the time, and the Master of Erroll protested for remeid of law before witnesses, among whom were Sir Alexander Irvine of Drum, Sir William Fraser of Phillorth, Sir Gilbert Hay of Ardendracht, and Sir John Rutherford. No record of the service of Alexander Annand has been found, but his name frequently appears subsequently as Alexander Annand of Auchterellon, and his mother was served to her terce in January, 1505-6.<sup>2</sup> On the other hand, there was a grant under the great seal of these and other lands, of new constituted into a Barony, in favour of the Earl of Crawford on 30th July, 1507.<sup>3</sup> What would seem to have happened was that one of the Crawford family had alienated the lands without resignation or Royal charter of confirmation, and that the proceedings alluded to were for the purpose of putting the title in order.

The Earls of Crawford were also at this time superiors of the lands of Tillybirloch, Tillinhilt, Bandodle, with the Comers and Auchorie in the parish of Midmar, which were conveyed by David Strachan to Alexander Skene of Skene on 16th April, 1504, and confirmed by John, Earl of Crawford, on the following day,<sup>4</sup> while there is a grant of these lands by Alexander, 7th Earl of Crawford, to Alexander Skene, son of above, dated at Brechin, 8th May, 1514.<sup>5</sup>

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

Perhaps, however, the most interesting feature of John, Earl of Crawford's connection with the County of Aberdeen was his dealing with the offices of Sheriff and Sheriff-depute. He was a spend-thrift, and so we find him borrowing from William Hay, Master of Erroll (6th February, 1502-3) 440 marks. In exchange, the Master was to be infest in 22 marks worth of land in Angus or Mearns, and to receive a valid appointment to the office of Sheriff-depute of Aberdeen.<sup>1</sup> Seven years later (7th January, 1509-10) another loan of 600 marks resulted in an obligation by the Sheriff to grant a procuratory of resignation of the Sheriffship in favour of the same lender, William Hay, now Earl of Erroll, but with power of redemption—the office of Sheriff-depute, however, being reserved to the Earl of Erroll for his lifetime. Both the contract and the right to redeem received Royal approval, and on 10th February, 1510-11, there was a grant to the Earl of Erroll under the great seal.<sup>2</sup> One feature of the transaction was that the outgoing assigned to the incoming Sheriff a sum of 1600 marks due to him by Alexander Bannerman of Watertown, the working Sheriff-depute at that period. This sum would probably be the amount of fees which, according to the Sheriff's estimate, Bannerman had failed to account for. Still another borrowing remains to be noticed. In November, 1512, the Earl of Crawford binds himself not to exercise his power of redemption during the lifetimes of the Earl of Erroll and his son William, and the sum to be paid on redemption is increased from 600 to 700 marks.

Perhaps the following passage from the pen of the noble Author of the Lives of the Lindsays may be quoted by way of a short summary of the life and character of this Sheriff:—

“John, Master of Crawford, had, in the meanwhile, succeeded to the Earldom of Crawford, but did not assume the Dukedom of Montrose. His career was not a happy one—his extravagance was great; he alienated lands held in capite of the Crown, and thus fell into bad odour with the Sovereign; he was induced to resign the hereditary Sheriffdom of Aberdeenshire, which was not regained for many years after his death; the charge of fratricide hung over his head through life, and his children all died in infancy. But rays of light are seldom wholly absent from the moral landscape, and I may cite his appointment in 1503, conjointly with Huntley, Argyle, Marischal, and Lord Lovat, to the Government of Scotland from Tay to Shetland; his foundation, in 1506, of a daily mass and requiem at the great Altar of the Franciscans of Dundee, for the souls of his father, his elder brother, his wife, and himself, together with daily special absolution at the 'epitaphium' or Cenotaph of the Earls of Crawford, in the said Church of the Franciscans—and finally, his death at Flodden in 1513—as redeeming features in his history."

1511-1513. WILLIAM, 4th EARL OF ERROLL.

On two occasions before the transference of the office of Sheriff was carried out, as detailed in the foregoing notice of John, Earl of Crawford, and in corroboration of it, we find the Earl of Erroll sitting on the bench of the Sheriff Court under the designation of Sheriff-depute—9th April, 1510,<sup>1</sup> and 7th January, 1510-11—while on 13th March, 1510-11,<sup>2</sup> and on 29th April, 1511, he presided as Vicecomes or Sheriff. On the earlier two occasions he sat along with Alexander Bannerman of Waterton, who had been Sheriff-depute for a considerable period; but on the third occasion he of new grants Commissions to Bannerman, and also to Gilbert Menzeis (of Findon) Provost of Aberdeen, as his Deputes. During the remainder of 1511 he occupied the bench on several occasions, both alone and along with the Deputes.

In this Sheriff's time, disputes arose between him and the Provost and Baillies of Aberdeen regarding their respective jurisdictions in criminal cases arising within the Burgh ("the punysing of trubbil and blude that happinit among nyctbours of the said burgh"). The differences were referred to the Lords of Council as Arbiters, whose Decree Arbitral was pronounced on 24th, and confirmed by James IV. on 28th January, 1511-12.<sup>3</sup> The decision amounted to this, that burgesses were to be tried by the Magistrates, and those who were not burgesses by the Sheriff.

The 4th Earl is said to have married Elizabeth, youngest daughter of William, 1st Lord Ruthven, and a grand-daughter of John, 2nd Lord

Forbes. By her he had a son William, who succeeded him, and a daughter.

1513-22.

WILLIAM, 5th EARL OF ERROLL.

Flodden Field was fought in September, 1513, and on 27th October of that year we find in the Exchequer Rolls the following entry :—

" Gilbertus Menezeis de Petfodellis et Johannes Mar,<sup>2</sup> burgenses de Burgi de Aberdene ut vicecomites in hac parte respondebunt pro duobus paribus calcarium deauratorum per duplicationem albe firme terrarum baronie de Slanys cum officiis constabularie Scotie et vicecomitatus de Aberdene et pro 4 lib de relevis terrarum de Rettray, regi debitis per sasinam datam Wilelmo Hay de eisdem.<sup>3</sup>"

From this it will be seen that, in terms of the bargain already described, the 5th Earl succeeded his father as heritable Sheriff. To what extent he acted we cannot tell, as the Court books for the period are wanting, but among the documents at Slains Castle relating to the Sheriffship, there is a Discharge by James V. to the Earl of his intrusions as Sheriff, dated 17th July, 1518. He was admitted a burgess of Aberdeen (ex gratia) on January 7th, 1520.<sup>4</sup>

According to the old record already referred to, he appears to have been about 18 years of age when he succeeded, and the leading authorities agree in stating that he married, before 1520, Helen, 3rd daughter of John (Stewart) 3rd Earl of Lennox, by whom he had a son, William, and a daughter, Jean.

Douglas, and others following him, conclude that he was alive in 1530. Opposed to this, however, is the following entry from the burial record :—

Corroboration of his death in 1522 is also found in the extracts from the Exchequer Rolls quoted in the following notice of his son, and in an entry in the Register of the Privy Seal, which will be afterwards alluded to.

1522-41.

WILLIAM, 6th EARL OF ERROLL.

While it is perfectly clear, from entries in the Exchequer Rolls, that the heritable offices passed, in 1522, to William Hay,<sup>1</sup> the only son of the 5th Earl, it is equally plain that he could not have been more than an infant at the time of his father's death.

The public records, indeed, prove that he did not exercise the office, but that it was in ward until it passed to the Earl of Huntly in 1540-1, or until nearly that time.

In the Charter Chest at Slains Castle there is a Dispensation by King James V., dated 22nd April, 1538, allowing William, Earl of Erroll, to be served heir, before the Sheriff of Aberdeen, to the Constabulary of Scotland, the Sheriffship of Aberdeen, and patronage of the Church of Turiff, notwithstanding his being in minority, but without prejudice to the ward.

No evidence of his actual service has been found, but after this the young Earl seems to have been thought to be in a position to deal with the office, for among other documents at Slains is the extract of a contract dated 16th, and registered 18th December, 1540, whereby the Earl of Erroll agrees to the redemption of the office upon payment of 600 marks, and, further, consents to the infestment of George, Earl of Huntly, therein.<sup>2</sup> Some delay appears to have taken place on the part of Lord Huntly in finding the money, as a charge against him for performance seems to have been used. On 20th January, 1540-1, the Earl of Huntly promised the King not to redeem the office without his consent.<sup>3</sup> On 5th March, however, he got a grant of the office, but apparently without favor of Alexander Leslie of Petcapil, proceeds on a precept "a potenti domino Iacobo Styvart Comite Murrauie ac Vicecomite Aberdonensi,"<sup>1</sup> and again, in a dispute twixt Alex. Hay of Delgattie on the one part, and Alex. Forbes of Brux and others portioners of the Lands of Udacht, called Quarrelhill of Delgattie, on the other part, about marches, decree was pronounced on 16th October, 1539, by Alexander Guthrie, alias Faulkland, "Shirreff deput appointed by James Earl of Moray Vicecomes Principalis Vicecomitatus de Aberdene."<sup>2</sup>

DAVID, 8th EARL OF CRAWFORD.

The only evidence of this Earl's actual possession of the office, which has been found, is the statement that he resigned it,<sup>3</sup> for, although the Earls of Crawford had a certain reversionary interest in the Sheriffship down to this date, and Earl David's consent was deemed necessary to the new grant, the real connection of the Lindsays with the office took end, as has been already shown, in 1510. It is quite true that in July, 1538, he had a letter of Regress to the office,<sup>4</sup> but this may have been merely a step taken to enable him the better to deal with its redemption and resignation. The terms of the letter of Regress are not, however, engrossed in the Privy Seal Register. Certain it is that more than a year after this letter, the Earl of Moray, as has been seen, was acting as Sheriff in right of his gift of the wardship of the office.

1540(1)-1562.

GEORGE, 4th EARL OF HUNTLY.

After the obscurity surrounding the immediately preceding decade we now reach surer ground. Under date 3rd March, 1540(1), the following entry appears in the Register of the Great Seal, "Rex concessit Georgio Comiti de Huntlie, heredibus ejus et assignatis, Officium Vicecomitis de Abirdene cum feodis &ca:—quod David Com: Craufurdie resignavit."<sup>5</sup>

The fourth Earl of Huntly was a very notable man not only locally, but in Scottish affairs, and as such, sketches of his life have already been given to the reading public and to the members of the Club. Born about

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1514, Sheriff in 1541, Lieutenant of the North in 1543, Provost of Aberdeen in the following year, and Chancellor of the Kingdom in 1546, he died at Corrichie in Arms against Queen Mary in 1562, and the doom of forfeiture was pronounced over his dead body in 1563. In this connection it may be mentioned that in the time of the next Earl the defence was more than once set up in Sheriff Court cases that a pursuer's title was bad, in respect it was derived from the Earl of Huntly, who, at the time of granting it, was in "forfaltrie." The second existing Diet Book of the Court, 1557-60, bears that Lord Huntly presided in the Sheriff Court on several occasions, but ordinarily members of the Leslie and Bisset families did the work. Courts were apparently held elsewhere than at Aberdeen, and especially in disputes between neighbouring proprietors as to their marches. An instance of this occurred in May, 1558, where a Court was held "apud Monkishillok."<sup>1</sup> The case is described as "super terras debatabiles inter terras de Monkishill et terras de Park et Tifty," and the parties were George Gordon of Scheves Knight, proprietor of Monkishill, and William Forbes of Tolquhone and William Meldrum of Fyvie. The Earl of Huntly sat as Sheriff, along with William Leslie, who was a stated depute, and three local men appointed apparently for the day. The suitor, whose name was Gordon, was successful. Perhaps he had right on his side. Who knows? In any case the Deputes would not be likely to differ from the Sheriff principal, for in another case about the same period, where the latter was not present, the record bears that "the said Shref deput beand riplly and at lynth awisit with the said exceptionis delator, and at the comand of ane writin of the Shref principallis subscrivit with his awin hand, repellit all the exceptionis," &c., &c.<sup>2</sup>

The Sheriff's will was undoubtedly in those days the law of the County, but, to judge from the terms of some of the advocations of the time, it was not always regarded as the embodiment of justice.

1563-7. WILLIAM LESLIE OF BALQUHAIN (9th BARON).

During the latter half of the 16th Century a considerable part of the work of the Sheriff Court of Aberdeen was performed by the family of Leslie, and three Barons of Balquhain in succession took part. There is evidence that John the eighth Baron was principal Sheriff-depute under

Officials : Sheriffs

George, 4th Earl of Huntly, and it appears that William his successor holding the same office, acted as Sheriff during the period of the forfeiture of the Huntly Family after Corrichie. What the nature of his interim appointment or commission was, or whether he merely stepped temporarily into the vacant office without formal appointment has not been discovered: but "William Lesly of Balquhain, Sheriff of Aberdeen," appears as the Granter of a Precept of arrestment obtained at the instance of the Principal and sub-principal of the College of Aberdeen, &c., &c., against John Robertson dwelling in the Gallowgate in November, 1563.<sup>1</sup> Again, although the Diet Book for the period has been lost he appears to have sat in Court in Aberdeen as Vicecomes on 12th January, 1564 (5), in an action anent the Multures at the Myln of Fintray.<sup>2</sup>

He was a loyal subject of Queen Mary, who stopped at his house when visiting the County, and at the meeting of the Privy Council in Aberdeen in October, 1562, he was one of those local proprietors who were called upon to resist George Erle of Huntlie and his following, and if necessary "to persew thame to the deid and fecht thame in plane battell."<sup>3</sup> Then came Corrichie and the temporary eclipse of the Huntly family, but later, on 14th February, 1567(8) we find the Privy Council addressing their mandates to George Erle of Huntlie "Sheref Principall of Abirdene, William Leslie of Balquhane Sheref Depute thairof and utheris deputtis of the saymen."<sup>4</sup>

The particular mandate here referred to, was with reference to the sale, under the authority of the Privy Council, of the lead from the roofs of the Cathedral of Aberdeen and Elgin for the purpose of assisting to defray the charges of the royal troops.

Leslie was one of those who in February, 1568-9, had commission to band themselves together for resistance to the Earl of Huntly who, in the whirligig of those times, was once more in opposition to the government.<sup>5</sup> wife's friends when the rebellion, which ended in his father's death at Corrichie, took place. He was, however, included in the forfeiture already referred to, and was tried and convicted of treason. The recal of that forfeiture which was proclaimed in August and October, 1565, was confirmed by Parliament in 1567, and the Earl was thus restored to his Estates, Titles and Dignities, and among them to the Sheriffship of Aberdeen. There is evidence both in the 2nd and 3rd volumes of the existing Diet Books of Court and elsewhere of his acting as Sheriff-depute in his father's lifetime, and as Sheriff after his father's death. As a depute to his father he sat along with John Leslie of Bolquhane, William Leslie of Kirkhill, Michael Menzies and George Bissat on 17th February, 1557 (8), in proceedings anent her terce at the instance of Beatrix Dunbar, widow of Johne Straquhyne of Lenturk against John Straquhyne formerly of Thorntoun then of Lenturk, when the case was continued to a Court "to be haldin in Auld Aberdene in the Bischopis Hall of the same."<sup>1</sup> As Sheriff he presided at the service of Walter Urquhart, Sheriff of Cromarty, to his father, Alexander Urquhart, Sheriff of Cromarty, in the Lands and Barony of Fischerie on 29th November, 1575.<sup>2</sup>

A few months before this, however, the trial of the Earl's own Brieve or Brieves of Service as heir to his father in his Lands and Superiorities in Aberdeenshire, came before Sheriffs specially constituted by Commission under the Great Seal, some portion of the record of which has already been given.<sup>3</sup>

On 17th July, 1576, Lord Huntly was personally present in Court with Mr. William Davidson his procurator, when his action against the Forbes family and others for removing from the Regality lands in Keig and Monymusk was called and advocated.<sup>4</sup>

This was his last appearance in his own Court, so far as has been ascertained. He died very suddenly at Strathbogie in the following October.

1576-81. JOHN LESLIE OF BALQUHAIN (10th BARON).

During the minority of the 6th Earl of Huntly, Leslie had the wardship of the office of Sheriff. The letter of gift to him was dated 21st

March, 1576-7.<sup>1</sup> An entry in the Exchequer Rolls bears that he rendered accounts as wardator for six years beginning November, 1574.<sup>2</sup> Two of these, however, would be the last two years of the 5th Earl of Huntly's life. We have evidence of his sitting in Court during the period of his wardship once at least, namely on 12th January, 1579-80, at the Special Service of Robert Innes of Invermarkie.<sup>3</sup>

1581-1594. GEORGE, 6th EARL AND 1st MARQUESS OF HUNTLY.

When his father died in 1576, the son was in minority, about fifteen or sixteen years of age, and therefore could not act as Sheriff, John Leslie, 10th Baron of Balquhain, as we have seen, acting as Vicecomes wardatarius. As evidenced by the Diet Book, the Earl presided at the Michaelmas Head Court in Aberdeen in 1584; but if the books for the period between 1581 and 1584 had been extant they might have shown earlier sittings. Like his father he got into trouble with the Crown and was forfeited in 1594 after the fight at Glenlivet. The most interesting part of his history in connection with the Sheriffship however, dates from the 17th century, and does not fall within the scope of this volume.

1594-7. JOHN LESLIE OF BALQUHAIN (10th BARON.)

There is clear evidence in Volume V. of the Diet Books that during the forfeiture of the 6th Earl of Huntly, 1594-7, this laird of Balquhain again exercised the office of Sheriff Principal.<sup>5</sup> The public records of the time do not seem to contain any grant or gift of the office, which probably was held to be carried by his appointment as deputy lieutenant under the Duke of Lennox.<sup>6</sup>

His proceedings in dispossessing one Sheriff Clerk and appointing others (the appointment being really a Crown appointment) taken together with the numerous references to him which occur in the records of the Privy Council, show him to have been a strong and masterful man, neither slow to assume authority nor afraid to exercise it.

The Sheriffs-Depute.

PHILIP OF DUMBRECK.

Dumbreck is in the Parish of Udny, and this Philip was apparently the first proprietor who is known to genealogists. According to the Rev. Dr. Temple, who follows Stodart, Philip de Dumbreck was Sheriff-depute in 1348.<sup>1</sup> He undoubtedly rendered accounts in Exchequer as locum tenens along with William of Meldrum, a former Sheriff, for the years 1348-58.<sup>2</sup> Presumably it is the same laird who in 1369-70 and in 1373 rendered accounts in Exchequer as locum tenens to Sir Alexander Fraser, the Sheriff at that time.<sup>3</sup>

SIR JOHN OF FORBES.

The Exchequer Rolls bear that John of Forbes rendered accounts in March, 1373-4 on behalf of the Sheriff, Sir Alexander Fraser of Philorth.<sup>4</sup> He had a Charter of the lands of Edinbanchory and Craiglogy by Thomas, Earl of Mar, confirmed to him by David II. in 1364, and in a Charter of these lands he is designated Knight.<sup>5</sup> He seems to have greatly served the Church at a distance, while he quarrelled with it at his own door. In 1378 Alexander, Bishop of Moray, with consent of the Chapter, grants him the lands of Fyrossy on the south bank of the Loch of Spynie for his faithful and useful services and personal assistance in their affairs.<sup>6</sup> On the other hand, he had great disputes with Bishop Adam of Tynningham as to land rights in the Parish of Forbes and Kearn, which were composed by arbitration in 1391 after the Bishop's death, the Sheriff, Sir Alexander Fraser, being one of the arbiters.<sup>7</sup> According to Douglas, he died in 1405.<sup>8</sup> 1383-92.

THOMAS NORV.

The name of this Sheriff-depute occurs frequently in documents of the period, but beyond the fact that he held this office and that he was owner of Coquhorny in Tullynessle, little has been ascertained regarding his status. It is at the same time obvious that he was a person of some weight, and trusted in affairs. The earliest mention of Thomas Nory which has been found, is in 1357 in a Charter of Balnacraig in favour of Robert de Camera, to which he was a witness.<sup>1</sup> In August, 1360, Alexander, Bishop of Aberdeen, granted a Charter to Nory of the lands of Coquhorny for payment of 100s. sterling per annum, and attendance three times a year at the head courts at Rane.<sup>2</sup> The narrative of the resignation of the lands by David Brown, son and heir of the late Sir John Brown, Knight, and great-grandson of the original vassal, Adam Brown, who was killed at the Battle of Falkirk, bears that he gave up the lands after consultation with his friends, because he was unable or unfit (impotens) to pay the duty or perform the services which were a condition of the grant. It also bears that Nory was related to him.

In a court held by Adam, Bishop of Aberdeen, on 4th October, 1381, "apud montem capelle beati Thome Martiris juxta canoniam de Aberdon" for the exhibition of the Charters of tenants claiming to hold of the Bishop, Nory attended, and granted an obligation to appear and show his title when required upon fifteen days' warning.<sup>3</sup>

The earliest mention of Nory as a Sheriff-depute is in the record of a court of the Bishop held at Rane on 9th March, 1382-3. This court was a sequel to another, held in the Bishop's chamber in Old Aberdeen on 6th February preceding, at which Robert Stewart, Earl of Fife and Menteith, second son of Robert II. and Chamberlain of the Kingdom, was present, together with many other magnates. The court in Old Aberdeen was held in connection with the excommunication which had been pronounced against the tenants of Fermartyne holding of Sir James Lindsay, Lord of Crawford and Fermartyne, for non-payment of the second tenths to the Bishop. At the second court at Rane, absolution was given on satisfaction being made by John de Camera, the baillie and receiver of the rents of Fermartyne.<sup>4</sup>

Nory was one of the amicable compositors in 1387 in the dispute between the Bishop and John of Forbes regarding the lands of Lurgyn-daspok.<sup>5</sup>

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

He was also one of those who appended their seals to a Charter by John de Boneville to John Fraser of Forglen on 9th October, 1388.<sup>1</sup>

In February, 1388-9, he rendered accounts for the preceding terms as locum tenens for the Sheriff, and is mentioned again in the accounts in 1391-2.<sup>2</sup> He is also designed as Sheriff-depute in a grant of part of the lands of Auchlowne and others in the Barony of King Edward in May, 1390.<sup>3</sup>

Nory's death appears to have taken place in 1399. His son, Thomas, was served heir before Gilbert, Bishop of Aberdeen, at an inquest held in Old Aberdeen on 1st April, 1400.<sup>4</sup> 1405-6.

ALEXANDER STEWART, EARL OF MAR.

Sir Alexander Stewart was the eldest natural son of Alexander Stewart, one of the sons of Robert II., perhaps best known in history and in fiction as the "Wolf of Badenoch." The only direct authority which the editor has found for placing him in this list is a Letter of Acknowledgment which he granted to Sir John of Forbes on 2nd January, 1405-6. In it he is designed Lord of Mar and of the Garioch, and "Substitutus vicecomes de Abirden."<sup>5</sup> The fact however seems to be generally accepted, and in Mr. Watt's History of Aberdeen and Banff it is distinctly stated that he was appointed Sheriff of Aberdeenshire.<sup>6</sup> It will be seen from what has been said in the notes upon David, 1st Earl of Crawford, that it is assumed that, during the many absences of the latter, the Earl of Mar acted as his substitute. It is of course possible that the grant to the Lindsays was later than this, and that the Earl of Mar acted as locum tenens for some Sheriff, whose name has not come down to us. In any case, he seems to have been looked up to by this time as the County leader, and as a special protector of the town of Aberdeen. From being little better than a leader of Caterans, he became in a few short years the chosen leader of the chivalry of the north-east against the Highland host of Donald, Lord of the Isles. Anything so strikingly picturesque as his wedding with the

was also a son of the "Wolf of Badenoch," and a younger brother of the Earl of Mar. His name appears of this date in the service of David de Bosvil to an annual rent of £20 from lands in Belhelvie, in which he is styled "Viccomes locum tenens de Abirden."<sup>2</sup> He acted as a witness at Kildrummy Castle in 1424 to a Charter of Mekylwardris, granted by his brother, the Earl of Mar, to Alexander de Setoun de Gordoun.<sup>3</sup> In 1433 the Earl appointed him his baillie to give Sasine to William Leslie of Balchane, of the lands of Selby and Lochtillok.<sup>4</sup> In his history of Moray (1775), Mr. Shaw, in describing the parish of Inveraven, states that Alexander Stewart, fourth son of Robert II., having no legitimate issue, gave the lands of Strathaven to his bastard son, Sir Andrew.<sup>5</sup> From his brother, the Earl of Mar, he had the lands of Sandhalch in Banff, and Culquhorsy in Mar, of which he had Crown Charter of Confirmation in March, 1410-11.<sup>6</sup> In these he was succeeded by his son, Alexander, who was, in a court held at Kildrummy on 2nd May, 1435, served heir to him.<sup>7</sup>

1432-48. SIR ALEXANDER OF FORBES, 1st LORD FORBES.

Alexander, 2nd Earl of Crawford, with consent of his son and heir, Sir David Lindsay, afterwards the 3rd Earl, let the office of Sheriff-depute to Sir Alexander, in 1432, for life, the rent or consideration therefor being £10 Scots per annum, reserving right to the Earl and his son to exercise the office when in the Sheriffdom. This transaction was confirmed by King James II. in January, 1447-8, by Charter under the Great Seal, in which Sir Alexander is styled Lord Forbes.<sup>8</sup> There are besides various references to him as Sheriff-depute in the Exchequer Rolls.<sup>1</sup> In 1435 he agreed to assist Lord Erskyn in his endeavour to obtain himself served heir to the Earldom of Mar, Lord Erskyn promising him in return certain lands if he were successful.<sup>2</sup> In 1438 he sat as Sheriff-depute when Lord Erskyn was served as heir to the Earldom of Mar, the verdict on that occasion being, however, overturned as erroneous in 1457.<sup>3</sup> Sir Alexander was a witness on 4th January, 1440-1, to a Conveyance of Knavane, New Deer, to Alexr. Cullane, burgess of Aberdeen.<sup>4</sup> On 22nd October, 1448, he sat in the Court at Aberdeen at the taking of Instruments by Gilbert Menzies anent the redemption of Pitfoddels, being then designed "Nobilis et potens dominus Alexander de Forbes ac deputatus Vicecomes de Abirden."<sup>5</sup> According to Douglas, he died that same year.

Before 1455.

JAMES SKENE OF SKENE.

We find, from the Memorials of the Family of Skene of Skene, that this James Skene, reputed to be the sixth in descent, flourished 1411-61.<sup>6</sup> There is no mention in the volume referred to of his having been a Sheriff-depute. It would appear however, from a note by the King's Chamberlain 'twixt Dee and Spey as to the lands of Soynahard in Towie, that before 1455 he had acted in that capacity.<sup>7</sup> 1453-60.

ALEXANDER DOUGLAS.

We find an Alexander Douglas, burgess of Aberdeen, as a witness to an act of the Sheriff Court in 1450,<sup>8</sup> and that in 1446-7 one Walter Mudy was admitted a burgess at the instance of Alexander de Douglas.<sup>9</sup> Presumably these and the Alexander Douglas, who was afterwards Sheriff-depute, were one and the same person. Alexander Douglas "ejus deputatum."<sup>1</sup> He appears next as Sheriff-depute in connection with the prolonged litigation between the Skenes and Keiths, both claiming the lands of Easter Skene, Leddach, Kirktoone of Skene, Millboy, etc. Accounts of this are given in the Memorials of the Family of Skene,<sup>2</sup> and in the Antiquities and Collections of the Old Spalding Club,<sup>3</sup> and in particular he sat in Court in Aberdeen on 21st February, 1456-7.<sup>4</sup> As Sheriff-depute he gave sasine to Alexander Irvyn de Drum in the lands of Drum in 1457,<sup>5</sup> and to William Sinclair, son and apparent heir of William Earl of Orkney and Caithness, and spouse in the lands and barony of Newburgh in 1460.<sup>6</sup> He was also a witness in 1458 to a grant of 40s. out of the lands of Rothebirsbane.<sup>7</sup>

1466-71.

JOHN OGSTON OF THE CRAGS.

Some account of this Sheriff-depute is given in the history of the Ogston Families and supplement thereto (privately printed, 1876 and 1897), but the documentary and official sources of our information may be mentioned. In the Sasine, 25th June, 1466, following upon the conveyance of the lands of Cruives by John Bannerman of Alesike (Elsick) to the Town of Aberdeen, the precept was presented by David Duncansone, one of the Mairs of Fee appointed by John Ogston, Sheriff-depute of Aberdeen.<sup>8</sup> Again, on 14th August, 1467, John de Ogstoune, Vicecomes deputatus de Abirdene, is one of the witnesses to a Charter of the lands of Ury in Kincardineshire by Nicholas Earl of Errol to his uncle, Mr. Gilbert Hay.<sup>9</sup> In 1469 Ogston presided in the Court at Aberdeen, when proceedings were taken regarding the marches between the lands of Tarves and Udny.<sup>10</sup> Further, David, Earl of Crawford, renders accounts in Exchequer, 1469-71, "per Johannem de Ogstoune et Alexandrum Irvyne de Drum ejus deputatos." In a precept of Sasine of the lands of Ardendracht, the date of which has been lost, but which Dr. Joseph Robertson placed between documents of 1388 and 1414,<sup>12</sup> reference is made to an inquest previously held by John Ogston as Sheriff-depute. It would appear, from what is known of his tenure of office, that the precept in question must have been issued long after 1414.

ALEXANDER IRWIN OF THE DRUM.

The immediately preceding entry proves that he was a Sheriff-depute at this time, and the following Act of the Lords Auditors, dated 20th February, 1431-2, explains how he came to lose his office:—

“In the actioun & caus of summons movit be Walter Lindesay of Bewfort aganis Alexander Irwin of the Drum for convocatioun & gadding of our souerane lords liegis to the nnumber of lx of personys in fere of were of men of armys with bowis & uthir fensable wapponis on horss & fute & be cummyng upon the said Walter undir silence of nycht quhare he wes in his bed at mydnycht & socht the hous that he lay in for the invading of him in breking of the Acts of Parliament & in evil example to utheris to commyt sic trespassis the said Alexander beand summond lauchfully to compere personaly & comperit bot be his procuratouris the allegations of baith the pairtiis herd & understandit The lords decretis & deliuiris that for the grete lichtlying contemptioun done to our souerane lord in the foresaid thingis that thairfor he enter his persone in warde within the Castel of Berwic within xv dais eftir the warnyng thair to remayn on his awin expenss quhil he be fred be our souerane lord And atour forsamekle as he is Shref depute of Aberdene & has gadderit the kingis liegis undir silens of nycht as said is that thairfor he be depriuit for euir fra the office of depute Shreffchip & that he neuir in tyne cummyng minister in the samyn eftir the tenour of the act of parliament specially maid upoun Shreffis And at letters be writin to the Shref of Aberdene to discharge the said Alexander of the said office As he will ansuer to our souerane lord And at the said Alexander be distrenzeit for four markis for the said Walteris expenss in the folowing of the said mater & at letters be writin to distrenze him for xl sh of unlaw.”<sup>1</sup>

It would appear that this was not the only act of violence in which he took a leading part, for he had a royal remission in 1487 for the slaughter, at the Brig of Balgowny, of Alexander Fraser (apparently of the family of Philorth) and George Tailzour, and for the dismemberment and mutilation at his place of Drum of Sir Edward Mackdowell, chaplain.<sup>1</sup>

Whether he was at any time before his death restored to office, is not altogether clear ; but so late as 26th July, 1488, Ross of Auchlossin was ordained by the Lords to relieve Irvine of £50, for which the latter had become bound for the former, "the tyme he wes Schiref of Aberdene."<sup>2</sup>

According to the genealogical table in Captain Douglas Wimberly's Memorials of four old families, the subject of this notice was the sixth laird of Drum. He succeeded his grandfather, Sir Alexander Irvine, who died in July 1457, in the lands of Drum<sup>3</sup> and Forglen.<sup>4</sup>

He died towards the close of 1593, and shortly before his death made provision for David, Alexander, John, and Agnes Irvine, the four children begotten between him and the deceased Nannys Menzeis.<sup>5</sup>

ALEXANDER LESLIE OF WARDES.

We find from the List of Burgesses of Aberdeen published in the Miscellany of the New Spalding Club, that on 30th April of this year Alexander Lesly of Wardes, Receiver General and Deputy Sheriff of Aberdeen was admitted a Burgess.<sup>6</sup> No other authority has been found for placing him on the list of Sheriff deputes. The title of Receiver General might have been conferred on him in consequence of his holding that office for the Barony of Kingedward from John, Lord of the Isles.<sup>7</sup> That would not, however, explain the designation of Deputy Sheriff, and it must be assumed that when he usèd that term, the Town Clerk of Aberdeen was correctly recording a well-known fact.

Alexander Leslie had a grant of the lands of the thanage of Kintore on 30th September, 1473.<sup>8</sup>

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1494-7.

ALEXANDER IRWIN OF DRUM.

This laird of Drum was served heir to his father in 1494,<sup>1</sup> and must have been appointed to the office of Sheriff-depute soon after, for he presided at the service of William Keith as heir to his father, Sir Gilbert Keith of Inverugy, in the Sheriff Court at Aberdeen on 28th April, 1495.<sup>2</sup> It is not clear for what period he continued to hold office, but on 28th July, 1501, having then ceased to do so, he renders accounts for payments made by him out of the arrears due on his account for 1497.<sup>3</sup>

On 13th December, 1494, Alexander Irvine and Marioun Forbes, his mother, were ordained by the Lords Auditors to remove from Wester Tulbowry, in Kincardineshire.<sup>4</sup>

There was, and probably still is, in the Charter Chest at Drum a Discharge by William Fraser of Phillorth for himself and his kinsmen to Alexander Irvin of Drum for a sum of money as assythment and part compensation for an outrage at the Brig of Balgowny on the late Sir Alexander Fraser of Phillorth and his son Alexander, who were respectively the grandfather and father of the granter.<sup>5</sup> Whether this was the same affray as that referred to in the notice of this Sheriff-depute's father [supra] or a different one, the writer has not been able to ascertain; but it is interesting to notice that the compensation is described as "kynbutt," a term said by Jamieson to denote the reparation to be made for the sudden slaughter of relatives, and used in Balfour's Practicks as synonymous with Assythment for the slaughter of relatives.

SIR ALEXANDER GORDOUN OF MIDMAR.

Sir Alexander Gordon of Midmar was a brother of George, 2nd Earl of Huntly, his mother being a daughter of William, Lord Crichton, and he was the ancestor of the Gordons of Abergeldie. How or when Midmar passed from the family of Brown and came into the possession of the Gordons does not seem to have been definitely ascertained. One of the earlier notices of Sir Alexander is found in the Contract of Marriage between William, Earl Marischal, and Elizabeth, daughter of the Earl of Huntly, dated 11th January, 1481-2, in which Alexander Gordon of Megmar (not then a knight) was chosen as one of the friends of the parties, to whom was referred the clearing up of any difficulties which might arise regarding any of the title deeds mentioned in the Contract.<sup>1</sup> His only recorded appearance in Court was on 4th October, 1491, when he presided over the inquest which found that Alexander Fraser of Philorth was incompos mentis.<sup>2</sup> At this period a Sheriff-depute did not seem to have the power, express or implied, to appoint deputies or substitutes under him ; but apparently Sir Alexander assumed it. The following entry in the proceedings of the Lords Auditors may be deemed to be of interest in this connection<sup>3</sup>:—" In the action and causs persewit be Elizabeth Ogston the dochter and are of umquhile Walter Ogstoun of that ilke aganis Maister Androv Caidiow pretendit Shref deput of Abirdene for his wrangis and inordinate proceeding in the serving of a breif of inquest, of our Soucrane Lordis chapell purchest be Elizabeth Hay be the decess of umquhile Hay of Ury apoun the landis of Raustoun and Cragy liand within the Shrefdoun of Abirdene becauss the tyme of the seruing of the said breues the said Maister Androv pretendit him Shref deput to the Shref of Abirdene howbeit he wes bot substitut & deput to Sir Alexander Gordoun of Megmar knycht quhilk wes bot deput in the said office under the Maister of Crawford and nicht mak deputis under him . . . . Because it is clearly understandin to the Lords that the said Sir Alexander wes deput to the said Maister of Crawford the tyme of the seruing of the said breues and that the said Maister Androv wes bot substitut to the said Shreff deput, & as wes grantit be the said Maister Andro, The Lordis Auditours decrettis & deliueris that the said Maister Andro has wrangwisly procedit in the seruing of the said breif for the causs forsaid becaus a Deput nicht nocht mak ane uther under him. . . . ."

Accounts were rendered by him in Exchequer in January, 1493-4,<sup>4</sup> and various references to him are found in the Rolls and elsewhere down to December, 1503, soon after which his death took place. His sons accounted for certain arrearages in July, 1505.<sup>5</sup> It is of interest to note that, with the exception of the first Earl of Huntly's very short service as Sheriff in 1452 (3) Sir Alexander Gordon of Midmar was the first of the Gordons to hold office in the Sheriff Court, so far as has been ascertained.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

1498-1511. ALEXANDER BANNERMAN OF WATERTOUN.

This is the first Sheriff-depute mentioned in the existing Books of Court, and he appears to have been the regular depute for a considerable period. He sat in April, 1498, in a Head Court, when Alex. Bosuele was served heir to David Bosuele of Balmowto, in an annual rent of £20 from lands in Belhelvie.<sup>1</sup> In 1501, we find him rendering accounts in Exchequer, and after the commencement of the Diet Book 1503 to 1511 officiating frequently. On the passing of the office of Sheriff to Lord Erroll, he got a new Commission.<sup>2</sup> The Bannermans of Waterton sprang from Mr. Donald Bannerman, Physician to David II., and another ancestor, also Alexander Bannerman, was Provost of Aberdeen in 1382.<sup>3</sup> He himself was admitted a burges in 1502 (3),<sup>4</sup> and more than once after that date burgresses seem to have been admitted at his instance.

1506-13.

JOHN MAR.*

He is mentioned in the Diet Books for the period as officiating as Sheriff-depute in October of this year, but his Commission is not recorded until two years later, on 3rd October, 1508.<sup>5</sup> Evidence has been found of his sitting as late as 1513. He was Provost of Aberdeen, 1514-15. A full account of him is given in Mr. A. M. Munro's Lord Provosts of Aberdeen.

GILBERT MENZIES OF FINDON.*

Another Provost of Aberdeen, and one of the famous family of this name, he was also a Sheriff-depute in February, 1507 (8), and until 1513 at least. The first Diet Book does not go beyond 1511, and very little information has been gleaned as to the deutes for a long period afterwards. On 3rd October, 1508, he is designed in the Diet Book as "of Pitfodels," and in his Commission from Lord Erroll on 13th March, 1510 (11), "Prepositus burgi de Aberdene."<sup>6</sup>

Officials : Sheriffs-Depute

1526-35. MR. ALEXANDER OGILVY IN GLASSAUGH.

It may be taken as probable that when Alexander Ogilvy of that ilk acquired the office of Sheriff in 1522, he took an early opportunity of placing a kinsman in the subordinate office. Therefore, although we do not find evidence of the fact earlier than 1526, Mr. Alexander Ogilvy may have held the appointment of Sheriff-depute four years sooner. He was selected by the Sheriff-principal to give sasine to George Meldrum of the Lands and Barony of Fyvie, on 9th November, 1526.<sup>1</sup> On 13th May, 1527, another precept was directed to Mr. Alexander Ogilvy, Sheriff-depute of Aberdeen, in connection with the infestment of Lady Helen Gordon, widow of Sir William Sinclair, in lands in the Lordship of Newburgh.<sup>2</sup> Once more on 28th September, 1532, we find the laird of Ogilvy appointing Mr. Alexander Ogilvy in Glassalche, one of his baillies, to give sasine to William Bard, son and heir of George Bard of Ordinhuff, in the lands of Sandlawche in the Barony of Ogilvie. Finally it appears plainly from a proceeding before the Lords of Council and Session, decided on 21st March, 1538-9,<sup>3</sup> to be afterwards referred to, that he was acting as Sheriff-depute of Aberdeenshire between June, 1535, and the date of the Lord's decision.

It will be noticed that this is the first Sheriff-depute who has the prefix "Magister," which may be taken as an indication that the rays of the "Lamp of the North" were beginning to reach the laity.

1531-5. GEORGE BARD (BAIRD) OF ORDINHUFFIS.

The property known variously as Ordinhufe, Ordinhuff, Ordinhoove, and Ordinhuffis, was situated in the Forest of the Boyne in the district between Banff and Cullen, which was of old the northern centre of the family of Ogilvy. It is now merged in the Seafield estates in the parish of Fordyce.

These Bairds were of the same family as the old family of Baird of Auchmedden. This particular member of the family has lived chiefly in local tradition as having had, by his wife Lilius Grant of the Ballindalloch clan, a family of thirty-two children.<sup>4</sup> As a Sheriff-depute, he acted in 1531 along with one, John McMursoun, in a proceeding at the instance of Agnes Grant, widow of John Makallane in Inverernan, and Thomas Cumyng, her husband, against James Gordon of Abirgeldy.<sup>1</sup> He, along with Mr. Alexander Ogilvy and William Rolland, presided at the trial of an action between John Elphinstone and Umfra Rollok [after 1535]. The subject in dispute was "the keeping of his castell of Kildrummy and office of baillieri of his landis and barrony thairoff," to which the former claimed right by virtue of a lease from Alexander Lord Elphinstoune, the owner, but from which (as he alleged) he "was violentlie and wranguslie ejected spulzeit and put thatfra" by Rollok on 23rd June, 1535. The jury, consisting of Henry Forbes of Thainstoun, Gilbert Menzeis of Findone, Thomas Reid of Colistoun, Maister Andrew Tulydef of Rannistoun, Henry Oldeny [Udny] of Mynnes, John Pawtoun [Panton] of Petmeddene, John Knox of that Ilk, William Blakhall of that Ilk, Alexander Chalmer of Balnacrag, William Spens of Boddume, William King of Bowrty, and John Forbes of Tuligowny, found in favor of Elphinstoune, and ordered him to be restored to the castle and office of Baillieri. The decision of the Court of Session (21st March, 1538 (9), recalling this verdict, is interesting as throwing light upon the question of the constitution of juries at that period. The reasons of reduction were thus stated by the Lords, "Beaus the said pretendit deputis at the geving of the said pretendit deliuerance put the said mater to the knowledge of xii personis of inquest in evin novmer but ane odman to deliuer with thame howbeit be the law and consuetude of the realme all inquestis aucht and suld be chosen in od novmer."<sup>2</sup> From this it may be inferred that the actual number was not then absolutely fixed, but that it was regarded as essential that provision should be made for a finding by a majority.

JOHN MCMURSOUN.*

Nothing has been ascertained about this individual, except the occurrence of his name along with that of George Baird, already mentioned.<sup>3</sup>

1535-40.

WILLIAM ROLLAND.

This name occurs frequently in the local records of the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries. A William Rolland was admitted a burgess of Aberdeen in 1493-4,<sup>1</sup> and another of the same name in 1523.<sup>2</sup> A William Rolland senior is sometimes mentioned, and a William Rolland junior. There was also a Baillie William Rolland, and William Rolland, Master of the Mint. Finally, there was William Rolland, the Sheriff-depute.

It is impossible, from existing materials, definitely to settle which of the persons of this name was the one who acted in this last capacity ; but the probabilities all point to the selection of the William Rolland who was a Baillie for a lengthened period. His first appearance as Sheriff-depute was on 4th September, 1535, when proclamation was made at the Market Cross of Royal Letters of Protection of the lands of Alexander Fraser of Philorth, during his absence abroad on pilgrimage, "in presentia et de mandato honorabilis viri Willelmi Rolland Vicecomitis deputati de Abirden."<sup>3</sup> He was one of the three deputes sitting in the case of Elphinstone v. Rollok already referred to, and on two occasions in 1540, namely, 11th<sup>4</sup> and 30th October,<sup>5</sup> there is evidence of his acting as a Sheriff-depute.

He seems to have been one of those to whom Lord Huntly, when Provost, entrusted the management of Town Council matters during his absence,<sup>6</sup> and although the Earl appointed John Leslie of Balquhain his principal depute after he became Sheriff in 1541, Rolland may also have continued to hold an appointment.

1541-61. JOHN LESLIE (8th BARON) OF BALQUHAIN.

The connection of this family with office in the Sherifffdom is thus set forth by the author of the View of the Diocese of Aberdeen.

"In the Laurus Leslaeana I find Sir John Leslie, the eighth laird of Balquhain, Sir William, the ninth, and John, the tenth, to have been successively Sheriffs of Aberdeen, between A.D. M.D.XLV. and A.D. M.DC.XXII. ; and yet, having all lived during the period when the Earl of Huntley was hereditary Sheriff, they must have acted only by a commission from him ; though, at the same time, they were men of such distinction that it is remarked of the last of them that he never appeared abroad without a retinue of twenty horse."<sup>1</sup>

It is also stated in the Records of the Family of Leslie<sup>2</sup> that the 8th Baron was Sheriff principal in 1550(1), and a quotation is given in which he is designed "Vicecomes."

These statements, as we have already seen, are correct in the case of the ninth and tenth Barons, who in special circumstances filled the principal office for limited periods; but there has been found no sufficient authority for them as regards the subject of this notice.

As has been already mentioned, the Sheriff was at this period generally designed "Vicecomes principalis," and there is no doubt that the Earl of Huntly was then Sheriff principal. At the same time, it ought to be noted that about 1550 the Earl of Huntly, the Sheriff principal, visited France, and that not very long after his return he fell into disfavour with the Queen Regent, circumstances which might interfere for the time with the Earl's personal exercise of the office.

The Earl of Huntly was not long in office before he selected as his depute John Leslie, then of Syde, the eldest son and apparent heir of William Leslie (the 7th Baron), who died in 1545, by Elizabeth Ogilvy, daughter of Sir Walter Ogilvy of Boyne.

The grant of the office of Sheriff to Lord Huntly was dated, as we have seen, on 3rd March, 1540-1, and on 26th April of the same year, Leslie sat in Court in Aberdeen as depute along with the principal Sheriff.<sup>3</sup> So far as is known, this is the first appearance among the officials of the Sheriffdom of a member of this ancient and, during the latter half of the 16th century, powerful family. In the beginning of 1548-9, Leslie presided at a court for taxing the County for war purposes, an extract of the proceedings at which is copied at the end of a Diet Book of much later date (1573-6).<sup>4</sup>

In the second of the Diet Books, which have been preserved, under date 24th May, 1558, in Letters of Advocation at the instance of the burgesses and inhabitants of Kintore against Alexander Leslie of Wardres, occurs the following passage, "And attour Johne Leslie of Bolquhane principall Sref depute of oure said Srefdome, quha hed the hail rewill and ordoring of all the courtis tharof,"<sup>1</sup> and again under date 10th January, 1559(60), is the following order of Court, "The said day the Sreff deput foresaid decernit and ordainit that na precept raisit in tyme cuming has strength or fayth without the saymen be subscrivit be the Sreff principall, John Leslie of Balquhane his deput, or Maister Andro Leslie principall Sreff Clerk."<sup>2</sup>

Leslie frequently presided at sittings of the Sheriff Court, and it would seem probable that he continued in office as Sheriff-depute during the remainder of his life, or nearly so. He was admitted a burgess of Aberdeen, when he was still heir apparent of Balquhain, on 21st April, 1533,<sup>3</sup> and, according to the "Family Records," died in France in 1561.

1557. ROBERT OUDNY, YOUNGER.*

The entry in the Diet Book on 15th June of this year runs thus, "The said day the said Sref principall creat Robert Oudny Your a Sref deput of the said Srefdome for the desyre of this day and [word illegible] quhill he be dischargit and gef him the ayth of fidelete to exerce the said office lelelie and treulie And thaireftir the Court was of new fensit agane in all the names afoir writin and his."<sup>4</sup>

Udny's name never appears again, and he has not been identified.

1557-66. GEORGE BISSAT, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN.

This Sheriff-depute, who sat more frequently during this period than any other,<sup>5</sup> unless perhaps Balquhain, must be identical with George Bissat of Pitmukston, heritable Mair of Fee of the Sherifffdom of Aberdeen, an office regarding which is further noticed in subsequent pages.

On 12th January, 1565-6, he sat along with William Leslie of Balquhain (designed Vicecomes) and James Leslie, at the pronouncing of a decree concerning the Multures at Mill of Fintray, an extract of which was in the Charter Chest at Skene in 1857.<sup>6</sup>

1557-8. GEORGE, LORD GORDON.*

As already mentioned, Lord Gordon seems to have acted occasionally as a Sheriff-depute before he succeeded to the Earldom, and in particular, he took his seat on the bench with John Leslie of Balquhain, William Leslie of Kirkhill, Michael Menzeis, and George Bissat on 17th February, 1557-8,<sup>1</sup> when an action about her terce at the instance of Beatrix Dunbar, widow of Johne Straquhyne of Lenturk, against Johne Straquhyne, formerly of Thorntoun now of Lenturk, was before the Court. No other instance of his sitting as a Sheriff-depute has been found.

1557-8.

MICHAEL MENZEIS.*

He is one of a number of deputes who appear in the Diet Book for this period only once or twice. Michael Menzeis, who is not designed, sat along with William Leslie of Syde in a Court held at Standing Stains of Huntlie on 12th February, in Aberdeen with John Leslie of Balquhain on the 15th, and again on the 17th of the same month when George, Lord Gordon, and others were on the bench.<sup>2</sup> A Michael Menzeis was one of the witnesses to a Charter by John Waus of Many to Thomas Menzeis, burgess of Aberdeen, of half a net of the raik and stell fishings upon the Dee on 12th October, 1554.<sup>3</sup>

1557-9. WILLIAM LESLIE OF SYDE AND OF KIRKIHILL, AFTERWARDS OF BALQUHAIN.

No commissions are recorded to either William Leslie of Syde or William Leslie of Kirkhill, but they appear under these different designations as deputes 1557-9.<sup>4</sup> An attempt has been made to identify them, and the conclusion come to is that they were one and the same person, and that that person, William Leslie, was the eldest son and heir of John Leslie of Balquhain, and who subsequently became the 9th Baron of Balquhain. After acting as Sheriff for some time during the forfeiture of the Earl of Huntly, he was once more Sheriff-depute in 1567(8).

which Lord Huntly sat with William Leslie of Syde and with the three persons above named, who were appointed Sheriff-deputes and sworn in there and then. The action is described as "super terras debatabiles inter terras de Monkishill et terras de Park et Tifty," and the parties were Sir George Gordon of Scheves, proprietor of Monkishillok, who was successful, and William Forbes of Tolquhone and Andrew Meldrum of Fyvie.<sup>1</sup> It seems likely that the persons above named were to all intents and purposes assessors possessing special local knowledge.

A James Wentoun (probably identical with the above) was one of the witnesses at Fyvie on 20th May, 1556, to a Charter by Sir George Meldrum of Fyvie, of the lands of Darley, Wodheid, Boiggis, and Middilmure in the Barony of Fyvie, to his fifth son, Andrew Meldrum, which was confirmed by the King on 8th July, 1574.<sup>2</sup> The names of Slorach and Hutchesone have not been found elsewhere.

ALEX. LESLIE, SON TO WM. LESLIE OF LITTLE WARTHILL.*
                  Mr. JAMES STEVIN (not designed).*
                  Mr. ALEXANDER BLAKHALL (not designed).*
                  ALEXANDER BISSAT (not designed).*

These all appear once or oftener, but none of them were stated or constant Sheriff-deputes.

Mr. James Stevin may be identified as the contemporary Notary Public of that name, and as we find an Alexander Bissat, son of George Bissat, admitted a burghess 26th June, 1548,<sup>3</sup> it may be concluded that the Sheriff-depute and he were one and the same person. The names of the others have not been found elsewhere.

1564.           JAMES LESLIE, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN.

We find several persons of this name admitted as burghesses—one in 1547 as having married the daughter of a burghess, the cautioner being

John Leslie of Balquhain ;<sup>1</sup> a second in 1548, for whom James Leslie is cautioner,<sup>2</sup> and a third in 1549(50), who is called only son of the late Walter Leslie.<sup>3</sup> An action, already noticed, took place in 1564 (5)<sup>4</sup> about the Multures at Mill of Fintray, in which a James Leslie sat along with William Leslie of Balquhain as Sheriff-depute, from which it may perhaps be inferred that the burghess admitted in 1547 was the one here referred to.

Before 1573.           ALEXANDER DUF OF CORSINDAE.

In an action of ejection from Birsmoir, Birse, at the instance of John Gordoun of Cluny, on 14th January, 1573 (4), a Decree of Removing of earlier date (13th June, 1573) pronounced by the above Alexr. Duf and Mr. Gilbert Bissat, Sheriff-deputes for the time, is founded on.<sup>5</sup>

The Decree is against Robert Ross, David Strauchauchin, John Chepman, and James Findlay, all in Birssmoir.

1573-6.               Mr. GILBET BISSAT OF PITMUXTON.

Mr. Gilbert Bissat was the son of George Bissat of Pitmuxton, who, on 9th December, 1560, conveyed to "dilecto filio meo naturali Magistro Gilberto Bissatt burgensi de Abirdene" and his heirs All and Whole "officium Maurifeudi Vicecomitatus Aberdonensis unacum totis et integris terris de Petmukstoun cum pertinentiis eidem officio spectantibus et pertinentibus."<sup>6</sup> Among the witnesses to this deed were John Leslie of Balquhain, his son William, Mr. John Leslie, Rector of Oyne and Official of Aberdeen, Mr. Andrew Leslie, principal Sheriff Clerk of the Sherifffdom of Aberdeen and Thomas and Andrew Bissat sons of the granter. The word "naturalis" is not however used with regard to these sons. The date of Mr. Gilbert Bissat's death has not been ascertained, but he was alive in June 1584,<sup>7</sup> and his death had taken place before June 1589, when his son George, who succeeded him, obtained a decree of the Lords of Council and Session against the Earl of Huntly as Sheriff Principal and various other persons, ordaining them to cease and desist from usurping his office of Mair of Fee and uplifting the fees thereof.<sup>8</sup>

Officials: Sheriffs-Depute

It is impossible to fix with precision the duration of his Sheriff-deputeship, but during the whole period covered by Diet Book Vol. III., and probably for some time before, he was the regular Sheriff-depute.

When the death of the 5th Earl took place in October, 1576, Bissat's appointment would fall, and there are not wanting indications that, with the advent of John Leslie of Balquhain to the wardship of the office of Sheriff, the patronage flowed in different channels.

In contradistinction to other townsmen, to whose names when acting as Sheriff-deputes, the adjectives "providus" or "discretus" were generally prefixed, Bissat was designed "honorabilis." Notwithstanding this, when there were county lairds on the bench, their names were placed before his.

In common with all other deputes in those days, he fell under the charge of subserviency to the principal Sheriff, especially when the interest of any one connected with the Earl of Huntly was in question. Thus in an action of removing at the instance of Alexander Setoune, apparent of Meldrum as assignee of Adam Gordoun of Auchindoun against William Abirnethy and others (2nd May, 1576) it was excepted against the jurisdiction of Lord Huntly that he was superior of the lands libelled and therefore a judge not competent, and that the said Maister Gilbert Bissat was not only open to the same objection but that he "will do no thing by" (except by) "the will and ordinance of my said Lord "Huntlie."<sup>1</sup>

From allegations made against Bissat's competency as a judge on the ground of relationship to litigants we are able to name some of his kindred. At one of the diets in an action of cognition by John Cheyne of Craibistoun against William Setoun of Meldrum, and John Setoun of Auchinhuif, regarding the marches of Crabistoun and Sklaty, it was alleged (4th October, 1575)<sup>2</sup> that the mothers of Bissat and Cheyne were sisters "on the moders syid." Again in another action of cognition, which came up in court on the day following, at the instance of Gilbert Mengzes of Cowly against Robert Innes of Invermarky, Alexander Innes of Ardgrayne and another, it was alleged that Bissat and Mengzes were "tua oysis" i.e. having the same grand-parents and thus cousins.<sup>3</sup> On this latter occasion the record bears that Bissat declined at once.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

JOHN GORDOUN OF AVACHIE

seems to have been a regular or principal Depute at this period. He and Mr. Gilbert Bissat presided at the Head Court on 12th January, 1573(4), and at the Head Court on 5th October, 1574, Baillie Alexander Chalmers administered the oath de fidei to him and to Bissat and Allane Bulfurd (Balfour).<sup>1</sup> Notwithstanding that all three had been acting previously, it was apparently thought necessary, or was usual, to make a fresh start from the Michaelmas Head Court.<sup>2</sup>

On 25th April, 1574, Gordoun was one of the witnesses at Aberdeen to a Charter by John Gordoun of Petlurg to Gilbert Menzeis of Cowlie, of the town and lands of Gilkeamstoun (Gilcomston), which was confirmed by Crown Charter 24th February, 1576(7).<sup>3</sup>

His last recorded sitting in the Sheriff Court was on 20th July, 1575.

ALLAN BULFORD (BALFOUR).

Bulford, who is nowhere designed in the Diet Book, sat fairly often during this period. When sitting alone, he is not styled "honorabilis," but "providus vir." One naturally assumes that all the officials of the Court at this period were friends to the Gordon family, and the following extract from the Privy Council Register of date 27th May, 1576,<sup>4</sup> proves that the Gordons were not backward in assisting their supporters:—"I Adam Gordoun of Auchindoun becumis cautioner and souirtie that Allane Balfour sall entir within the castell and portalice of Blacknes within fourty dayis, or in the menetyme sall find sufficient caution according to my Lord Regentis Grace desire under the panc of fyve hundreth merkis be thir presentis."

who was not designed on the few occasions when he sat at this period, the first being the Head Pasche Court held on 20th April, 1574. His name was always placed first of those sitting, and it is supposed he was Patrick, afterwards Sir Patrick, Gordoun of Auchindoun. He was a younger brother of George, 5th Earl of Huntly, and of Sir Adam Gordon of Auchindoun, whom he succeeded in 1580.

Officials : Sheriffs-Depute

1574-6. Mr. GEORGE MYDDLETOUN, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN.*

A burges of this name was admitted on 4th October, 1549,<sup>1</sup> and there was a Baillie George Middletoun about this period.

On 16th June, 1559, when it was feared that iconoclastic outbreaks might take place, Mr. Middleton was one of those selected by the Provost and Baillies, on the petition of the Chaplains of the Parish Church of St. Nicholas, to take charge of and safeguard the chalices, silver cups, and ornaments belonging to the Church.<sup>2</sup>

On 4th June, 1567, he was one of the taxtars chosen by the community to impose a tax for the repair of the parish church, when the sum required was fixed at 1100 merks.<sup>3</sup>

It appears from a Decree of the Sheriff Court (1st February, 1573 (4)<sup>4</sup>) that Mr. Myddiltoune and Elizabeth or Elspet Irving, his wife, were owners in conjunct fee of the "Landis of Neddin Mondurno and Torbothehill with thair pertinentis and pendiculis liand within the barrony of Fyvie Regalitie of Abirbrothok and Schirrefdome of Aberdeine."

Their neighbour Alexander Annand of Ouchterellon, proprietor of Crannabog, Ouer Mondurno and Mill of Mondurno, and his tenants had been molesting the Myddiltounes and trying to encroach on their ground, so they brought an action and obtained a Decree of Cognition, settling the marches, which are given at length in the decree.

At one point the march is said to follow the burn of Mondurno "quhill it cum to the merchis of the Schirreffis Seit," whatever that might mean.

In an action of Removing, on 28th June, 1574, at the instance of Lady Glamis, as liferentrix against tenants in Easter and Wester Ardo, &c., in the barony of Belhelvie, there was produced for the Pursuer a Sasine dated 17th March, 1544 (5), one of the notaries to which was Mr. George Middiltoune, doubtless the same person whom we find now acting as a Sheriff-depute. The other notary was Mr. Patrick Ogstoun.<sup>5</sup>

Along with Gilbert Meinzeis of Cowlie, who was then Provost, Mr. Patrick Rutherford and Alexander Chalmer, his colleagues in the Baillie-ship, Mr. Myddleton appeared before the Regent at Aberdeen, on 18th August, 1574, and received a long admonition to punish superstition and

Mr. PATRICK RUTHERFURDE.*

Was a Sheriff-depute specially constituted. The son of Alexander Rutherford, a Burgess ; a Burgess and Baillie himself, he was the father, by his wife Marjorie Menzies, of Provost Alexander Rutherford of Rubislaw.<sup>2</sup>

He seems to have been engaged in mercantile pursuits, the nature of which is so far indicated by an entry in the Kirk and Bridge work accounts under date 20th August, 1571, in the following terms, "To Master Patrik Rutherford for ane stane of Spanze (Spanish) yrin to the Towng of the gryt bell ix s."<sup>3</sup>

The difficulties of obtaining judges who were "unsuspect" was, as we have already seen, very great : but when the interest was obvious, attempts were made to get over them. Rutherford's appointment is an illustration. On 23rd June, 1574,<sup>4</sup> two sittings of the Court are chronicled, the bench in the first consisting of Mr. Patrick Rutherford, Mr. George Myddiltoun, Mr. Gilbert Bissat, and Patrick Gray, Sheriffs-depute, jointly and severally. Two actions of Removing were before them, and in each there was decree in absence. Both were at the instance of "George Lord Gordoune, cessionar and asseynay lauchtfully constitut be ane nobill and potent Lord, George Erle of Huntlie, Lord Gordoune and Baidzenocht, etc., in and to the nonentrie of the landis and lordschipe of Huntlie alias Straythbogy with expres consent and assent of the said Erle his fader lauchtfull tutour gyder and gouvernour to him." The usual precept of warning was produced, and in addition "Mr. Patrik Rutherford and Mr. George Middiltoun's precepts, Shreffis of Abirdeine in that pairt specialie constitut deulie execut and indorsat to this day undir thair subscriptionis manuell as appeirit of the dait the xii day off Junii the yeir of God Ane thousand five hundreth seventie four yeiris." The opening words of the decerniture seem to import that the whole four deutes took part. They are "The Shreffis forsaidis decernit and ordinit."

Officials : Sheriffs-Depute

After the two cases referred to had been disposed of, Rutherford, Middleton, and Gray (the latter curiously enough not having been specially mentioned in the decrees) disappear, and a number of other decrees are pronounced by Mr. Gilbert Bissat, the ordinary depute sitting alone.

1574.                    PATRICK GRAY (not designed).*

He is not designed in the Diet Book; but a Patrick Gray was admitted a burgess in 1548, who seems to have been alive in 1589.<sup>1</sup> It is more than likely that it was to him that £3 6/- was paid on 24th January, 1574 (5) for "1 dosone of dalis [deals] to the queir wyndois"<sup>2</sup> and who in 1587 had a property in the Netherkirkgate.<sup>3</sup>

1575-6.                GILBERT MENZIES OF COWLIE.*

Specially constituted to sit on a Brieve for serving Lord Huntly as heir to his father and mother,<sup>4</sup> and in some other instances. A full notice of Gilbert Menzies of Cowlie is to be found in Mr. A. M. Munro's Lord Provosts of Aberdeen. His father, Thomas Menzies of Pitfoddels, was Provost of Aberdeen for a great number of years, and he succeeded his father both as Laird of Pitfoddels and Provost, holding the latter office from 1576 to 1587.

1575.                    ALEXANDER JOHNSTOUN (not designed).*

Sat on 5th October of this year with Mr. Gilbert Bissat of Pitmukston. A person of this name designed as "Sergeant" is a witness to several writs about 1559, one of which was the Charter by the Church of St. Nicholas to Andrew Buck of fishings at the Fords of Dee, on 1st March, 1558 (9),<sup>5</sup> and as it seems to have been the practice for the Sheriff or principal depute to call in any convenient official, who would not be too independent, in order to obviate the objection to themselves as persons "suspect" by reason of relationship or otherwise, it may quite well be that Johnstoun was made on this occasion to serve that purpose.

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

As will be seen, however, from the subjoined passage taken from the record of the case [Mengzes v. Innes and another, 5th October, 1575] his acting as Sheriff-depute did not pass without challenge.<sup>1</sup>

Mr. Gilbert Bissat having been objected to on the ground of kinship and having declined, Mr. William Davidson, procurator for the defenders, proceeded to say, "Als Alexander Johnestoune allegit Shreff deput may not be deput nor Juge competent becaus gif euir he at ony tyme wes deput lauchtfullie creat that wes lang tyme bypast. Hes not exercit the office of Deputrie in this Jugement (seat) be the space of five or sex yeiris last bipast as he allegis, and als be the ordinance of the Act of parliament may not be deput to cognosce in this action becaus he is not of new creat be the Shreff Principall nor ressaut the ayth be him for executioun of his office at the last heid Michaelmes Court, and gif he hes ressaut the ayth of ony uther Shreff-deput it makis him nocht lauchtfull and specialie gif he be admittit be Maister Gilbert Bissat becaus he is already declynit as said is. It is ansuerit be the persewar the allegeance is negative consaut (conceived) and suld be repellit and the said Alexr. is lauchtfullie creat Shreff deput in use of the executioun of the said office and zit remane ane Shreff deput ondischargit and thairfoir is Juge competent." So far the argument. The end of the matter is thus pithily expressed, "Nochtwithstanding the said allegeance the said Alexander remanit Juge."

On 9th June, 1574, the following entry occurs (Mr. Gilbert Bissat being on the bench):—"The said day the said Maister Gilbert creat Alexander Johnestoun ane Mair deput to pas and sumond Alexander Leslie of Naddir Dyce conforme to the precept rasit thairupone and in that caus only."<sup>2</sup> Objections were stated to him in this capacity also.<sup>3</sup>

THOMAS CRAG, MESSENGER,*

was appointed by the Earl of Huntly, along with David Gunnar, as a Sheriff-depute to act when objections of relationship were taken to the ordinary deutes.

The actions between Cheyne of Crabistoun and the Setouns and Mengzes of Cowly and others are specially mentioned.

Officials: Sheriffs-Depute

The Commission was dated at Huntly 26th October, 1575, and was presented in Court on the 31st.<sup>1</sup>

Crag's only recorded sitting was on 1st February, 1575-6.

1575-6-9.

DAVID GUNNAR.*

He was not designed, but in 1579-80 he was Mair Depute. He was called to the bench on various occasions, the first being on 31st October, 1575.

One reason for his appearance at this Court was obviously because Mr. Gilbert Bissat was defender in a case at the instance of Mr. John Kennedy, acting for the Chaplain of the College and Choir of the Parish Church of Aberdeen.<sup>2</sup> The case of Mengzes v. Innes and another was also on the roll.

Gunnar's last recorded appearance as Sheriff-depute, so far as has been found, was at the service of Robert Innes of Invermarkie as heir of his paternal uncle, Alexander Innes of Ardgrayne, etc., on 12th January, 1579 (80).<sup>3</sup> sat on 20th December, 1575, and on various occasions throughout the year beginning January, 1575(6). He is once designed as above.

1575-6.

Mr. ROBERT LESLIE OF AULDCRAIG*

It may be remembered that, in the action of cognition between Cheyne of Crabistoun and the Setouns of Meldrum and Auchinhuiff, Mr. Gilbert Bissat was objected to and declined on account of kinship. Mr. Leslie now appears in place of Bissat, as is expressly explained in the sederunt of the Court of 20th December, 1575.

On 20th June, 1584,<sup>4</sup> there was produced in the Sheriff Court a Submission by Andrew Lesly in Balhaggartie and Agnes Leyth, his spouse, on the one part, and William Donald in Tempillands of Harlaw on the other part, to Duncan Lesly of Petcapill and Mr. Robert Lesly of Auld Craig, anent the Removing pursued by the first parties against the second party, for removing from the said Tempilland of Harlaw and Croft of the same. By the Submission the parties renounced all other was a Baillie of Aberdeen, and rather a prominent man. He was the third son of Robert Lumsden of Medlar and Balnakelly, and younger brother of Matthew Lumsden of Tillycairn, the writer of the well-known history of the Family of Forbes, with which he was connected by marriage.

Mr. Lumsden, along with Provost Thomas Menzeis, represented the Burgh at the Meeting of Estates held at Perth on 28th July, 1569,<sup>2</sup> and subsequently at a meeting of the Privy Council held at Aberdeen on 31st August, 1574 (James, Earl of Morton, Regent, presiding), he acted as procurator for the Burgh in presenting their bond for loyalty to the Government.<sup>3</sup>

His name occurs several times in the Diet Book of the period as a Sheriff-depute, the first occasion being on 11th January, 1575-6. The sederunt of that Court is thus worded, "per honorabiles viros Magistrum Gilbertum Bissat de Petmukstoun Magistrum Robertum Lumisden pro parte Bissat et Magistrum Robertum Leslic in causis Setounis et Cheyne hinc inde coniunctim et diuisim." On 1st February same year he is designed of "Clowayth."

On 17th July, 1574, he took decree in the Sheriff Court against certain tenants of Drumquhendill, the decree being followed in the Diet Book by the following protest, which refers to the well-known standing quarrel between the families of Gordon and Forbes. On the margin is written, "Protestatio Lumisden," and the text runs as follows:—"The said day compeirit Maister Robert Lumisden of Clovayth and persevit certane tennentis of Drumquhendill for certane fermes afoir the Shref deput of the Shrefdome of Abirden for the tyme undir protestatioune that albeit he compeirit befoir my Lord Shref of Abirdeine and his deputtis in ciuill caussis protestit that his compeirance alwayis suld not preiuge him of his preuilege of the Cheppall of Justice and als the exemptione of my Lord Forbes to the quhilks in caussis criminall he wald adheir to joiss the preuilege thair of one nawayis passand nor declynand thairfra one of the quhilks he tuik act and instrument.”<sup>1</sup>

The reference here is to the exemption by the Lords of Council and Session of Lord Forbes and his family and kin from the jurisdiction of the Sheriff principal of Aberdeen and his deputes.

In the decree of the Lords of Council and Session pronounced 27th June, 1573, Mr. Lumsden was one of those mentioned by name.<sup>2</sup>

Among those who were admitted members of the Society of Advocates in Aberdeen in 1576, the name of Mr. Robert Lumsden appears.

1576. SIR ADAM GORDOUN OF AUCHINDOUN*

was the sixth son of George, 4th Earl of Huntlie, the younger brother of the 5th, and the uncle of George, the 6th Earl and first Marquis. Of all the masterful Gordons, Sir Adam of Auchindoun was not the least masterful, and his doings made part, not only of the local, but of the general history of his time. He was a devoted partisan of Queen Mary, and had retired to France in disgust early in 1572-3, after his brother had given up the struggle. He continued to intrigue in the Queen's interest when in France, and so when he returned to Scotland in 1575, he was imprisoned in Blackness Castle. In January, 1576, he was released, and on 2nd October following he presided at the Michaelmas Head Court in Aberdeen as Sheriff-depute. Later in the same month his brother died suddenly at Strathbogie, and his nephew being in minority, Sir Adam, until his death in December, 1580, acted as head of the house and managed the affairs of the family.

1576. GEORGE GORDOUN, PORTIONER OF KINDROCHT,

sat with Sir Adam Gordoun at the Head Court on 2nd October, 1576, and again on the 3rd when Sir Adam was also accompanied by Mr. Gilbert Bissat, Mr. Robert Leslie, Thomas Crag, and David Gunnar.

The Kindrocht here referred to is the place of that name in the Parish of Rathen. The subject of this notice possessed the shadow

JAMES LESLIE (not designed).

From the want of the books of Court during the young Earl of Huntly's minority, we have not the same full data regarding the office holders, but it may be safely assumed that they were cadets of the family of Leslie, and so we find James Leslie, who is not designed, sitting with his chief in January, 1579 (80).<sup>2</sup> Whether this was the James Leslie already mentioned as sitting in 1564-5 or another, must of course be matter of conjecture.

On 15th September, 1573, James Leslie, burghess of Aberdeen, is cautioner for William Leslie of Tullefour, that the latter shall not molest John Erskin of Bahagardy in the use of the Mill of Petodry under pain of £100.<sup>3</sup>

A James Leslie, burghess of Aberdeen, had a lease of the Leper house and croft and braid myre adjacent thereto, situated between Old and New Aberdeen, for thirteen years from April, 1562.<sup>4</sup>

At a sitting of the Sheriff Court on 23rd June, 1584, the following entry is found, "The said day the Shreff ordanit ane charge and executioun to be gevin to James Lesly for exhibitioun of the Shreff buikis," and on 31st July, 1584, a diligence was granted against James Lesly, burghess of Aberdeen, to produce the books.<sup>5</sup> These entries probably refer to this James Leslie, who, during the period of John Leslie's wardship of the office of Sheriff, had doubtless been his nominee in the deputation, and on demitting office had retained the books applicable to his period of office, which, be it observed, are still missing.

1579 (80). Mr. THOMAS LESLIE, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN,

sat on the service of Robert Innes of Invermarkie already referred to, with Balquhain and James Leslie on 12th January, 1579 (80).<sup>6</sup> On 13th

January, 1566 (7), Thomas Leslie, son of James Leslie, was admitted a burgess, John Leslie, apparent of Balquhane, and William Leslie, his brother, being admitted on the same day.<sup>1</sup>

On 24th June, 1584, Alexander Lesly, son of the late Andrew Lesly, younger of Balquhane, appeared for the purpose of revoking deeds granted by him to his hurt during his minority, and particularly a "tak and assedatione maid to Mr. Thomas Lesly, burges of Abirdene, of ane half net of the raik on the Watter of Dee within the fredome of Abirdene."<sup>2</sup>

1584.           GEORGE GORDOUN, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN
(formerly of Kindrocht).

For the period from October, 1576, to June, 1584, no Court book has been preserved. The Diet Book for 1584, as we have it, is only part of a volume, and it may be that it was really begun when the young Earl of Huntly came of age and the wardship ceased, in 1581 or 1582. In any case, we find in it not Leslies but Gordons sitting in the chief seats.

The George Gordon who first comes into view is obviously the former Sheriff-depute of 1576, who was then portioner of Kindrocht, a designation which the Clerk of Court still occasionally, but of course erroneously, used. His ordinary designation at this period was burgess of Aberdeen. How long he continued to sit after 1584 is not ascertainable from the books of Court.

Some interesting details regarding the genealogy and kindred of this Sheriff-depute's wife, who was also a Gordon, are given in two of the advocations of the period. In particular, she was a great-grand-daughter of George Barclay, described as the young laird of Gartlie.<sup>3</sup> She was also related to the wife of William Menzeis of Ferryhill.<sup>4</sup> sat in Court very frequently with others and alone; but the name is not found in the list of burgesses published in the Miscellany of the New Spalding Club. It occurs, however, twice in the Rental of the Church of succeeded his brother, Sir Adam, in 1580, and took first place on the bench when he sat, except when the Earl of Huntly was present. His stirring career ended at the fight at Glenlivet on 3rd October, 1594. He was related to the family of Menzeis, and in particular to William Menzeis of Ferryhill.<sup>3</sup> sat once, on 23rd June of this year, along with Sir Patrick Gordoun and two others, and is probably the person whose name is found on the Roll of the Society of Advocates in Aberdeen.<sup>4</sup>

1584. JOHN ABERNETHY (not designed)

1584. DAVID MENZEIS, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN.

Mentioned in Diet Book several times. Provost Gilbert Menzeis of Cowlie had a son of this name admitted a burges in 1569 (70).<sup>5</sup> Like several other deutes at this time, he was challenged as suspect on account of relationship in the case of Menzeis v. Bissat.<sup>6</sup> sat several times in October of this year along with the Earl of Huntly, Sir Patrick Gordoun, and others. He was one of the younger brothers of the 5th Earl of Huntly. He had married the widow of Alexander Innes of Innes, and through that marriage came to be designed of Kynnardy in Banffshire.<sup>7</sup> His wife was a daughter of Helen Stewart, Countess of Sutherland, who had also Gordon blood in her veins.

1584. Mr. THOMAS GORDOUN OF KYNNARDY

There is a curious variance about the Lady of Kynnardy's Christian name. In the Records of Aboyne it is Margaret. In Sir William Fraser's book on the Sutherland family she is called Janet, and in the Register of the great seal, Jeanne.

Officials : Sheriffs-Depute

1584-91. Mr. WALTER GORDOUN OF WESTHALL.

Mr. Gordoun sat in Court with some frequency during this year. He seems to have been a son of Bishop William Gordon, who was a son of the 3rd Earl of Huntly, and on 8th May, 1570, he was a witness in Aberdeen to a confirmation by Bishop Gordon of a Charter of the lands of Balfour.<sup>1</sup> He was one of the defenders in the Court of Session action at the instance of Gilbert Bissat, Mair of Fee, dated 5th June, 1589, which has already been referred to. He is designed Sheriff-depute when mentioned as a witness of certain proceedings in Old Aberdeen on 3rd March, 1590-1.<sup>2</sup> Again on 10th December, 1591, there is a complaint against him as Sheriff-depute acting under the special direction of George, Earl of Huntly, for having, along with Gordoun of Haddo, violently entered the Mansion houses and close in Old Aberdeen, called "the Clattis houses and Mains," belonging to Alexander Gordoun of Strathdown and Dame Agnes Sinclair, Countess of Erroll, his spouse, and dispossessed their servants.<sup>3</sup>

1584. Mr. THOMAS MENZEIS, YOUNGER,
BURGESS OF ABERDEEN.

According to the Diet Book, Mr. Menzeis sat frequently. In all probability he was the son of Mr. Gilbert Menzeis elder, mentioned as having been admitted a burges in September, 1579.<sup>4</sup> He seems to have been a baillie of Aberdeen and an elder of the parish church in 1589.<sup>5</sup> was depute under John Leslie of Balquhain, as has been seen, in 1579-80, and during the period of Lord Huntly's forfeiture after Glenlivat. He seems to have acted as the stated depute, sitting constantly, sometimes with others, but most frequently alone. His last recorded sitting was on 20th December, 1597; but when the Earl of Huntly in April, 1598, appointed a Gordon as Sheriff-depute, Mr. Thomas Leslie, designing himself as "depute to Johne Leslie of Balquhane," appeared and sat occasionally during these years. His name is not on the list of burgesses published in the Miscellany of the Club.

1595-8. Mr. THOMAS LESLIE, BURGESS OF ABERDEEN

sat on 31st July of this year, but is not designed. A person of the same name sat occasionally during the early years of the seventeenth century who was generally designed burgess of Aberdeen, but on one occasion "Armiger," and on another Mair depute.

1596.              WILLIAM LESLIE OF WARTHILL, appointed a Sheriff-depute by Balquhain, and sworn in on Whitsunday even, 29th May of this year.<sup>2</sup> It is quite possible that he may have acted, but in the Diet Books that have come to us, his name appears in this capacity on this single occasion.

According to Col. Leslie's history of the family, this William Leslie was the third son of William Leslie of Wardes by Janet Innes, daughter of Robert Innes of Innermarkie, his immediately elder brother being George Leslie of Crichtie. In his lifetime he must have acquired the shadow half of Mekill Warthill, and a croft on the west side of the King's highway from Old Aberdeen to the Bridge of Don, because his immediately elder brother was served as heir of conquest to these on 31st July, 1606.<sup>3</sup>

He was an educated man as indicated by his being styled "Magister," and also with some knowledge of the law, for he was the writer of a submission granted by the Master of Forbes and others of that name to Alexander Irvine of Drum, for settlement of an outrage committed by William Forbes in Tirrivail and others upon some of Irvine's friends, dated 27th January, 1606.<sup>4</sup>

His death, according to the service above referred to, took place in the month of March, 1606.

1598-1600. JOHN GORDON IN HALTOUNE OF FINTRAY.

JOHN GORDON OF BOIGIS.

The last appointment of a Sheriff-depute in the sixteenth century was that of John Gordon in Haltoune of Fintray in April, 1598.<sup>1</sup> The books contain no trace of any other appointment for nearly twenty years afterwards, and for that and a number of other reasons, the view adopted by the editor is that John Gordon in Haltoune of Fintray and John Gordon of Boigis were identical. His appointment was during the pleasure of the Earl of Huntly who appointed him. The career of this Sheriff-depute belongs chiefly to the first twenty years of the seventeenth century, when he is variously designed as of "Tillygreig," "Lentusche," and "Little Gowill," and it is purposed to write of him more fully when dealing with the officials of that century.

The Sheriff Clerks.<sup>1</sup>

Circa 1535-1539(40). Mr. DAVID NICHOLSON.

In an official list of the Notaries of the Diocese numbering 28, made up on 3rd April, 1540, there appears fifth on the list the name of Mr. David Nicholson "in oppido Aberdonensi."<sup>2</sup> His place on the list would naturally be taken to indicate that he was at the time among the senior members of the body, and this is borne out by the date of his protocol book, which is among the Burgh Records, viz., 9th February, 1520(1) to 12th January, 1534(5).<sup>3</sup>

The precise date of his appointment as Vicar of Maryculter, or as Town Clerk or Depute Town Clerk of Aberdeen, has not been ascertained; but he was designed Clerk of Court (apparently the Baillie Court) as early as 20th April, 1519,<sup>4</sup> as Clerk of the Diocese of Aberdeen as early as August, 1522,<sup>5</sup> and as common clerk of Aberdeen as late as August, 1541.<sup>6</sup> In the testing clause of the very important obligation granted by the Provost, Baillies, Council, and Community of Aberdeen to Bishop Gavin Dunbar (14th December, 1529) for the maintenance of the Bridge of Dee, which the Bishop had erected, Mr. Nicholson is designed "Vicar of Mareculter and Scribe of our Court."<sup>7</sup>

It is stated in a footnote on page 410 of Mr. Anderson's Charters relating to the Burgh, that he was appointed Town Clerk depute in 1530. On the other hand, he is repeatedly styled "scribe of our court" in the extracts from the Council Register of the Burgh in 1530, and specially on 28th November of that year, where he is designed "clerk of thair court."<sup>8</sup>

1 Although, as stated in the introduction to this part, the office of Sheriff Clerk was an ancient one, and names of office-holders have been found now and again at a very much earlier period, it has been thought best not to include any previous to the 16th century.

Officials : Sheriff Clerks

When he originally obtained the appointment of Sheriff Clerk has not been ascertained, but it is clear that it was before October, 1535, because he then styled himself "David Nicholsons artium professor scribaque communis vicecomitatus de Abirden."<sup>1</sup>

As the years passed, he apparently began to be anxious to provide for his family, and so we find an entry in the Privy Seal Register notifying that on 5th March, 1539(40), there was a gift to Mr. David Nicholson, Vicar of "Mareculter," and Robert Nicholson of the office of Sheriff Clerk of Aberdeenshire for their lives.<sup>2</sup>

The identity of Robert Nicholsons is made plain by another entry in the same Register on the same day and page, of the following tenor, "Legitimation to said Robert, bastard son of said Mr. David." This brings us to the joint Sheriff Clerkship of father and son.

1539(40)-1543.

Mr. DAVID NICHOLSON
AND
ROBERT NICHOLSON.

The joint Sheriff Clerkship of Mr. David Nicholson and his son, Robert, lasted for three years, when it was terminated by the death of the former. A case was decided against Mr. David in the Baillie Court on 8th February, 1543, which he appealed to the Court of Session.<sup>3</sup> Between that day and the 12th March next following he had died. The approximate date of his death is fixed in a curious way. Robert, the son, had applied to the Burgh Court to be served heir to his father. In ignorance or defiance of his letters of legitimation, they had refused to carry through his service, on which he appealed the matter to Edinburgh, and on 12th March obtained royal letters charging the court to enter him as heir to his father, and declaring that they should not be called in question for so doing. These letters were entered in the Burgh Court books on 24th March, 1543.<sup>4</sup>

In virtue of the letter of gift granted to his father and him, Robert Nicholson continued to hold office until about 1558. In a letter of gift made to his brother, James Nicholson, who, as will be seen, was Sheriff Clerk from 1563 to 1564, the tenure of office of Mr. David and Robert and the manner of the latter's deprivation are thus set forth. "Quhilk [office] vmquhile Maister David Nicolsoun his fader had of our souerane ladyis maist noble fader of maist worthy memorie And broukit the same all his lyfetyme be vertew thairof Likeas Robert Nicholsoun bruder to the said James be himself and his substitutis usit the same thaireftir divers yeiris quhill within thir fyve yeiris or thairby that umquhile George Erle of Huntlie Shiref principall of the said Shirefdome put thame thairfra without ony falt and but ony ordour be way of deid."<sup>1</sup> As James Nicholson's appointment was dated 29th May, 1563, Robert's ejection must have taken place about the same time in 1558.

1558-63.

Mr. ANDREW LESLIE

(First Term of Office).

Mr. Andrew Leslie, who was intruded by the Earl of Huntly into the office of Sheriff Clerk, was, like Mr. David Nicholson, both a churchman and a notary and also a pluralist. By birth he belonged to the Cults branch of the Leslie family, being the great-grandson of Malcolm Leslie, the first laird of Cults, who was the illegitimate son of Sir Andrew Leslie, the 3rd Baron of Balquhain, by the Fair Maid of Strathdon. His father was George Leslie of Erlisfield, who was wounded at Flodden and who died of his wounds after returning to the north.<sup>2</sup>

Allusion has already been made to the list of admissions of notaries made up or completed to 1540. On that list Mr. Andrew Leslie occupies the 26th place, indicating his comparatively recent admission.<sup>3</sup>

Nearly thirteen years before then, however, we find a Mr. Andrew Leslie acting as one of the witnesses to an Instrument taken in the Monastery of Monymusk on 3rd November, 1527, when a King's messenger made a demand for £12, and was offered but refused a payment of £8 to account, which was apparently all the reverend father superior could raise at the time.<sup>4</sup>

Officials : Sheriff Clerks

In his capacity of Notary, the subject of our notice officiated in connection with the induction in October, 1547, of Francis Cheyne to the Parish Church of Ellon, when he designed himself "Artium magister presbyter Aberdonensis diocesis."<sup>1</sup> In 1550 he seems to have been Clerk of the Parish of Daviot, a place which he resigned in favour of one John Leslie, a student and scholar in Old Aberdeen, whose duties were to be performed by a certain William Philp as depute.<sup>2</sup> There is about this transaction the suggestion of nepotism, such as was plainly disclosed in the appointment of Mr. David Nicholson's son to be joint Sheriff Clerk in 1540.

In December, 1556, he was acting as secretary to Bishop William Gordon.<sup>3</sup>

Mr. Andrew Leslie was also a Canon of Aberdeen and Prebendary of Ellon as early as 1558, and at least as late as 1566.<sup>4</sup>

It may be quite safely assumed that, when Lord Huntly ejected Robert Nicholson about 1558, he appointed Mr. Andrew Leslie to be Sheriff Clerk, but no royal confirmation of the appointment has been found. In the circumstances such approval was not to be expected, and so, when the death of his patron at Corrichie and the subsequent forfeiture and fall of the Huntly family took place, this appointment would fall with them.

Evidence of his position as Sheriff Clerk during this period, if it had been necessary, exists, and special reference may be again made to the conveyance of the office of Mair of Fee, &c., by George Bissat to Mr. Gilbert Bissat on 9th December, 1560, to which Mr. Andrew Leslie, designed as principal Sheriff Clerk, was a witness.<sup>5</sup>

the dayis of his lyff” have already been partly given. After describing how Robert Nicholson had been deprived the narrative proceeds, “Quhilk office togidder with the office of Shirefschip ar becum in our Souerane ladyis handis And at hir Maiesteis dispositioun be ressoun of forfaltour ordourlie led aganis the said umquhile Erle for certane crymes of tressoun and lesemaiestie committit be him as at mair lenth is contenit in the proces and dome of forfaltour led thairupoun.”

Instead of seeking office in Aberdeen like his brother Robert, James Nicholson sought his fortune by pursuing the legal profession in Edinburgh, where several glimpses of him are to be had previous to his obtaining (evidently as a sinecure) the Sheriff Clerkship of Aberdeenshire.

He was, in Edinburgh in 1554, one of the witnesses to a lease of the fishings of Banchory-Devenick granted to Sir George Meldrum of Fyvie, the real owner of them, by Mr. Robert Richesoun, Vicar of Eckfurd, who was heritable possessor in security of 800 merks lent to Sir George.<sup>1</sup> The next occasion on which his name appears is on 5th February, 1556(7). He then acted as witness and Notary Public in verifying the execution, by the Russian Envoy, of a Power of Attorney to certain persons authorizing them to recover the goods and merchandise on board a vessel called the “Edward Bonaventure,” which had been wrecked near Buchanness on 6th November, 1556.<sup>2</sup> One of the other witnesses was William Maitland of Lethington, Clerk of the Privy Council. Once more, he was a witness to a Charter of Confirmation by Robert, minister of Failfurd and Convent thereof, and Brother John Quhytcors, sub-minister, of their place of Aberdeen to Patrick Menzeis, son and heir of Alexander Menzeis of Wattertoun, of the lands of Ferryhill, dated at Edinburgh, 23rd May, 1558.<sup>3</sup> Hé had become Clerk to the Signet before 1563; but nothing definite regarding his subsequent history has been ascertained, except that he resigned (possibly under pressure, possibly for a pecuniary consideration) the office of Sheriff Clerk at some date prior to 9th February, 1565 (6), when Mr. Andrew Leslie had a gift of the office. There is evidence of his acting as a Notary in Edinburgh as late as 1st March, 1573 (4).<sup>4</sup>

Circa 1564-1571.

Mr. ANDREW LESLIE
(Second Term of Office).

The narrative of Mr. Andrew Leslie's gift of the office of Sheriff Clerk, dated 9th February, 1565 (6) was in the following terms:—"Our soueranis vnderstanding that thair louit Maister Androw Leslie persoun of Dulmaak hes usit and exercit the office of Schirrefclerkschip of thair Schirrefdome of Abirdene sufficientlie and honestlie thir diuers yeiris bigane and is presentlie in possessioun thair of abill and qualifit for using and exerceing of the samin office Thairfore and for divers uthiris ressonabill causis and considerationis moving thair maiesteis ordanis ane lettre, &c. But ony revocatioun."<sup>1</sup>

It is plain, however, from entries in the books of Court, that Mr. Leslie had returned to office as Sheriff Clerk before the end of 1564.<sup>2</sup> When he received the formal Letter of Gift, he was parson of Drumoak, while on 17th September, 1566, he had a tack of the Chanonie and prebend of the Cathedral Kirk of Aberdeen when it shall happen "to vaik."<sup>3</sup> He appears to have succeeded John Leslie, afterwards Bishop of Ross, as parson of Oyne,<sup>4</sup> and before his death he was parson of Fetternear.<sup>5</sup> In that capacity he granted an eighteen years' lease of the parsonage and vicarage teinds of the lands of Fetternear to John Leslie, 10th Baron of Balquhain, on 22nd September, 1569.<sup>6</sup> In addition to all

WILLIAM BRUCE.

William Bruce was a Notary Public at least as early as December, 1567.<sup>2</sup> He was as we have seen Sheriff Clerk depute in the year 1571.<sup>3</sup> The only direct authority for believing that he succeeded Mr. Andrew Leslie in the principal office is his being designed on 12th July, 1574, “Scryib of the said Shrefdome;”<sup>4</sup> but there has not been found evidence of any other appointment between Mr. Leslie's death and the appointment of Mr. Alexander Fraser about the year 1580.

His death took place before June, 1584, when his widow, Elizabeth Forbes, along with others, was judicially called upon to produce the Books of Court.<sup>5</sup>

A burghess of this name was admitted (ex gratia) on March 8th, 1566(7).<sup>6</sup>

1580-95.

Mr. ALEXANDER FRASER.

In consequence of the dispute between John Leslie of Balquhain and Fraser, which was one of the most interesting cases before the Privy Council in 1595, there exists no uncertainty whatever about this Sheriff Clerk's appointment or the period during which he retained it.

In his complaint to the Privy Council in August, 1595, he stated that in June of that year he had been turned out of the office, to which he had been appointed by the Earl of Huntly and Sir Patrick Gordon of Auchindoun fourteen years before, and in which he had been confirmed by the Crown.<sup>7</sup> Further evidence of the recognition of the Crown is found in the account of Mr. William Anderson's installation in the office in June, 1597.<sup>1</sup>

He was proprietor of Frosterhill, and a Notary Public.<sup>2</sup> He was also a burghess, having been admitted as the son of Mr. John Fraser on 25th April, 1580.<sup>3</sup>

His lawsuit with Balquhain was not his only litigation. Before 2nd January, 1593(4) Fraser had applied for lawborrows against Mr. John Cheyne of Fortrie, the Provost, and John Collison and others, the Baillies of Aberdeen, who had taken steps to have the order for caution suspended.<sup>4</sup>

The Provost appeared personally before the Privy Council at Edinburgh on 26th January, and made a statement against Fraser, who did not appear, the result being that the Lords suspended Fraser's letters.<sup>5</sup> The Provost's statement on behalf of himself and the other suspenders was as follows:—"Mr. Alexander Fraser, sheriff clerk of the shire of Abirdene, alleging that he was troubled by the complainers in his lands of Frosterhill, had obtained a decree of Privy Council charging them to find caution within a certain period that he and his men should be harmless of them, and intends, in case of their disobedience, to put them to the horn. Now, the said Mr. Alexander is not 'ane free subject,' having been denounced rebel upon 5th March, 1592, at their instance for not delivering to them the protocol book of the late Mr. Johnne Kennedy, common clerk of the said burgh. Remaining 'maist proudlie and contempnandlie' at the horn, he had been charged to enter in ward and to deliver his dwelling houses under pain of treason, but had 'verie tressounable' disobeyed that command also. He is, therefore, not a person to whom the complainers ought to be obliged to find caution."

Apparently the municipal authorities had almost immediately afterwards applied for lawborrows against Fraser, for there was registered at Edinburgh on 22nd February a Bond of Caution, dated 9th February, by John Leslie of Balquhain, for £1000, that Fraser should not harm the Provost, Baillies, Council and community of Aberdeen.<sup>6</sup>

Aberdeenshire Sheriff Court :

He was still in default on 24th July, 1594, when the following short entry occurs in the Register:—"Alexander Fraser of Phillorth for Mr. Alexander Fraser, sheriff clerk of Abirdene, to pay 10 merks for his escheat, or report nullity of the horning against him for not finding lawsurety to the community of Abirdene."<sup>1</sup>

He had made his peace with the burgh before 25th September, 1594, when the following entry was placed in the Burgh Records:—"Mr. Alexander Fraser (quha was obofoir upon certain occasionis and enormiteis committit be him deposit off his fredome and libertie of Burgeschip of the burght, was of new agane creat burges of gild of the same and restorit to his former libertie, quha renuncit all exemptione fra taxationis."<sup>2</sup>

The quarrel between Balquhain and the Sheriff Clerk did not break out immediately after the temporary eclipse of the Huntly family in the autumn of 1594, but according to Fraser's account, Leslie, whom he styles Sheriff-depute, had for some time before it actually took place, been scheming for a plausible pretext for evicting him. Fraser obtained an order on 14th August, 1595, against Balquhain and against Messrs. John Leith and William Reid, who had been appointed to succeed him, to denounce them rebels.<sup>3</sup>

On 31st October they found caution, Leslie in 3000 merks, and Leith and Reid in 500 merks each, not to harm Fraser, specially in the using of his office of Sheriff Clerkship, Robert Keith of Benholm being cautioner.<sup>4</sup>

On the petition of Leslie, Leith, and Reid, personally supported by Leslie, and in the absence of Fraser, the letters against them at his instance were on 28th January, 1595 (6), suspended.

They made serious charges of breach of faith against Fraser in connection with the first calling of his complaint, and stated that "in the meantyme he craftelie convoyed himselff furth of the cuntrey."<sup>5</sup>

Officials : Sheriff Clerks

1595-7.

Mr. JOHN LEITH.

Mr. WILLIAM REID.

No trace has been found of Mr. Leith acting, and although he was one of the defenders in the proceedings at Mr. Alexander Fraser's instance, his name is not mentioned at the time of Mr. William Anderson's installation, when both Mr. Fraser and Mr. Reid were referred to as having claims to the office, which required to be discharged.

He was a Notary and also an Advocate in Aberdeen, his name appearing on the list of the latter as having been admitted in 1595.

Mr. William Reid caused his entry to the office to be conspicuously chronicled on the title page of the Diet Book for 1595-6,<sup>1</sup> and held office up to the time of Mr. Anderson's appointment.<sup>2</sup>

Before he engaged in business as a Notary and Advocate on his own account, he was in the office of Mr. Patrick Cheyne,<sup>3</sup> which would account for his acting as a partisan of Mr. John Cheyne of Fortric, in the affray which is picturesquely described in the following complaint by Mr. George Abercromby to the Privy Council on 10th May, 1593 4 :—

“Complaint as follows by Mr. George Abercromby, writer to the signet, ordinary solicitor and agent for the King's treasurer, and lately provided to the office of one of the commissaries of Abirdene by presentation of the Lords of Council and Session :—Having repaired lately to the burgh of Abirdeine for performing ‘certane effairis concerning the office of thesaurarie’ entrusted to him by Sir Robert Melvill of Murdocairny, treasurer-depute, and also for certain affairs concerning the Lords of Council and Session committed to him by Alexander Hay of Easter Kennat, Clerk of the Register, who has ‘chairge of the saidis Lordis in thair effairis within the boundis of the jurisdiction of the Commissariat of Abirdeine,’ the complainer had expected no injury from any, partly because he had offended none, partly because of the service in which he was employed, and chiefly because George, Earl of Merschall, his Majesty's commissioner between the North Water and Spey, ‘movit Mr. Johnne Cheyne of Fortric (that laitlie had travellit for the said office of commissariat) and the said Compleinar to schaik handis.’ Nevertheless, the said Mr. Johnne Cheine, ‘forgetfull of the reconsiliatioun,

Mr. Williame Reid and Gilbert Doye having been charged to appear this day and answer, and not appearing, while the complainer appears personally, are to be denounced rebels."

Eighteen months later (22nd August, 1594), we find Mr. George Abercromby and Mr. William Reid signing together as witnesses to a bond of caution in a case of lawborrows.<sup>1</sup>

On the list of the Society of Advocates, he appears as William Reid of Barra, admitted in 1589.

JOHN LESLIE.

It is a little difficult to follow the course of events which resulted in the appointment, on 21st July, 1595, of John Leslie, Notary Public, as Sheriff Clerk along with Mr. William Reid. Possibly Mr. John Leith, who was originally nominated along with Reid, had withdrawn in consequence of Fraser's opposition. However that might be, there can be no doubt that Leslie, whose name appears occasionally in the records of the period as a Notary and follows next after that of Leith on the list of the Society of Advocates in Aberdeen, accepted office and was sworn in. No other mention of him in the capacity of Sheriff Clerk has been found, and no notice of him is taken in the account of Mr. William Anderson's installation.

1597-1600.

Mr. WILLIAM ANDERSON.

Although Mr. Anderson is called a burghess of Aberdeen on the occasion of his taking office as Sheriff Clerk, his name does not appear on the published list. He was a Notary, and admitted an Advocate in Aberdeen in 1584. There are evidences throughout the public records that he acted as Notary in more than one Gordon transaction, and from subsequent events it is plain that he was closely allied with that family and their chief.

The conferring of the office upon the Countess of Huntly's nominee was an indication of the secret favour of King James VI. for the family, in spite of their headstrong resistance to authority, and it is worthy of note in this connection, that Mr. Anderson's installation preceded by only a few days the famous submission of the Earls of Huntly and Erroll to the Church, and their release from excommunication.

The history of Mr. Anderson's long period of service as Sheriff Clerk belongs, however, not to the 16th but to the 17th century.

The Procurators Fiscal.

1584-(?)92.

Mr. GEORGE BARCLAY.

Mr. George Barclay was admitted an Advocate in Aberdeen in 1568 and a burgess in 1569.<sup>1</sup> He was also a Notary Public, and was married to one Marjory Cheyne before 1581, when he and she had conveyed to them the ruined buildings in connection with the Churches of Snow and Invernochtie in Old Aberdeen.<sup>2</sup> His name occurs very frequently in the latter part of the 16th century, and when the office of Procurator Fiscal is first mentioned in the Sheriff Court books in 1584,<sup>3</sup> it was filled by him.

Mr. George Barclay seems to have been considerably employed in connection with the affairs of the Earl of Erroll, and signed as a witness at Slains on 2nd December, 1592,<sup>4</sup> being then designed "Advocate." In January following he was a witness at Banff under the designation "Advocate in Aberdeen."<sup>5</sup> At Turriff in April, 1594,<sup>6</sup> a Mr. George Barclay, Notary Public and Sheriff Clerk of Banffshire, signed as a witness to a Charter by Francis Earl of Erroll, and a similar instance is found in September, 1597.<sup>7</sup> On the latter occasion Mr. William Barclay, the successor of Mr. George as Fiscal in Aberdeenshire, was also a witness. In the whole circumstances it may be inferred with some degree of confidence that, after being Fiscal in Aberdeenshire, the subject of this notice obtained the office of Sheriff Clerk of Banffshire.

Mr. WILLIAM BARCLAY

became an Advocate in Aberdeen in 1595, and was Procurator Fiscal in succession to Mr. George Barclay, whose son or near relation he probably was. He acted as a witness, along with Mr. George, to a Charter by Lord Erroll in May, 1592,<sup>8</sup> and other entries in the Register of the Great Seal indicate close relations with the Erroll family. His wife's name was Agnes Hay,<sup>9</sup> but her descent has not been discovered.

SIXTEENTH REPORT BY THE COUNCIL.

Submitted at the Sixteenth Annual General Meeting of the New Spalding Club, held on Wednesday, 31st December, 1902, at 2.30 p.m.

SINCE the last General Meeting, held on Tuesday, 31st December, 1901, two volumes have been issued to members, viz. :—

THE ALBEMARLE PAPERS, 1746-48. Edited by Charles Sanford Terry, M.A. 2 vols. (Pp. 572 + lxxxvii., with eight plates. Fifteenth Annual Report).

The printing of two other works is well advanced, and they will, it is hoped, be issued early in 1903. They are :—

I.—THE HOUSE OF GORDON. Vol. I. Edited by John Malcolm Bulloch, M.A. As explained in last Report, this work takes the form of monographs by different writers dealing with the history of the family and its various branches. Of these the following have been printed off and will be included in Vol. I. :—

Genealogical Account of the Family of Gordon. By James Gordon of Balbithan, circa 1730. From a MS. lent by Mrs. Dalrymple of Kinellar Lodge. 68 pp.

The Gordons of Abergeldie. By J. M. Bulloch. 48 pp.

The Gordons of Coclarachie. By the Rev. Stephen Ree, B.D., Boharm. 48 pp.

The Gordons of Gight. By J. M. Bulloch. 146 pp.

Volume I. will be completed by a series of Appendices containing lists of all Gordon entries in the Services of Heirs for Scotland, 1545-1799, in the Poll Book of 1696, in the Albums of the Scottish Universities, in the Records of Parliament, of the Church of Scotland, of the Faculty of Advocates, and of the Society of Writers to the Signet ; and by a full Bibliography of extant Gordon MSS. and accounts of the family in printed books.

Volume II. will contain some at least of the following items :—

The Gordons of Lesmoir. By Captain Douglas Wimberley.

The Gordons of Beldornie. By the Rev. Charles Bruce, M.A., Glenrinnes.

The Gordons of Glenbucket or of Park. By J. M. Bulloch.

Historiae compendium de origine et incremento Gordoniae familiae. By John Ferrerius, circa 1545. From MSS. in the Advocates' Library, in Gordon Castle, and in the possession of Mrs. Dalrymple : collated by Rev. S. Ree.

Origo et progressus familiae Gordoniorum. By Robert Gordon of Straloch, circa 1655. From the original MS. : also to be edited by Rev. S. Ree.

The Pourtrait of True Loyalty Exposed in the Family of Gordon. By David Burnet, circa 1691. From the original MS.

Vera Narratio ingentis et miraculi plenae victoriae apud Avinum. By Alexander Macquair, S.J., circa 1594. From a MS. in the Advocates' Library.

The Council has pleasure in reporting that the President of the Club intimates his intention of contributing a volume to the series of Gordon monographs, dealing with the branch of the family which he represents, and edited by the Rev. James Brebner, M.A., Forgue.

The Council recognises with much satisfaction this proof of the President's interest in the welfare of the Club, recalling that taken in the original Spalding Club by its President, the fourth Earl of Aberdeen, who contributed two of the largest and most important volumes, the "Collections on Aberdeen and Banff," edited by Joseph Robertson, and the "Fasti Aberdonenses," edited by Cosmo Innes.

II.—THE RECORDS OF ELGIN. Compiled by William Cramond, LL.D. Vol. I. Municipal Elgin. Of this there have been printed off the portions dealing with

Elgin in Pre-Reformation Times ;

Elgin Burgh Court Book, 1540-1800 ; and in the press are selections from

Elgin Town Council Minutes, 1636-1800.

As explained in last Report the volume will be enriched with extra illustrations through the generosity of Colonel G. A. Cooper. The second volume will be devoted mainly to "Ecclesiastical Elgin".

A third work which is now ready for press and the printing of which will proceed during 1903, is :—

III.—THE RECORDS OF THE SHERIFFDOM OF ABERDEEN. Vol. I. Edited by David Littlejohn, Sheriff Clerk. The volume will deal with four classes of Records in the custody of the Editor :—

1. Diet Books of Court, 1503 to 1749, in 31 volumes. The earliest of these begins at a period many years prior in date to any other extant Scottish judicial record : the oldest known being the Books of the Sheriff Courts of Perthshire and Fifeshire, in 1570 and 1575 respectively. The contents of the Diet

Books are extremely varied, and a general description will be given of each volume, with a complete table of contents of the two oldest volumes (1503-11 and 1557-60).

2. Books of Extended Decrees, 1597 to 1693, in 13 volumes. In dealing with these more detail will be given; such entries being noticed or quoted as seem to refer to persons, places or subjects that are interesting or illustrative.
3. Books of Judicial Enactments, 1605 to 1729, in 8 volumes. These relate to persons appearing in Court and undertaking obligations of very varied character, and will be dealt with in the same method as the Decrees.
4. Books of Fiars Courts, with tables of Fiars Prices beginning with crop 1603, being a quarter of a century earlier in date than Sheriff's Fiars found for any other Scottish county: incomplete until 1690, after which they are continuous.

Volume II. will analyse the Diet Books and treat of their contents under separate heads. It will also deal with

5. Registers of Deeds, 1606 to 1766, in 35 volumes.
6. Record Books of Criminal Trials from 1733.
7. Records of Services of Heirs.
8. Proceedings at Elections of Members of Parliament (occasional), from John Leslie of Balquhane and Sir Alexander Fraser of Fraserburgh in 1595-6.
9. Lists of all Officials of the Court, with biographical notes, from P. de Maleuille, sheriff in 1222.

IV.—BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE SHIRES OF ABERDEEN, BANFF, AND KINCARDINE. On the suggestion of the Joint Editors, the Council has approved of an arrangement by which Mr. A. W. Robertson will edit Part I., to consist of a chronological and bibliographical catalogue of all works which by reason of their subject, or of their place of preparation or publication, are considered worthy of full treatment ; and Mr. J. F. Kellas Johnstone will edit Part II., to consist of an abbreviated alphabetical list of all works either described in Part I., or worthy of inclusion because of their authors' birth or education within the three counties, together with summaries of the outstanding facts in the careers of the authors. Mr. J. P. Edmond has courteously permitted the incorporation in the "Bibliography" of such portions of his well-known "Aberdeen Printers," with additions, as are pertinent to the plan recommended by the editors.

It is not necessary, at present, to do more than refer to the undernoted works which are approaching completeness in the hands of their respective editors.

- V.—DIARY OF THE SCOTS COLLEGE AT DOUAI. Edited by the Rev. William Forbes Leith, S.J., who writes that he is most anxious to have the book ready before the end of 1903.
- VI.—RECORDS OF OLD ABERDEEN. Edited by Alexander M. Munro, Vol. II. [See 12th Report, p. 5.]
- VII.—RECORDS OF THE ABERDEEN FRIARS: RED, BLACK, WHITE AND GREY, 1211-1560. Edited by Francis C. Eeles. [See 14th Report, p. 7.]
- VIII.—RECORDS OF THE SYNOD OF MORAY: With Fasti of Schoolmasters. Edited by the Rev. Stephen Ree, B.D. [See 7th Report, p. 5.]
- IX.—FOLKLORE OF NORTH-EASTERN SCOTLAND, based on the MS. Collections of the late Rev. Walter Gregor, LL.D. Edited by James E. Crombie, M.A. [See 12th Report, p. 6.]

X.—THE RISE OF NATURAL SCIENCE IN THE NORTH OF SCOTLAND, based on the MS. Collections of the late David Skene, M.D. Edited by Professor J. W. H. Trail, F.R.S. [See 4th Report, p. 6.]

In its last Report the Council had occasion to speak of the late Mr. William Troup's MS. collections regarding the FAMILY OF FORBES, which have come into the possession of the Club. Since the adoption of that Report certain portions of Mr. Troup's papers were tested by a careful comparison with original records. The results were so discouraging that the Sub-Committee (Colonel Allardyce and Mr. Alexander Forbes), who were requested to examine Mr. Troup's papers, were constrained to report that "though there is a great deal of valuable matter in the MSS. they do not consider that the Club can take any action in the matter of Mr. Troup's History". The Council can, therefore, only reiterate its opinion that if a History of the Family of Forbes is to be undertaken, it must be begun de novo on more modern lines, and in the light of recent Record publications; preferably according to the method adopted for the House of Gordon.

The Executive Committee, at a meeting held in May last, approved a proposal made by Mr. James Wilson, who was then Fordyce lecturer in the University, to revive the scheme of issuing a volume dealing with the HISTORY OF AGRICULTURE in North-Eastern Scotland—a project which had fallen to the ground through the death of Dr. William Alexander, who had undertaken the editorship. Mr. Wilson called attention to the Minutes of the Farming Club at Gordon's Mill, 1758-65, an interesting MS. in the University Library; to a collection of diaries and miscellaneous papers preserved at Warhill illustrative of the agricultural and domestic arrangements of several centuries past, to which Mr. Arbuthnot Leslie has promised free access; to the "Rental of the Forbes Estates in 1552," affording detailed information regarding the rural economy of the county in the sixteenth century, which Lord Forbes has placed at the disposal of the Club; and to several similar rentals of Mar in the 17th century, preserved at Aboyne Castle. Mr. Wilson expressed the belief that many other proprietors in the district could furnish further illustrative material. The Committee authorised the preparation of a volume such as suggested, to be edited by Mr. Wilson; and the transcription of several MSS. was begun. Mr. Wilson has recently accepted a Professorship of Agriculture in Dublin, but the Council hopes that—possibly after a little delay—he will still be able to spare the time necessary for carrying out the scheme that he had suggested.

It will be in the recollection of members that at last General Meeting a motion was submitted by the Rev. John Milne, LL.D., late of King Edward, and seconded by the Rev. A. J. Milne, LL.D., Fyvie, in the following terms:—

"That the Executive Committee be requested to take measures for the publication annually of one or more volumes giving a full and minute history of the North-Eastern Counties of Scotland for some definite period".

This motion was remitted to the Committee for report. The Committee, after careful consideration of a detailed explanation of his proposal by Dr. Milne, came reluctantly to the conclusion: "That the scheme suggested by Dr. Milne is not merely beyond the means at the disposal of the Club, but is also outwith its functions, which they consider to be rather to provide material for historians than to undertake extensive historical works". This decision the Council endorses.

In continuation of the set of thirty portraits mentioned in the Eleventh Report, p. 6, proof impressions of the following eight have been presented to the Scottish National Portrait Gallery, and have been gratefully acknowledged by the Trustees : Sir Thomas Burnett, 1st bart. of Leys; Lord Monboddo; Miss Burnett of Monboddo; John Farquharson of Invercauld; James Farquharson of Invercauld; Francis Farquharson of Monaltrie; William Anne, 2nd Earl of Albemarle; George, 3rd Earl of Albemarle.

Since the last Report was submitted by the Council, eleven members of the Club have died : Dr. John Barclay, Banff; Mr. James H. Brown, Ellon; Monsignor James A. Campbell, D.D., Rome; Mr. J. M. Chivas, Turriff; Mr. Alexander Geddes of Blairmore; Mr. Alexander Mackay, Aberdeen; Mr. Alexander Macpherson, Kingussie; Mr. Peter Mitchell, Aberdeen; Rev. T. M. Pirie, Elgin; Mr. G. F. Raeburn, Ellon; Colonel J. G. Smith of Delnabo. The places rendered vacant by some of these deaths have, under Rule 9, been filled by representatives of the deceased members, but other vacancies allow the admission of new members.

As new members are usually desirous of securing a full set of the Club's publications, it may be stated that although the earlier issues are entirely out of print (as indicated on p. 17), the volumes occasionally come into the market, and the Secretary can usually direct a new member to a source whence they may be obtained.

The Council wishes to express its continued obligation to the Society of Advocates for permitting the Annual General Meeting of the Club to be held in the Society's Hall; and to the Curator of the University Library for granting the use of a room for Committee meetings.

RULES.

(As approved 11th November, 1886, and amended 16th December, 1886, 21st December 1894, and 29th December, 1897.)

1. The objects of the New Spalding Club shall be to promote the study of the History, Topography, and Archæology of the North-eastern Counties of Scotland, and to print works illustrative thereof.
2. The Club shall consist of five hundred [16th Dec., 1886] members, subscribers of one guinea annually: each subscription to be paid on or before the first day of January in each year.
3. The general management of the affairs of the Club shall be vested in a Council, consisting of a President, at least ten Vice-Presidents, and not fewer than forty ordinary members, including a Secretary and a Treasurer: all to be chosen yearly at a General Meeting of the Club, to be held at Aberdeen, in the Month of October, or at such other time within each year as may be found convenient. At all Meetings of the Council seven members shall form a quorum.
4. Immediately after the Annual General Meeting the Council shall elect Acting Committees to carry on the work of the Club.
5. The accounts of the Club shall be audited annually, by two Auditors, to be chosen at the Annual Meeting from among the members.
6. The name of any member in arrear with his annual subscription on the first day of October in each year may be removed from the list of members.
7. Vacancies in the membership shall be filled up according to priority of application.
8. Members may, at any time, compound for all future annual subscriptions, by payment of ten guineas over and above the subscription for the current year; and it shall be in the power of the Council to exempt from subscriptions, annual or other, any member who may present to the Club a work, the printing of which, as a Club publication, has been sanctioned by the Council.
9. Every member shall receive one copy of every volume assigned by the Club to the years for which he has paid subscriptions; and the editor of each work shall receive five additional copies of his work. [The heir, executor or representative of a member shall have no claim to volumes issued by the Club after the member's death, unless he be admitted a member of the Club in place of the deceased. 21st Dec., 1894.]

10. The number of copies printed in each case shall not exceed five hundred and twenty-five, and no copy of any work printed by the Club shall be offered by it for sale; [but it shall be competent for the Editorial Committee to arrange for extra copies not exceeding twenty-five, additional to the five hundred and twenty-five, of any volume considered appropriate, to be placed at the disposal of the University of Aberdeen, which shall refund to the Club the prime cost of such extra copies, and employ them, outwith the bounds of the United Kingdom, as part of a series of inter-academical publications. 29th Dec., 1897.]
11. The Club shall undertake the issue of its books without the intervention of publishers or booksellers.
12. A General Meeting of the Club may be called at any time on presentation to the Secretary of a requisition signed by twenty members; and the above rules may be altered at any General Meeting, provided that the members have received from the Secretary at least fourteen days' notice of the proposed change.

SEVENTEENTH REPORT BY THE COUNCIL.

Approved at the Seventeenth Annual General Meeting of the New Spalding Club, held on Tuesday, 29th December, 1903, at 3 p.m.

SINCE the last General Meeting, held on Wednesday, 31st December, 1902, two large volumes have been issued to members, viz. :—

I.—THE HOUSE OF GORDON. Edited by John Malcolm Bulloch, M.A. Vol. I., containing the Balbithan MS., and the cadet branches of Abergeldie, Coclarachie, and Gight, together with Appendices and a Bibliography of Gordon genealogy. (Pp. lxxviii. + 533, with a frontispiece.)

II.—THE RECORDS OF ELGIN, 1234-1800. Compiled by William Cramond, LL.D. Vol. I., containing Extracts from the Burgh Court Book, and the Minutes of Town Council, together with all References to Elgin in the Register of the Great Seal, the Register of the Privy Council, the Exchequer Rolls and other public records. (Pp. xi. + 509, with a frontispiece in colour and twenty-two other illustrations, for which the Club is indebted to the generosity of one of its members, Mr. George A. Cooper.)

The total of 1131 pages contained in these two volumes is in excess of the amount issued in any previous year of the Club's existence.

The printing of two other volumes has been begun, and they will be issued to members in 1904. They are :—

III.—THE RECORDS OF THE SHERIFF COURT OF ABERDEENSHIRE. Edited by David Littlejohn, LL.D., Sheriff Clerk. Vol. I. The amount of unpublished material in Dr. Littlejohn's custody is so extensive that it has been found necessary to restrict the first volume to a selection from the Records of the Sheriffdom prior to the end of the sixteenth century. The Diet Books of Court falling within that period will be exhaustively treated, and a second part will contain lists of all Officials of the Court, with biographical notes.

IV.—THE RECORDS OF THE SCOTS COLLEGE AT DOUAI, 1581-1772. Edited by the Rev. William Forbes Leith, S.J. This work has been on the programme of the Club for many years, and it gives the Council great satisfaction to be able to report that Father Forbes Leith's MS. is at last in the printer's hands. The volume, it is believed, will prove to be of much more than purely local interest.

The manuscript for other four volumes is well advanced, so that there will be no lack of material ready for issue in 1905. These four volumes are :—

V.—THE HOUSE OF GORDON. Vol. II. This will probably include a selection of the early histories of the family (by Ferrerius, Gordon of Straloch, Burnet, Macquair), still extant in MS., with contributions by Captain Douglas Wimberley, the Rev. Stephen Ree, the Editor of the series, and others.

VI.—THE RECORDS OF ELGIN. Vol. II. This will deal with the Minutes of the Kirk Session and the Presbytery of Elgin, and other records illustrating the ecclesiastical and educational history of the burgh ; and will contain a general Introduction by the Editor.

VII.—THE RECORDS OF OLD ABERDEEN. Edited by Alexander M. Munro. Vol. II. This also will deal with the ecclesiastical life of the burgh.

VIII.—BIBLIOGRAPHY OF THE SHIRES OF ABERDEEN, BANFF AND KINCARDINE. Compiled by Alexander W. Robertson, M.A., and J. F. Kellas Johnstone.

Other works, mentioned in former Reports, are approaching completeness in the hands of their respective editors.

At the last General Meeting of the Club some letters were read from Surgeon-General Bidie, Mr. William Carnie, and Mr. Gavin Greig, regarding the possibility of forming a collection of the older popular music of the N.E. district ; and the subject was referred to the Committee for consideration. Mr. Greig, who thinks that given time the project is feasible, is expected to report more fully at the meeting of the Club.

In the thirteenth Report by the Council a list was given of foreign Academies, in Berlin, Brussels, Calcutta, Göttingen, Leipzig, Munich, Ottawa, Paris, Rome, St. Petersburg, Sydney, Tokyo, Turin, Upsala, Vienna and Washington, which become possessed of certain of the issues of the Club, placed under Rule 10 at the disposal of the University of Aberdeen to serve as part of a series of inter-academical publications. To the Academies then named there now fall to be added the following :—

AMSTERDAM.—Koninklijke Akademie van Wetenschappen.

COPENHAGEN.—Kongelige Danske Videnskabernes Selskab.

STOCKHOLM.—Kunglig Svenska Vetenskaps Akademien.

A detailed list of the series of "Aberdeen University Studies" will be found appended to this Report (p. 20).

Since the last Report was submitted by the Council, nine members of the Club have died : His Grace the Duke of Richmond and Gordon, one of the Vice-Presidents of the Club ; Mr. William Coutts, Edinburgh ; Mr. James W. Duncan, Aberdeen ; Mr. Thomas L. Galbraith, Stirling ; Dr. Robert J. Garden, Aberdeen ; Mr. Charles Lewis Gordon of Abergeldie ; Mrs. Thomas Leslie, Banchory ; Mr. John Forbes Robertson, London, a Member of the Council, who in the early years of the Club's existence was a prominent figure at the Annual Meetings ; Mr. A. J. Simpson, London ; and Mr. Alexander Walker, LL.D., Aberdeen, a Member of the Executive Committee, and one of the most active promoters of the reconstitution of the Club in 1886. The places rendered vacant by some of these deaths have, under Rule 9, been filled by representatives of the deceased members, but other vacancies allow the admission of new members. As new members are usually desirous of securing a full set of the Club's publications, it may be stated that although the earlier issues are entirely out of print (as indicated on p. 17), the volumes occasionally come into the market, and the Secretary can usually direct a new member to a source whence they may be obtained.

Inquiries are so often addressed to the Secretary regarding the volumes issued by the original Spalding Club, that it has been thought well to append to this Report a bibliographical list of its publications as well as those of the New Spalding Club. A note is also added of certain works which, from their having been issued uniform with the Club volumes, are often incorrectly cited as if forming integral parts of either series.

The Council wish to express their continued obligation to the Society of Advocates for permitting the Annual General Meeting of the Club to be held in the Society's Hall ; and to the Curator of the University Library for granting the use of a room for Committee meetings.

RULES OF THE NEW SPALDING CLUB.

(As approved 11th November, 1886, and amended 16th December, 1886, 21st December, 1894, and 29th December, 1897.)

1. The objects of the New Spalding Club shall be to promote the study of the History, Topography, and Archæology of the North-eastern Counties of Scotland, and to print works illustrative thereof.
2. The Club shall consist of five hundred [16th Dec., 1886] members, subscribers of one guinea annually: each subscription to be paid on or before the first day of January in each year.
3. The general management of the affairs of the Club shall be vested in a Council, consisting of a President, at least ten Vice-Presidents, and not fewer than forty ordinary members, including a Secretary and a Treasurer: all to be chosen yearly at a General Meeting of the Club, to be held at Aberdeen, in the Month of October, or at such other time within each year as may be found convenient. At all Meetings of the Council seven members shall form a quorum.
4. Immediately after the Annual General Meeting the Council shall elect Acting Committees to carry on the work of the Club.
5. The accounts of the Club shall be audited annually, by two Auditors, to be chosen at the Annual Meeting from among the members.
6. The name of any member in arrear with his annual subscription on the first day of October in each year may be removed from the list of members.
7. Vacancies in the membership shall be filled up according to priority of application.
8. Members may, at any time, compound for all future annual subscriptions, by payment of ten guineas over and above the subscription for the current year; and it shall be in the power of the Council to exempt from subscriptions, annual or other, any member who may present to the Club a work, the printing of which, as a Club publication, has been sanctioned by the Council.
9. Every member shall receive one copy of every volume assigned by the Club to the years for which he has paid subscriptions; and the editor of each work shall receive five additional copies of his work. [The heir, executor or representative of a member shall have no claim to volumes issued by the Club after the member's death, unless he be admitted a member of the Club in place of the deceased. 21st Dec., 1894.]

10. The number of copies printed in each case shall not exceed five hundred and twenty-five, and no copy of any work printed by the Club shall be offered by it for sale; [but it shall be competent for the Editorial Committee to arrange for extra copies not exceeding twenty-five, additional to the five hundred and twenty-five, of any volume considered appropriate, to be placed at the disposal of the University of Aberdeen, which shall refund to the Club the prime cost of such extra copies, and employ them, outwith the bounds of the United Kingdom, as part of a series of inter-academical publications. 29th Dec., 1897.]
11. The Club shall undertake the issue of its books without the intervention of publishers or booksellers.
12. A General Meeting of the Club may be called at any time on presentation to the Secretary of a requisition signed by twenty members; and the above rules may be altered at any General Meeting, provided that the members have received from the Secretary at least fourteen days' notice of the proposed change.
